Carter raps Ford over 'scandal sheet'

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Jimmy Carter, opening his stretch drive for the White House, today accused President Ford of authorizing distribution of a "scandal sheet" that makes "a slanderous attack on me and my family." Carter called it sordid and said Ford should be ashamed.

The publication, a four-page paper called "Heartland," was put out by the political division of the Ford campaign in Washington, D.C. It has a cartoon on its cover showing Carter in a church pulpit holding up a Bible and a copy of Playboy magazine.

The caption says: "All things to all people."

The head of the Ford campaign in Iowa said some parts of the publication are objectionable to him and added: "I don't agree with it. It's not proper campaign tactics."

Carter talked with reporters in Albany, Ga., before flying to Columbia, S.C., for a rally at the South Carolina Statehouse. It was his first stop on a seven-day journey designed to stir up the party faithful and get out the vote.

The Democratic nominee was first asked about "Heartland" in an interview with the CBS "Morning News." He called it a "very personal attack against me and my family."

In Washington, Ford campaign press spokesman Jack Horner disagreed with Carter's characterization of the publication and said Ford probably had nothing to do with authorizing its distribution.

Carter's first scheduled campaign visit of the day was at a rally at the Statehouse in Columbia, S.C. Carter's staff says he has a comfortable lead in South Carolina, although newspaper polls indicate the race there is close.

He is to spend the rest of the day in Illinois, a key state with 26 electoral votes. Independent polls there indicate Ford has a slight edge.

Carter aides say the Democratic nominee, who has campigned for nearly two years, will focus on the economic issues — unemployment and inflation — in the campaign finale. The aides say no major policy statements or campaign issues are expected.

In the CBS interview, Carter said his position on taxes was being distorted by Ford and added, "Mr. Ford also authorized the distribution of a kind of a scandal sheet called 'Heartland' throughout the country, a very personal attack against me and my family. Mr. Ford's own campaign manager, for instance, in Iowa has renounced that kind of tactic and has said, 'don't send this kind of sheet into the State of Iowa.'"

In Iowa, Ford campaign director Marvin Pmerantz, said he would have vetoed distribution of the publication if he had seen it before it was mailed.

Ford cites dangers of Carter foreign policy

PITTSBURGH (AP) — President Ford said today that American voters must choose between sticking with his foreign policy or "venturing into the unknown with a doctrine that is untested, untried and, in my view, potentially dangerous."

Asserting that Jimmy Carter would make a "fundamental change in the direction and conduct of U.S. foreign policy," Ford told the Pittsburgh Economic Club that the Democratic presidential nominee advocates a program "with a strong flavor of isolationism."

The President, frequently applauded and given a standing ovation at the end, criticized two statements made by Carter in their televised debates, which the President said would "concede such nations as Yugoslavia to the Soviet sphere" and promise "total economic warfare against the Arabs in the event of another oil embargo."

Said Ford: "In the past, American presidents have always known they should never say in advance precisely what course of action this country would take in the event of an international crisis ... When a potential adversary knows what you will and won't do in advance, your flexibility is limited and his is increased. He can probe with impunity or redirect his efforts at more tempting targets."

Ford said he heard "with some surprise" Carter's statement in their second debate that he would retaliate with economic sanctions against nations that took part in another oil embargo against the United States, such as that imposed by Arab states in 1973.

Ford said the first time he heard Carter make the statement he thought it was "a singular mistake, which, once made, would not be repeated."

He said he was surprised to hear Carter make "the same mistake at Williamsburg in his ill-advised comments concerning what he might or might not do, if the future security of Yugoslavia was threatened."

Ford, who has been stressing his experience of 25 years in Congress and two years as President, said of Carter's comment, "I have to assume this statement simply reflects inexperience."

Area swine flu shot turnout 'excellent'

Swine flu shot clinics in the eastern part of Los Angeles County on Monday had "excellent turnouts," according to a spokesman from the county health department.

This is contrary to the reports from the rest of Los Angeles County where officials said the turnout was less than they had anticipated.

At the clinic at the San Dimas Community Center Monday, 706 persons 60 or over were immunized. Over 600 people received flu shots at Washington Park Community Center in Pomona.

Miss Mary Lou Ginther of the San Gabriel Valley regional health center said that over 8,500 shots were given in the eastern section of the county.

"This still doesn't even include two clinics held last night for which figures are not available."

San Bernardino County clinics in the West End drew over 2,300 people the first day and those clinics open on a daily basis this week are busy, officials report.

An estimated 30,000 persons showed up at 60 clinics in Los Angeles County, somewhat less than the 40,000 to 45,000 expected to participate on the first day.

Clinics will be held in the eastern section of Los Angeles County on Wednesday and Friday for persons 60 year old and older and those with a chronic illness.

REUNION AT THE BRIDGE

A Thai provisional officer leads former foes Lance Lowe of Australia, left, and Takashi Nagase of Japan as they cross the bridge on the River Kwai. Lowe, who worked on the "death railway" as forced labor during World War II, led a reunion with Japanese captors. Nagase helped organize the reunion, attended by 42 former Japanese soldiers and 10 allied.

7 lions flee private zoo; 2 still at large

RINGGOLD, Ga. (AP) — Seven 400-pound lions escaped from a private zoo, trapped their owner in her house, and attacked and killed several other animals in the menagerie, authorities said.

Officers shot and killed four of the lions Monday night, and one was recaptured.

More than a dozen armed officers were back at the enclosed 35-acre zoo today, searching for the two other lions. About 30 city, state and county officers took part in the search Monday night.

The private zoo is about seven miles north of Ringgold near the Georgia-Tennessee line.

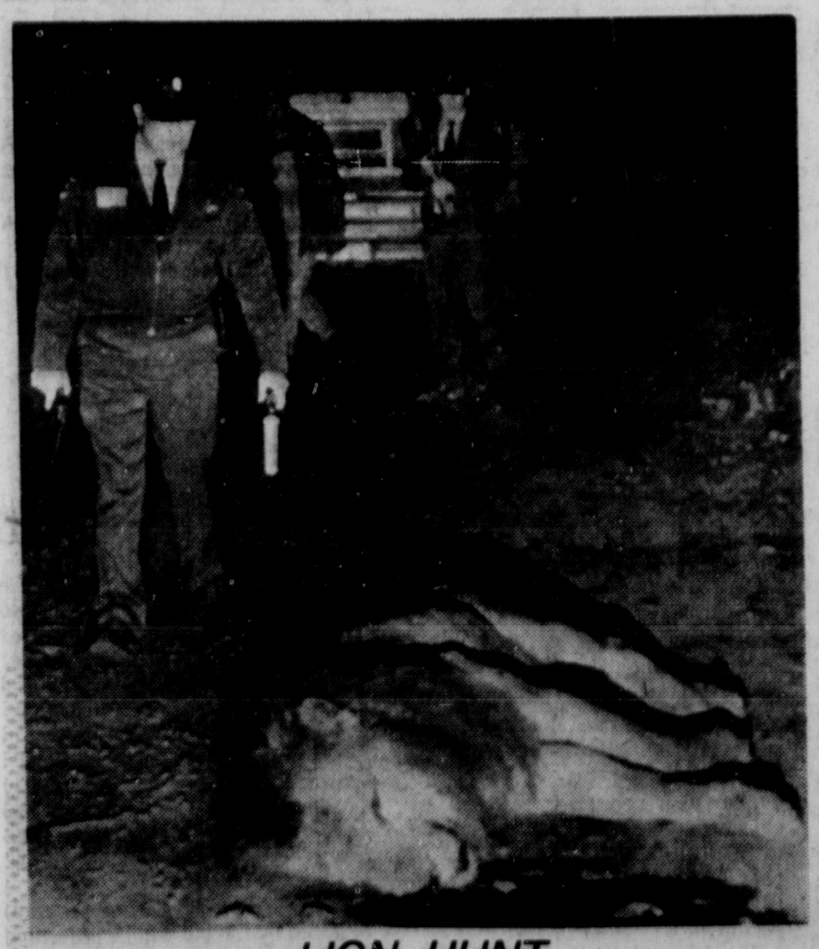
Linda Keown, who runs the zoo with her husband, Vernon, said she watched from her window as the lions attacked peacocks, wolves, German shepherd-wolf crosses and a cougar.

"We had two pet wolves chained out to a tree. They just practically chewed them up," Mrs. Keown said. "Now we're wiped out."

Neighbors were warned to remain indoors, but that was just a precaution, a deputy said. "I'm not going to tell you it is impossible for them to get out of that (barbed-wire) fence. Unlikely yes. Impossible no," he said.

Mrs. Keown said she believed youthful vandals had taken the hinges off the gate to the lion's cage.

Mrs. Keown, 25, and her husband, a 41-year-old builder, owned the zoo because "it was our hobby," she said.



LION HUNT

Sheriff's deputies killed four lions which escaped from a private zoo about 20 miles south of Chattanooga at Ringgold, Ga. Another was recaptured and two are still at large.

Air crash fatal to Glendoran

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Two Marine Corps fliers were killed Monday in the fiery crash of a jet plane in an open field near a suburban business and residential area, and a Glendora, Calif. man died at almost the same time in a civilian plane crash on the opposite side of Oklahoma City.

The pilot of the plane, Mervin Wooley, 29, of Glendora, Calif. was killed in the crash.

The only other occupant of the civilian plane was was identified as James Finan Jr., 24, of Chamble, Ga. He was reported in "guarded condition" in an Oklahoma City hospital.

The causes of both crashes remained undetermined early this morning.

Military officials withheld the names of the men aboard the RF4 reconnaissance plane that crashed at 3:24 p. m. five miles north of Tinker Air Force Base at the southwest edge of Oklahoma City.

Tinker spokesmen said one of the plane's crew members was a Marine pilot and the other was a Marine electronics control officer.

Civilian authorities, meanwhile, were investigating the crash at about 3:40 p.m. of the small single-engine plane near Will Rogers World Airport at the southeast edge of Oklahoma City.

Suit timed to have devastating impact on Prop. 13: Hardie

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $787,275 campaign disclosure suit by the state against greyhound racing promoters was timed to devastate the initiative's chances, says the primary defendant in the suit.

Former harness race driver George Hardie declared Monday that the suit by the state Fair Political Practices Commission was "absolutely fraudulent" and could have a "devastating" impact on Prop. 13, the initiative on next Tuesday's California ballot.

The ballot measure would legalize greyhound racing with pari-mutuel wagering.

The suit, largest of its kind in state history, was filed in Los Angeles County Superior Court by FPPC attorneys.

It alleges that between Jan. 7, 1975 and last Oct. 1 Hardie collected more than $463,915 in contributions and properly reported no more than $136,684. It also alleges he raised $7,634 in 84 cash transactions of $50 or more, barred by law.

The suit alleges Hardie funneled campaign funds through dummy groups in San Francisco and Southern California.

Authorized under California's Political Reform Act of 1974, the suit follows a six-month FPPC probe "to force large, hidden amounts of campaign money into the open before an election," said FPPC Chairman Daniel Lowenstein.

"We've reported everything that we've got, period," Hardie said in an interview. He said it was "unfortunate that this suit can't be settled before the election" so the "public could see through this ... vicious harassment."

Hardie had refused to turn over certain records for the investigation until a Los Angeles judge sentenced him to jail for contempt. He avoided jail by cooperating.

The suit asks damages of $327,231 for unreported campaign contributions; treble damages of $256,000 for unlawful cash expenditures, and treble damages of $74,601 for unlawful cash contributions.

Lowenstein said the FPPC gave records to Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger, the state Department of Corporations and district attorneys in Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco for possible criminal action.

John Gordnier, deputy attorney general in Sacramento, said the FPPC suit will be examined "and if action is appropriate, appropriate action will be taken."

Los Angeles County Dist. Atty. John Van de Kamp's office said he would not prosecute any case against Hardie, because Hardie has sued him and others for alleged defamation of character and Van de Kamp wants to avoid any appearance of conflict of interest.

Every five years for U.S. census

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. citizens will be counted evey five years instead of every 10 years under a new law signed by President Ford.

Ford gave his approval Monday to a bill requiring a mid-decade census of the population. And he vetoed a bill requiring Department of Agriculture inspection of rabbit meat.

The first of the new censuses will be in 1985, with subsequent tallies every 10 years. These will be in addition to the normal censuses taken at the beginning of each decade — such as in 1970 and 1980.

"The historic method of counting the population every 10 years simply does not meet the nation's current needs," Ford said.

Seek drinking ban in downtown area

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The Central City Association is getting behind a proposed ordinance that would ban public drinking in the downtown area.

The downtown businessmen's group endorsed the Police Department proposal Monday, saying it would serve as a first step toward making the downtown more attractive to shoppers.

The city already makes it a misdemeanor to be drunk in public.

Tunney, Hayakawa keep busy in the final days

By Associated Press

U.S. Sen. John Tunney defended the B1 bomber and Republican challenger S.I. Hayakawa continued to advocate a lower minimum wage for youths as their campaigns entered the final seven days.

The Democratic incumbent campaigned Monday on the University of California campus in Berkeley and headed for the UCLA campus today. Hayakawa planned appearances in Los Angeles and Bakersfield today after a tour of inland communities east of Los Angeles on Monday.

In the presidential race, former Gov. Ronald Reagan was due to leave today on a fivestate campaign tour for President Ford, and Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. was due home from a six-state tour for Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter.

Carter also picked up the endorsement today of the McClatchy Newspapers, which praised him as "the candidate with the leadership qualities to rouse the country from its present stagnation."

At a Riverside news conference, Hayakawa added detail to his suggestion that the minimum wage should be reduced for children.

He said the minimum wage should be "more flexible — from $1.50 on up" for persons under 18, and that it might vary from industry to industry.

State law puts the minimum wage for those under 18 at $2.15 an hour, and for adults at $2.50.

"The important thing is that young people should have a chance at low entry jobs," Hayakawa added.

Hayakawa also said he believes "the arms exports of the United States should be better controlled than they are now." But he didn't endorse any specific plan.

Tunney was cheered by students at a campus rally in Berkeley when U.S. Sen. Frank Church introduced him as the first senator to publicly call for the resignation of President Nixon and one of the four men responsible for establishing an independent Watergate prosecutor.

All sorts of write-ins seek presidency

SACRAMENTO (AP) — One candidate for president recgnized by California is serving a life term for murder. Another says God wants him to save America.

Others are using the names "General M. Magnifico" and "Americus Liberator."

They are among the persons who Secretary of State March Fong Eu certified Monday to be "qualified write-in candidates for president."

That doesn't mean they are qualified to hold the office of president, but only that they are qualified under law to have election officials count the write-in votes they receive on Nov. 2.

Ms. Eu's spokeswoman, Caren Daniels, explained the distinction:

"These are the people who have filed the proper declarations to have their votes counted. We do not determine by this certification if they are eligible to hold office. That would come up after the election."

One write-in candidate whose qualifications to serve as president are clearly in doubt is Regis "John" Jeremiah Anthony Goldbach, a 65-year-old Lancaster janitor who is serving a life term at the state prison in San Luis Obispo for the murder of his wife's sister-in-law, and attempted murder of his wife in 1971.

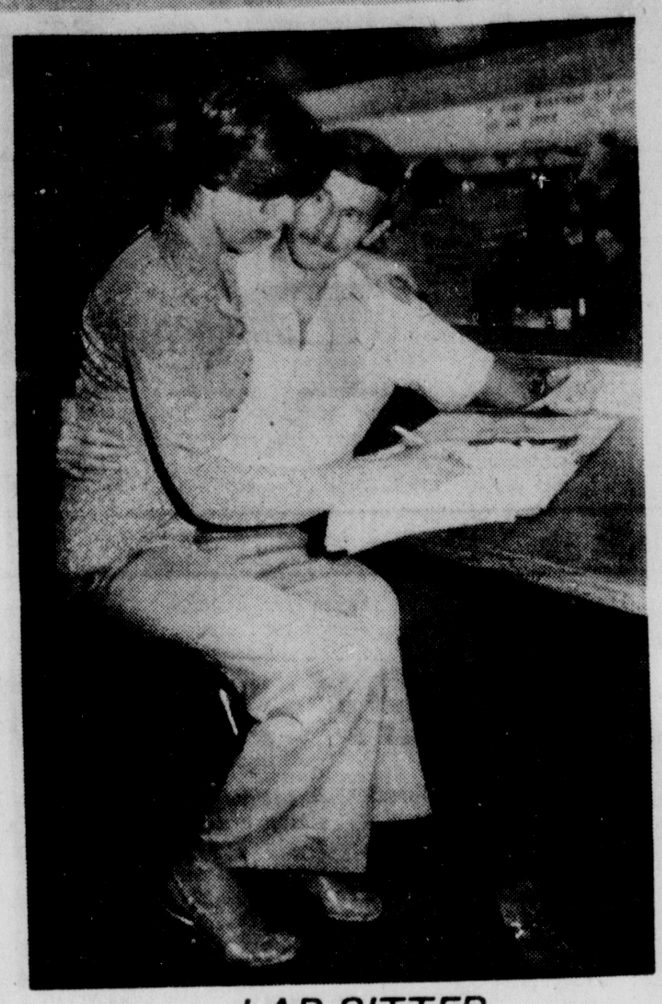
Goldbach submitted a writein candidate's declaration which included, among other things, his inmate number.

Another candidate is Billy Joe Clegg of Oklahoma City, making his second bid for the presidency. In 1972 he hitchhiked through California campaigning as the "Loyal U.S. Party" candidate, promising to deliver the Lord's Prayer as his inaugural address.

"I feel God wants to save America through me," he said.

Ms. Eu listed 25 persons who filed declarations that they are write-in candidates for president and want their votes counted.

The list contains the name of at least one serious candidate, former U.S. Sen. Eugene McCarthy. But most of the candidates are unknowns, or persons using assumed names.



LAP-SITTER

Jackie Williams signs the register as the 3,030th female to sit on the lap of John Gardner, a fifth grade teacher at Garden Grove, who's trying to establish a world record for lapping. This one happened at a bowling alley, but Gardner also provides a lap for his girl students — after their mothers write notes of permission. Gardner's wife is No. 1 on the register.

Lapper goes for a record

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP) — Fifth-grade teacher John Gardner gets notes from parents saying it's all right for their children to sit on his lap.

When the Garden Grove City Council gave him an award for good citizenship recently, one of the councilmen's wives sat on Gardner's lap during the ceremony.

And in his spare time, Gardner said he hangs around amusement parks, flea markets and tourist traps offering his lap to strangers.

Gardner, 39, has been trying for about two years to establish one or more world's records related to his favorite hobby. He claims to hold the record for having the most girls sit on his lap — more than 3,000 — and also for longest period of time with someone on his lap — 24 straight hours.

"It's easy to claim these records," Gardner admits, "since I've never heard of anyone else attempting them."

He said officials from the Guinness Book of World Records tell him they are pondering his accomplishments, but can't guarantee him publication because they have no category for laps.

Gardner said his policy is not to refuse any female who wants to sit on his lap. But he said he has had to restrain a couple of partners who made advances to him.

"I just try to divert their attention and act like a gentleman," he said. "I want to keep this G-rated because of my position as a teacher."

Gardner said he discusses his hobby in front of his pupils to teach them the importance of pursuing goals. He said he often gets notes from parents that read, "My daughter has permission to sit on your lap."

He maintains a guest register of all who have climbed aboard his lap, and gives each client a memorial lapsitter's ticket. Gardner said he has seated women from six continents, 36 nations and all 50 states.

"My wife isn't too crazy about these ladies from all over the world sitting on my lap, but at least she's at the top of the register," he said.

He said he set the 24-hour record for uninterrupted lapsitting when his daughter and a friend of hers took turns putting in hour-long shifts at his home.

Gardner said none of his lapsitters is famous, but he has rejection letters from Betty and Susan Ford's appointments secretary at the White House. And comedienne Carol Burnett wrote that she was sorry she wouldn't have time to "add another dent to your knee and join your list of happy lapsitters."

LET'S HAVE A PARADE!

From left, Fairy Godmother Christy Faber, Bunny Rabbit Danielle Lewis, Angela Monson as Josie of cartoon singing fame, and Ballerina Marte Monson are adorned and ready for the special costume parade Saturday in Ontario. The parade is being sponsored by the Ontario Downtown Merchants Association and the Ontario Recreation Department as a special Halloween treat for valley residents from 3 to 83.

Halloween festivities planned in Ontario

A Halloween window painting contest and a parade are planned this week in the Ontario business sector.

Painters will decorate store windows on Thursday and then persons dressed in costumes will parade along Euclid Avenue on Saturday, starting at noon.

Both programs are sponsored by the Ontario Downtown Merchants Association and the Ontario Recreation Department.

Competition will be divided into classes of 3 to 5 years old; grade school students; junior and senior high students; college students and adults; and senior citizens 55 and older.

Applications for the window painting are available at the Ontario Chamber of Commerce office, 517 N. Euclid Ave. Paint brushes and kits will be provided to participants by the recreation department and issued by chamber representatives when the applications are completed. Only the paints supplied will be allowed.

The windows of stores facing Euclid Avenue between Holt Boulevard and G Street will be adorned with goblins, ghosts and witches for the painting contest.

Saturday's parade will be held on Euclid Avenue parkway between B and S streets. A special awards ceremony will be held that day in the parkway.

The two contests are being coordinated by Charles Bush, director of the city's recreation department, and Joyce Molinaro, president of the merchants association.

Pomonan installed as RPEA president

Mildred Clark of Pomona is the new president of Chapter 44 of the Retired Public Employes Association (RPEA), serving retired state and school employes in areas of Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Riverside counties.

Area director Bernadyne Brown of San Bernardino was installing officer during recent luncheon ceremonies held at the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Pomona.

Others installed with Mrs. Clark are Larry Barnes, first vice president; Franklin Jacobs, second vice president; Mildred Curtis, secretary; Mildred Hoop, treasurer; and Frank Bolton, Guff Rorex and Vest Farmer, directors.

Committee chairmen appointed for 1977 are Bolton, membership; Farmer, legislative; Barnes, school; and Irma Webb, telephone.

RPEA is a non-profit organization serving retired public employes and presently employed persons eligible to receive retirement benefits under the Public Employes Retirement System.

Persons receiving allowances as beneficiaries of deceased retires also may be members.

Chapter meetings are held the second Wednesdays of February, April, June, August, October and December in Pilgrim Hall at the Pilgrim Congregational Church.

The next meeting is scheduled Dec. 8, at 1 p.m.

RPEA is dedicated to serving its members through efforts to improve the retirement program by legislative action at the state level and implementation at the agency level.

MILDRED CLARK

General Council for the state organization will be held in Fresno Wednesday and Thursday..

Mrs. Clark has been named a delegate from Chapter 44 to attend the session.

Mrs. Clark retired in 1975 as chief prison records officer at the California Rehabilitation Center in Norco ending a 23-year career. She was the first woman employed as a records officer in a state prison at the California Institution for Women (CIW) in 1957.

Chowchilla gifts

CHOWCHILLA (AP) — The bizarre mass kidnaping of 26 school children and their bus driver here last July has not only brought them fame but the seeds of fortune as well.

Chamber of Commerce officials have collected more than $5,000 from people across the country who decided to reward the celebrated summer school students for surviving their ordeal.

The cash will be divided into $250 U.S. government savings bonds for each of the children.

'Slasher' trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Superior Court Judge has delayed for one week the trial of accused murderer Vaughn Orrin Greenwood, the alleged "Skid Row Slasher."

A result of Yuba accident

New bus safety law ready for use

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State officials are getting ready to implement a new law designed to help avoid accidents like the one last May involving Yuba City High School choir members.

Twenty-nine persons—28 students and the choir director's wife—died as a result of that mishap, and it prompted Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, to introduce a bill tightening safety regulations on all buses that carry students on school—related trips.

The Collier bill, which takes effect Jan. 1, will affect both buses owned by school districts and those rented or leased to transport students for school purposes.

The Yuba City students were on their way to a choir function at another school when their chartered bus plunged off a freeway ramp near Hartinez May 21.

Brake failure has been blamed for the crash.

The Collier bill contains three requirements, according to Robert Hampton, one of the senator's aides:

—All charter buses used to transport students on school functions will have to be inspected at least once a year by the California Highway Patrol.

—Drivers of those buses will have to meet basically the same licensing standards as school bus drivers.

—Both school buses and charter buses used for school events will have to be inspected each week by their operators according to a procedure established by the state Board of Education.

The CHP has been inspecting charter buses on a spot basis, according to spokesman Kent Milton.

"They would go at odd times to the terminal once a year and if it was a small carrier they would inspect them all," he said.

"If it was a large carrier they would pick a percentage. If they had 50 buses maybe they would pick five at random and see how they were."

The bus carrying the Yuba City students was last inspected in April, 1975, Milton said.

The bill requires drivers of chartered buses that carry students to have 40 hours of training and to pass both a written and behind the wheel test when first qualifying for a permit.

The driver must then take a written test and can be required to take another behind-the-wheel test when renewing the permit.

The CHP is hiring six additional civilian motor carrier inspectors to handle the increased inspection load required by the bill, Milton said.

The CHP estimates that the measure will affect 2,000 to 3,000 charter buses. Public transit buses that carry students to school as part of their regular runs are not covered by the bill.

Both Hampton and William Barton, a lobbyist for the California School Boards Association, say they have not heard of any charter bus lines announcing that they will not rent to school districts because of the new law.

The weekly maintenance program required by the bill will be presented to the state Board of Education next month as a proposed regulation.

The board usually acts on a regulation one month after it receives it, officials said.

Stalin's daughter speaks up

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — Svetlana Peters, daughter of the late Soviet dictator Josef Stalin, says she's asked the Shah of Iran not to return a defecting Russian pilot to the Soviet Union, where she said he faces certain death.

"The worst thing on earth is to be returned to the Soviets," Mrs. Peters said in an inteview Monday. She has lived in the United States since leaving the Soviet Union in 1966.

In a letter to the Iranian embassy in Washington, Mrs. Peters asked the shah not to order the return of Lt. Valentin Zasimov, who crossed the border Sept. 25 in a single-engine plane.

She said she does not know the pilot personally, but that an old friend asked her to help prevent his return.

MacArthur memorial eyed

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — The Gen. Douglas MacArthur Foundation of The Philippines is seeking $13.3 million to build a memorial to the former commander of U.S. forces here.

The foundation said it raised $6,118 at its kickoff luncheon Monday.

A foundation spokesman said the project would include a 20-story memorial, a library and a museum. It said funds are to come mostly from veterans, veterans' organizations, and from governments whose servicemen served in The Philippines.

Mexico, Jews seek ties

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Luis Echeverria, President-elect Jose Lopez Portillo and a group of Jewish residents of Texas have called for warmer relations between the U.S. Jewish community and Mexico.

"We're looking forward to extremely good relations," William Sinkin, who led the group and is chairman of the board of the Texas State Bank, told reporters after a visit with Lopez Portillo Monday.

Mystery man is center of Korean payoff allegations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allegations that U.S. congressmen were paid large cash sums as part of a South Korean campaign to court U.S. favor are centering on rice dealer Tongsun Park, a mystery man with reported links to the Korean CIA.

Park, who also is a leading light in Washington cafe society, reportedly has told federal investigators about the payments. Park denies he has bribed anyone.

One of Park's reported allegations was corroborated Monday when Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards acknowledged that his wife, Elaine, took an envelope containing $10,000 as a "gift" from Park in 1971.

Edwards, a Democrat, was a congressman running for governor at the time. He said Monday he had no knowledge of the money until several years later.

The Edwards' gift was part of the $500,000 to $1 million Park spent annually for parties, trinkets and cash "gifts" to influential congressmen and government officials, Park has reportedly told investigators.

Edwards said his wife's acceptance of $10,000 in cash from a South Korean businessman was not out of step with the governor's definitions of morality and legality.

Edwards told a news conference on Monday that his wife, Elaine, accepted the money in 1971 from Tongsun Park, whom he called "a close, personal friend of the family."

The disclosures by Park have caused the Justice Department to subpoena the bank records of the South Korean Embassy in an effort to trace the flow of cash from Park's rice business to American politicians, the Washington Post reported today.

The Justice Department is counting on a recent Supreme Court ruling that bank records belong to the bank, and not its customers, to buttress its subpoena against any claim of diplomatic immunity by the South Koreans.

If the records belong legally to the Riggs Bank of Washington and not to the South Koreans, diplomatic immunity does not apply, the Justice Department is reportedly contending.

The South Korean Embassy declined comment on the report Monday night.

The State Department also is reportedly considering asking for the removal of several South Korean Embassy officials, believed to be members of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency, because of their link to the alleged congressional payments. They include Kim Yung Hwan, who has been identified as the KCIA station chief in the United States.

Tongsun Park himself has not been available for comment this week. His present seclusion contrasts with his former position as a striver in Washington social circles.

In December 1973, for example, he hosted a birthday party at his club in Georgetown for House Majority Leader Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass. O'Neill is expected to be elected speaker of the House in 1977.

Among the guests at that party were President Ford, then vice president; James Lynn, currently director of the Office of Management and the Budget, then secretary of housing and urban development; former Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird; and former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Caspar Weinberger.

Park's rice franchise has brought him in contact with American politicians.

South Korea relies on U.S. military power for its defense. It buys rice from the United States, much of it under the federally subsidized "Food for Peace" program.

In March 1972, the South Korean government agency responsible for rice importation wrote to major American companies that "his (Park's) service will be required for all of our rice trade with the United States in the future."

The franchise was a lucrative one for Park. U.S. Agriculture Department records show checks as large as $202,000 being deposited to his personal bank accounts by American companies.

Investigators say Park has been tied to Korean CIA operations here, as has Sue Park Thomson, a Korean-born woman who works in the office of retiring House Speaker Carl Albert. Mrs. Thomson recently testified before a federal grand jury investigating the allegations of Korean influence-seeking.

Park has entertained lavishly and often at several posh Washington addresses. Reportedly, he did more than that for some congressmen in a position to insure a continuing flow of U.S. aid and support to Korea.

Edwards, for example, said Monday he had known Park since 1967 and had dealt with him because Louisiana sometimes needed to sell surplus rice and South Korea was a customer.

Edwards, a congressman until he ran for governor in 1971, arranged federal financing to sell a large quantity of surplus rice to South Korea in 1971. Edwards has called it the greatest political coup of his career and said it helped make him popular enough among Louisiana farmers to be elected governor.

The Washington Post says Park has told investigators that he gave cash gifts to as many as 20 congressmen.

One of the congressmen reportedly named by Park, Rep. William Broomfield, R-Mich., has denied receiving any money. Two others, former Reps. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., and Richard T. Hanna, D-Calif., have not been available for comment.

In Seoul, South Korean media put a complete news blackout on reports of the bribes. As of noon today, none of the newspapers or radio-television networks in Seoul reported the news, although they all receive major news agencies that carried the reports.

It was not immediately known if the blackout was a result of the usual "self censorship" exercised by the extremely cautious local editors or a signal from government authorities.

South Korea has no formal press censorship system, but several laws and a presidential decree provide heavy penalties for news reports considered detrimental to national security.

Judge orders halt to minimum wage for California men

SANTA ANA (AP) — An Orange County judge has ordered the state to stop enforcing its new minimum wage and work rules for an estimated 2 million male workers in California.

But the court ruling, handed down Monday, still leaves women protected by the law.

A temporary halt to enforcement of the new $2.50 minimum wage and work rules for men was issued by Superior Court Judge Walter E. Smith at the request of the California Manufacturers Association.

The manufacturers' organization argued that the new law was unfair because it provided for a higher minimum wage than the federal minimum of $2.30 an hour.

The CMA had requested an order blocking the minimum wage and work rules for both males and females in manufacturing, clerical, professional and other jobs.

In his ruling, the judge said that the state Industrial Welfare Commission may have exceeded its authority in imposing the new wage laws and that the manufacturers could suffer "irreparable injury" if the law was enforced.

Don Vial, chief of the state Industrial Relations Department, said the ruling "flies in the face of state and federal laws which require us to apply laws to both men and women equally."

"It is a kind of Catch-22 since the court is telling me, as the administrator of the law, that I cannot enforce the law as it affects males but, at the same time, state and federal laws forbid me from enforcing these laws for males only," Vial said.

In the past, state courts have delayed other minimum wage and work rules law, but those rulings applied only to a small number of employes in certain industries.

Smith's ruling blocks enforcement of the law as it applies to men in all major industries in the state.

The previous state minumum wage law affected only women and minors and was $2 an hour.

Arab summit split over peace plan

CAIRO (AP) — The Arab summit conference was reported split today over the number of Syrian troops to be allowed in the Arab League peace force being expanded to enforce the cease-fire in Lebanon.

Conference sources said Egypt, Syria and Lebanon were resisting any change in the understanding they say was reached at a minisummit last week in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, implicitly agreeing to make the 21,000 Syrian troops now in Lebanon part of the peace force.

Opposing them were the Palestine Liberation Organization, Iraq, South Yemen and Algeria, whose position is that troops from any Arab nation should not constitute more than a third of the anticipated 30,000-man force, the sources said.

An Arab League spokesman, while not confirming that the dispute was over the Syrian troops, said Arab foreign ministers were meeting to try to resolve their difficulties. The Arab leaders postponed their own session — intended to give formal approval to the Riyadh peace plan — until late in the day.

Earlier, spokesman Selim elYafi said all 21 members of the Arab League except Iraq had approved the cease-fire agreement at the first session of the summit Monday. He said the Arab foreign ministers had also agreed on the composition and financing of the peacekeeping force called for in the agreement.

Informed sources said Monday most of the force would come from the troops Syria has sent into Lebanon since last June to save the Christians from being overrun by the Palestinians and their leftist Lebanese Moslem allies. Additional units will be supplied by Saudi Arabia, Sudan and South Yemen, the sources said.

Iraq, which has been feuding with Syria for eight years, has some 2,000 troops in Lebanon supporting the leftists.

Lebanese President Elias Sarkis told the summit that the situation in Lebanon was "encouraging" since the start of the war's 57th cease-fire last Thursday.

MUDDY TRACK

New York State Troopers get some help from a passerby Monday as they attempt to haul stolen quarterhorse from a muddy trap in Guilderland, N.Y., an Albany suburb. The horse, known as Lady Margaret, ran into the swamp after being spotted wandering in the area.

Nab sewer gang after $8 million robbery of century

MARSEILLE, France (AP) — Most of the sewer gang that pulled off the $8 million to $10 million "robbery of the century" in Nice was arrested early today in coordinated raids across France, police sources said.

The whereabouts of the money was not known, and there was no comment from police officials beyond acknowledging that a vast arrest operation was in progress in connection with the case.

About 30 men were grabbed in Nice, Marseille, Montpellier, Nimes, Corsica and the Paris region, including most of the robbers who made off with safe-deposit box contents from the Societe General branch bank in Nice the weekend of July 17-18, the informants said. The thieves dug their way into the bank from a sewer.

A gang using the same technique robbed a branch of the same bank on the Ile St. Louis in Paris a month later, rifling 191 safe-deposit boxes of an estimated $5 million in cash and valuables.

French sewer bandits first struck in December 1975, trying to knock over a post office vault in Paris, but they were interrupted and fled emptyhanded. In January 1976 they tunneled into a Paris bank vault, emptying 40 safe-deposit boxes. The amount taken was not made public.

On Oct. 8, Paris police arrested 40-year-old auto mechanic Raymond Brisacier and said he was trying to sell bonds stolen in the Ile St. Louis robbery. Police said although they were convinced Brisacier did not participate in the Ile St. Louis robbery, he knew the gang members and was part of their fencing operation.

Detectives said Brisacier had already cashed in bonds for about $24,000, but when asked where he got them replied that a man he met by chance in a cafe sold them to him for a commission.

Spotlight on area crime

YTS inmate held in riot

A ward at the California Youth Training School at Chino, due to be released today, was arrested Monday in connection with the riot and attack on officers at the school on Sept. 21.

Edward R. Hernandez, 20, East Los Angeles, was placed under arrest by San Bernardino County marshals on a warrant issued by the West Valley Municipal Court, charging attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon on a peace officer.

Bail was set at $75,000 and Hernandez was booked in the West End Jail.

According to Chino Police detectives, six other wards at the school will be charged within the next two weeks in the assault in which security guard Gary Cauble was seriously injured.

Cauble, 30, was struck on the head by a heavy object after wards were freed from their cells after another security guard had been overpowered.

Cauble remained in a coma three weeks at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland following the attack. He still is hospitalized.

Thirteen wards escaped during the riot. Twelve were recaptured within 24 hours. Eleven are to go on trial this month following issuance of San Bernardino County Grand Jury indictments charging escape.

Pomona man robbed

A 77-year-old Pomona man was struck in the head and robbed of a small amount of cash in a Claremont parking lot Monday, police said.

Officers reported Cecil Marler was preparing to enter his car in the restaurant parking lot at Indian Hill Boulevard and San Jose Avenue at 5:40 p.m.

He was struck in the back of the head with an unknown weapon by a man who demanded money, officers added. The victim, who had suffered two heart attacks and was under a doctor's care, handed over the money to the man.

Marler was later treated for a two-inch laceration of the head at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

The suspect, who fled on foot, was described as a black, 30 to 35 years old, 5-9, slender and well-dressed.

Food store robbed

Two young men held up a La Verne health food store Monday and escaped with cash, police said.

Officers indicated one man "cased" the store at 1491 Foothill Blvd. before the 5:47 p.m. robbery, and then returned with an accomplice. One man simulated a weapon and forced a clerk to lie on the floor with her hands tied.

The robbers were described as male Latins in their 20's. They fled the store on foot, police reported.

Never gave up hope, says Scottsboro Boy after being pardoned

NEW YORK (AP) — The only known surviving Scottsboro Boy — pardoned after 45 years of proclaiming his innocence — says he hopes his story teaches people that "a man should never give up hope. Even if it ills you, stand up for your rights."

And Clarence Norris, 64, who has lived here as a fugitive for 30 years, said he plans to visit Alabama, where until Monday he would have faced arrest as a parole violator.

"I'll go to any state because I'm free," said Norris, whose 1930s trials with eight other black youths on charges of raping two white women became a symbol of Southern racial injustice. "I was born and raised in the South. It's one of the most beautiful places in the world."

Norris, a warehouseman, held an emotional news conference at NAACP headquarters here after learning that the state of Alabama had granted him a full pardon, which in effect acknowledges his innocence of the original charges.

He said he felt "no bitterness against the people who did me wrong. I'm just glad to be free. They had said that I was a nobody, a dog, but I stood up and I said the truth."

In 1931, Norris and the other youths were arrested in northern Alabama and tried in Scottsboro on charges of raping the women on a freight train. The defendants were convicted in a series of trials, and most of them were sentenced to death, but their sentences were commuted to life imprisonment.

Norris spent five years on death row, more years behind bars, and in 1946 he fled the state while on parole. Of the other defendants, some are known to be dead, and others have dropped out of sight.

Norris told reporters he had a feeling something was going to happen Monday, so he took the day off from work. He found out his hunch was right when he called the NAACP from a Harlem bar.

First, the Alabama Pardon Parole Board and then Gov. George C. Wallace signed a pardon. By law, the board could pardon him only if it felt there was proof of his innocence.

Nathaniel R. Jones, general counsel for the NAACP, said the pardon "does more for the administration of justice than it actually does for Mr. Norris.

"Mr. Norris had done no wrong. The injustice and the wrong that was done was committed by judicial authorities and citizens of the state of Alabama."

ADVERTISEMENT

Afraid You're Going Deaf?

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

Send for this non-operting model, put it on and wear it in the privacy of your own home. While many people with a hearing loss will not receive any significant benefit from any hearing aid, this non-working model will show you how tiny hearing help can be, and it's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 9427 Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Illinois 60646.

Gold Star mothers plan fashion show at training center

More than 60 women in their golden years are expected to attend the annual benefit fashion show of the Pomona Valley Gold Star Mothers at the Naval Reserve Training Center in Pomona Wednesday noon.

The women will model clothing sewn specially for the occasion by Expressew, a Claremont specialty shop.

The club consists of mothers whose children died in military action primarily in World War II. The fashion show is a highlight of the club's year of activities.

Proceeds from the show will provide funds for Christmas gifts for hospitalized veterans.

Gold Star Mothers is an organization which is dedicating its work to disabled veterans.

Audubon lecture

Pomona Valley Audubon Society will meet Nov. 4 at 7:30 p.m. in room 108 of Seaver Laboratory in Claremont.

Sherwin Carlquist, professor of botany at Pomona College and the Claremont Graduate School, will present an illustrated lecture on "The Biology of Oceanic Islands." The public is invited.

JET AGE FASHION

Clara Berg, right, takes a tape to the seam of this African kutu dress to be modeled by Gold Star Mother Ruth Brubaker Wednesday noon at the Naval Reserve Training Center in Pomona. Watching them in the center is Ruth Tebrick, chairman of the annual event.

Heirs to estates sought

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State Controller Kenneth Cory announced Wednesday he is looking for the legal heirs of two Los Angeles County men who died more than five years ago.

"The estates of George Fujita, valued at $82,889, and Frank Simon, worth $86,488, remain unclaimed and have been turned over to my office for safekeeping," Cory said.

Pumpkin paint-in scheduled

More than 1,500 valley school children are expected to attend the ninth annual pre-Halloween pumpkin paint-in on Thursday at 3:30 p.m. at Forest Lawn, Covina Hills.

Getting a 72 hour head start on Halloween will be children from public and private schools and scout troops in Covina, Pomona, Glendora, West Covina, Ontario and San Dimas. They will be given crayons and allowed to decorate and take home the pumpkin of their choice from 2,000 available. In addition, prizes will be awarded for best-face-drawn-on-a-pumpkin to children in five age categories, from years 1 through 13.

Contest judges will include Isabelle Stanowski, vice president of the Covina Chamber of Commerce; Charles Bader, councilman for the city of Pomona; Margaret Finn, manager of Covina's Golden State Bank; Dr. Forrest Tennant, vice president of the West Covina Chamber of Commerce, and Joe Gendron, president of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce.

"We will welcome every child from ages 1 through 13 in the greater Pomona-San Gabriel Valley area, as long as the pumpkins last," said Robert Woodburn, vice president, Forest Lawn, Covina Hills.

Last year we were able to accomodate 1,800 children, and we're prepared for up to two thousand this time." He recommended that parents bring children before the 3:30 starting time to avoid disappointment.

PVCH kicks off United Way drive

Using "The 50s" as its theme, Pomona Valley Community Hospital will kick off its United Way campaign on Wednesday and Thursday.

More than 35 small rallies are planned at the hospital. They will include a United Way movie, "One Day in Our Lives," narrated by Charlton Heston.

The campaign at the hospital is designed so that employes are exposed to the needs filled by the combined fund drive, according to Dennis Phelps, director of personnel at PVCH and chairman of the campaign at the hospital.

During the past four years, PVCH employe contributions have made the hospital the leading contributor among the 45 hospitals in Region 2 of the Los Angeles County United Way.

The Pomona hospital ranks second only to Children's Hospital in Los Angeles in total funds contributed by hospitals in the county.

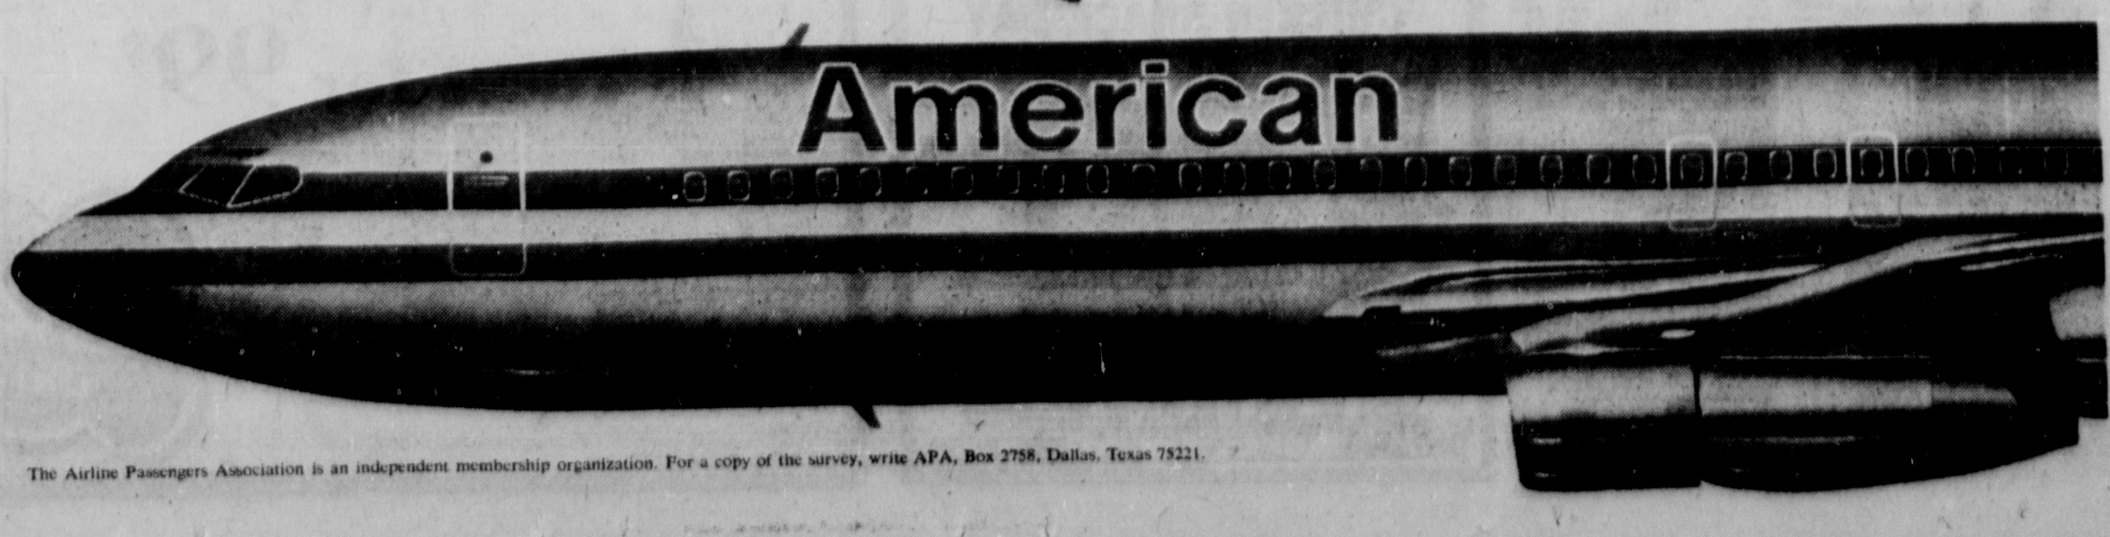
Airline Passengers Association names American "No.1 choice for domestic air travel."

In a recent independent survey, the Airline Passengers Association asked frequent fliers: "If you were traveling to anywhere in the U.S. and had your choice of any U.S. airline, which one would you choose—and why?" More people chose American than any other airline. And the overriding reason was "service."

We're American Airlines. Doing what we do best.

We've got the only nonstop service to and from Dallas-Ft. Worth. Two a day. (And you can leave morning, mid-day or evening to get connecting flights to and from the Midwest, Northeast and Southeast.) And the only Nightcoach flight daily to and from that can save you 20% off regular day coach fare with no restrictions. Call your Travel Agent or American at 983-0681.



The Airline Passengers Association is an independent membership organization. For a copy of the survey, write APA, Box 2758, Dallas, Texas 75221.

KING OF GUITAR — Sabicas, known as "the king of the Spanish guitar," will present a recital in the Social Science Center at Mt. San Antonio College at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $4 general, $2 for students.

Sabicas set for MSAC

Spanish guitarist Sabicas, known as "the king of the Spanish guitar" will present a recital in the Social Science Center at Mt. San Antonio College at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Sabicas received his first guitar lessons from an uncle who knew only two chords. By the age of 9 he made his debut with the La Chelita Company at the Dorado Theatre in Madrid, and two years later won first prize as the best guitarist at Madrid's Monumental Cinema Theatre. By 20 he was ranked with the great Spanish guitarists and accompanied Spain's most famous singers and dancers, including the legendary Carmen Amaya.

Sabicas kicks off MSAC's Guitar Concert Series, which also will include performances by Ernesto Bitetti Nov. 21 and the Omego Guitar Quartet March 27.

Series tickets are $10.20 for general admission and $5.10 for students. Individual tickets are $4 for general admission and $2 for students and may be obtained at the MSAC Community Services Office, 598-2811 Ext. 361.

'Plaza' not always sweet

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

The professional performance of Neil Simon's tripartite comedy, "Plaza Suite," which played at the Claremont Colleges' Garrison Theater over the weekend, was a sometime thing — sometimes delightful, sometimes disappointing.

In the four or five times I have seen the play(s), the first act, "Visitor from Mamaroneck," has always been the standout, a bittersweet study of a romantic and neglected wife and her dynamic, insecure, egomaniacal husband who is having an affair with his secretary. The evening slides off into a very funny and whimsical "Visitor from Hollywood" and declines to a farcical "Visitor from Forest Hills," a slapstick spinoff from "Father of the Bride."

Such was not the case with the Garrison production. The first act turned out to be a pain in the Mamaroneck, partly because the leads, Emily McLaughlin and John Lupton, failed to project their voices, even in the intimate confines of the small theater, and partly because they failed to create the characters to involve the audience in the poignant anecdote. What should have been a sweet-sad examination of marriage-on-the-rocks degenerated into a vituperous exchange of charges and countercharges patently and painfully like the soap operas in which all the stars of the evening earn their bread and cheese. Here "Plaza Suite" is slightly sour.

Tom Hallick as the virile Hollywood producer aiming to score with his high school sweetheart and Jaime Lyn Bauer as the object of his intentions, are much more successful with the bagatelle of Act II. He is Playboy-suave and hilariously singleminded; she is riotous as his vodka-swilling PTAdmirer from New Jersey. The will-she, won't-she romp adds up to little more than a lot of laughs — which isn't all that bad.

"Forest Hills," which I presume the playwright intended to be dessert for the meal, is a confection of low-comedy pratfalls and nifty one-liners at which simple Simon has no peer. Jeanne Cooper as the distraught fashionable matron whose daughter has locked herself in the bathroom 10 minutes before her wedding, is nothing but great, a skilled and various comedienne, and Jim Sikking is superbly comic as her even-more-distraught husband. The nonsensical playlet had Garrison rocking with laughter from beginning to end.

The three little comedies added up to a lot of fun, but not what you would call a memorable evening at a theater.

THE OLD SONGS — The Hilhoppers, quartet of the Pomona Valley Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, will entertain at the chapter's auditions on the Montclair Plaza from 7:30 to 9:30 tonight.

Barber shoppers shop for new talent tonight

The Pomona chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, will hold auditions at the Montclair Plaza from 7:30 to 9:30 tonight.

Chapter president Bill Woolsey said, "We are looking for men who can sing; they don't have to read music."

The local group, with the Carousel Chorus conducted by Carl Walters, this year performed at the Los Angeles County Fair, the Ontario 500 and on pregame shows for the Dodgers and the Angels. Before the end of this year the singers will have appeared before more than 200,000 people.

Bilingual Parents Advisory Committee

Members of the Pomona school district's Bilingual Parents Advisory Committee will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Education Center board room.

Hillcrest bazaar

The annual Hillcrest Bazaar will be held Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Many residents have been nurturing plants for this year's sale and Hillcrest men have crafted many items of wood including toy tractors, log trucks, doll cradles, book racks, donkey and cart, and sewing boxes.

Hillcrest residents have donated family treasures for the bazaar, including a hand-made chair over 100 years old. This year there will also be a table of old linens and laces. Books, baked goods, caramel popcorn balls, jellies, knits, jewelry, cards and boxed candy, and hand-made toys will be on sale.

A snack bar opens at 9:30 a.m. and a dinner of barbecued ribs or chicken will be available at noon. Hillcrest is located at "B" and Seventh streets in La Verne. This year's profits will go to the Hillcrest Benevolent Fund.

Booster club officers

Bob Huffman is president of a Boosters Club which has been formed at Ganesha High School in Pomona.

Others selected to serve with him are Benie Gooden, vice president; Ethel Parm, secretary; Ken Brown, treasurer; Frank Lundstrum, membership chairman; and Tony Rentz, program chairman.

Vic Nicoles is athletic director at the school.

Parents interested in joining the organization may call 595-0552.

For senior citizens

The San Dimas Recreation Department has announced that a potluck dinner and dance for senior citizens has been scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 3.

The event will be held in the Stanley Plummer Community Building, 245 E. Bonita Ave., San Dimas.

The potluck begins at 6 p.m., followed by the dance. A $1 fee will be charged at the door to cover entertainment.

Those wanting to attend must make reservations by Oct. 29. Reservations can be made by calling the San Dimas Recreation Department at 599-6713, extension 40.

Chino sets Halloween events

An afternoon of games, contests, magic, and talent is being planned by Chino Recreation and Parks Department for a community Halloween event to be held Saturday at the Chino Community Building.

The fourth annual Halloween costume contest will begin activities at 2 p.m. Judging will take place in five categories: Pre-school, kindergarten, first and second grade, third and fourth grade, and fifth and sixth grade. Prizes will be awarded for first and second place in each category. All costumes entered must be homemade.

A Halloween penny carnival will follow the costume contest at a penny per chance at all booths. In addition to the game booths offered will be make-up booths, where a variety of Halloween faces can be received at a small charge.

The highlight of the carnival will be a magic show at 3:30 p.m., performed by magician, Mark Cannon. There is no charge for the performance.

The carnival will continue until 5 p.m., when Chino recreation department's first annual halloween costume contest will begin. All activities will take place at the Chino community building, corner of 10th and B Streets.

Children and adults are invited to attend the event. Further information concerning the event may be obtained by calling the recreation department office at 627-7344.

Alumni picnic in Coliseum

UC Berkeley friends, fans, alumni and their families are invited to a pre-game "Bring Your Own Picnic" on Saturday when Cal plays USC at the Los Angeles Coliseum. Picnic begins at 11 a.m. at the Peristyle end of the Coliseum.

A post-game, no-host reception will be held at the Museum of Science and Industry's Space Museum. Admission is $1.

Both events are being sponsored by the California Alumni Association and the Southern Seas. For further information call (213) 776-3660 or (213) 390-6109.

Drug lectures scheduled

In two Claremont lectures next week Stanislav Grov will discuss his 20 years of research into the effects of psychedelic drugs.

Grov, a medical doctor, has lectured and written extensively on the subject. He will speak at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday on "Dimensions of Consciousness: Observations From LSD Research for the Philosophy of Science."

Both appearances will be in Bauer Lecture Hall, Mills Avenue north of sixth street, on the Claremont Men's College campus. The Blaisdell Institute is the sponsor. The lectures are free and are open to all.

College information night

College Information Night, an annual Montclair High School Guidance Department offering, will be held on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the school library.

Michael Rose of San Bernardino State College will be the guest speaker for junior and senior parents and students.

Information presented will be on how to select a college with comparisons among community colleges, public and private higher education facilities.

Financial aid opportunities will also be reviewed. A survey of state scholarships, federal scholarships, loans and grants and scholarships donated by organizations and companies will be followed by small group discussions led by members of the Guidance Department.

Refreshments will be served by the library staff. Interested parents and students may obtain more information by calling 641-1561.

Bond awarded employe

Jose M. Morales, assistant manager of the Pomona Pep Boy's store, was awarded a savings bond by Murray Rosenfeld, Pep Boy's executive vice president and general manager.

The award was made in recognition of Jose having completed 10 years of company service.

Public hearing set on building of homes

A public hearing has been set for Dec. 2 on a proposal to build 193 single family homes in Rowland Heights.

The case came up before the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors today at the request of Affiliated Properties Inc. of Los Angeles which owns rights to 76 acres overlooking Otterbein Regional Park on the north and east.

The Regional Planning Commission already has given its approval to the project at a hearing of its own.

Cost of the project is estimated at about $14 million.

Supervisors phase out certain groups

Valley residents, along with the rest of Los Angeles County, will no longer be able to take advantage of the services of the Badge Control Committee.

Nor will they be able to depend on the judgment of the Bravery Awards Screening Committee or the Executive Development Policy Committee. Or the General Relief Review Committee.

Those groups, along with 12 others, are being phased out by the Board of Supervisors at an estimated tax saving of $200,000 a year. And there is more to come.

The estimate in savings comes from Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, who claims credit for spearheading the move.

Hahn said the work performed by those committees and commission is no longer necessary — if it ever really was — and it is time to bring them to a gentle demise.

Gone are the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, the Commission to Review Public Social Services, the Antelope Valley Transportation Study Commission, and the Supervisorial District Boundary Committee.

So are the Department Heads Advisory Committees, the County Delinquency Prevention committee, Agricultural Committee of the Wayside Honor Rancho, Task force to Study the County's Affirmative Action Program, Earthquake Commission, and the Engineering Advisory Committee.

Hahn said the supervisors are now considering whether to disband the Obscenity and Pornography Commission and the Commission on Youth.

Some county commissioners get up to $100 a meeting, but Hahn said most board members on the dropped groups work either for free or for a token amount. However, each of the committees is assigned a county specialist and that's where costs start going up, according to the supervisor.

Quilt on display

As a contribution to America's bicentennial celebrations, United California Bank will display a Bicentennial Celebirty Quilt at its Montclair office, 5120 Moreno St. through Thursday.

The quilt, measuring 9 by 12 feet and weighing over 15 pounds, consists of 29 separate squares, each designed by a nationally-known figure from the worlds of motion pictures, television, sports and politics.

Theater excursion planned Wednesday

The Ontario Recreation Department offers an excursion to the theater Wednesday for valley residents.

Seats have been reserved for the evening performance of the Peter Shaffer drama "Equus." Tickets are $10 per person and bus transportation will be supplied by Reach Out West End.

The bus will leave Bon View Community Center in Ontario at 6:15 p.m. and will leave the Lemon Street office of the recreation department at 6:30 p.m.

The play deals with a disturbed youth and the psychiatrist who is hired to treat him. It stars Brian Bedford and Dai Bradley.

Chino man elected

Gerald Ford won a presidential election at Western State University College of Law of Orange County.

According to certified results of the WSU Student Bar Association, the first-semester student from Yorba Linda was the top vote getter in capturing the class presidency among part-time students. Debra Beck of Santa Ana was chosen president among first-semester full-time students.

Vista Del Valle plans family carnival

Vista Del Valle School in Claremont will sponsor a family carnival Sunday from 2 to 6 p.m. for children who will not be trick or treating for Halloween.

The family event is open to the public and will be held on the school grounds at 550 Vista Drive, Claremont.

A haunted house, jaws game, cake walk, ring toss, dart game and fish pond will be featured. Candy baskets prepared by fourth, fifth and sixth grade classrooms and plants raised as science projects will be sold.

Prizes will be awarded for children, parent and family costumes in a variety of categories. Prizes include a dinner for two, luncheons, theater admissions, books, games, puppets, book bags and other items. Local merchants who donated prizes include The Ruddy Duck, The Perfect Gift, Casa Flores, Children's Shop, Yiannis, Raku, Folk Music Center, Helen and Tony's Pantry, Bentley's, Rayne Beau Raggs, Key Rexall, the Thai Restaurant, Claremont Square Barbers, Greene's Deli, The Book House, Bud's Bike Shop, Jensen's Bakery, the Village Theater and Marie Callenders.

On Thursday, Danny Rees, juggler, unicyclist and magician, will present a pre-Halloween festivity for the Vista Del Valle children. Parents wanting pictures should call Principal Duane Jackman.

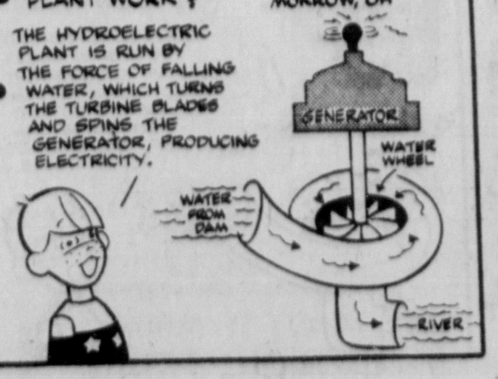
JOHNNY WONDER

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "HOW DOES A HYDROELECTRIC PLANT WORK?"

A. THE HYDROELECTRIC PLANT IS RUN BY THE FORCE OF FALLING WATER, WHICH TURNS THE TURBINE BLADES AND SPINS THE GENERATOR, PRODUCING ELECTRICITY.

ROBERT STACEY MORROW, OH



Much of the electricity we use is produced by power plants located in huge dams. Such plants, called hydroelectric plants, are run by the force of falling water.

The water collects behind the dam. It rushes down through an enclosed pipe and pushes against the blades of the water wheel in the turbine. The turbine blades are connected to a shaft which turns the generator.

The generator has two sets of wire coils inside. One set of coils creates a magnetic field through which the other set of coils passes, breaking the magnetic field and generating electricity.

The electricity thus generated is carried over power lines to places where it is needed.

On many rivers, the same water flows from one dam with its generators to others downstream where it is used once again to generate hydroelectric power.

The electricity makes your light and other electrical things work.

A World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

NEWSPAPER HONORED — Emmett Jones, right, advertising director of the Progress Bulletin, accepts from President Joe Pugh of the Montclair Chamber of Commerce, an award presented to this newspaper at the Chamber's Pacesetter Luncheon at the Phoenix Restaurant last week when radio stations and newspapers serving the Pomona Valley area were honored.

Cal Poly's new science building dedicated today

WILLIAM H. PICKERING

William H. Pickering, director of Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory from 1954 to 1976, was to be the speaker at the dedication of the new science building at Cal Poly Pomona today.

Pickering, who was responsible for JPL's part in the U.S. program of unmanned exploration of space during that period, planned to speak on "New Directions for Science" this morning in the University Union.

Open house is now being held in the new building for university personnel and guests. Student science clubs and honoraries will serve refreshments.

Pickering's distinguished career in connection with the space program has led him to a number of other appointments and honors in the field of science. This month, he was presented the National Medal of Science by President Gerald Ford in Washington, D.C.

He is currently chairman of the naval studies board of the National Academy of Sciences and is a founding member of the National Academy of Engineering.

Cal Poly's new four-story $8.5 million science building more than doubles the space formerly available on campus for the study of science. A covered passageway connects the new and the older building, forming a science complex with a patio between.

The building is outfitted with $1.2 million worth of equipment, primarily for advanced work in the disciplines of science offered at Cal Poly, biological sciences, physics, mathematics, earth sciences and chemistry.

The building contains laboratories for instruction and research, a seismographic station, greenhouses, animal rooms, astronomical and meteorological facilities and the university computer center.

Streamline catalog

Mary Margaret Benson, head of the cataloging department of the library of the School of Theology at Claremont, was one of 14 theological librarians from Princeton, Union Seminary, Harvard, and Yale to plan recently at the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C. for streamlining theological cataloging nationwide.

The conference was underwritten by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, long a supporter of theological education. Miss Benson is a niece of George C. S. Benson, former president of Claremont Men's College.

Citrus submits center blueprints

Citrus College officials have submitted blueprints and other necessary documents to apply for federal funding of a proposed $1.5 million child care, career planning and learning skills center to be constructed on the campus.

In order to qualify for consideration under Title 1 of the Public Works Act, all documents for the multipurpose building must be received in Seattle early this week.

Notification of acceptance or rejection of the school's proposal will be received in approximately 30 to 60 days.

Board members authorized the hiring of Cashion-Horie Architects, Inc., to prepare the necessary plans and specifications for the project. If the project receives federal funding, the firm will receive eight per cent of the construction bid.

Goals of the federal program, entitled Local Public Works Capital Development and Investment Program, include increasing disadvantaged employment and aiding the College officials feel the proposed center will meet these needs.

High twelve speaker

Roger E. Helman of Columbus, Ind., International President of High Twelve Clubs, will speak at a Pomona Club meeting Wednesday noon at Sir George's.

The public is invited as well as all Masons.

The High Twelve International sponsors loan programs for DeMolay boys, Jobs Daughters, and Rainbow Girls.

NATIONALLY KNOWN
SPEED READING COURSE
TO BE TAUGHT HERE IN POMONA ONTARIO AREA

POMONA ONTARIO AREA — (Spec.) Golden State Reading Lab will offer a 4 week course in speed reading to a limited number of qualified people in the Pomona Ontario area.

This recently developed method of instruction is the most innovative and effective program available in the United States.

Not only does this famous course reduce your time in the classroom to just one class per week for 4 short weeks, but it also includes an advanced speed reading course on cassette tape so that you can continue to improve for the rest of your life.

If you are a student who would like to make A's instead of B's or C's, or if you are a business person who wants to stay abreast of today's ever-changing, accelerating world, then this course is an absolute necessity.

In a few months, some students are reading 20-30 times faster, attaining speeds that approach 6000 words per minute.

Our average graduate should read 7-10 times faster upon completion of the courses with marked improvement in comprehension and concentration.

For thos who would like additional information, a series of free, one hour orientation lectures have been scheduled.

These free meetings will be held at the following times and locations:

Dial this number to fight the natural gas shortage.

You can save enough gas this year to heat your home for an entire winter's month. Just lower your heating thermostat from 72° to 68° during the day, and even lower at night.

If all of our Southland customers do this, the gas saved this winter would be enough to heat every home in a city the size of Glendale for over twelve years.

In addition to saving valuable gas, this simple twist of the wrist will help postpone further cutbacks to businesses and industries. So you'll be saving jobs, too.

This year, don't pass up the chance to do the energy shortage a good turn.

Dial down to 68°. You'll find that saving gas can give you a nice warm feeling.

Egyptians want to keep women's role

"True emancipation for the Egyptian woman is not the same as for Western women," says Saneya Saleh, an Egyptian sociologist visiting Pitzer College from the American University in Cairo. "We want to complement men — not contradict them."

Speaking to sociology classes about Women in Islam, Mrs. Saleh explained that in the Egyptian feminist movement, the importance of the family and the woman's role in the family in her society are cultural assumptions.

"We want to keep the special role of women. The family is everything — not just parents and children but sisters and brothers, aunts and uncles, grandparents, the extended family community." Mrs. Saleh added that she hopes she will not see the decline of the family in Egypt that has happened in Europe and the U.S.

"Western trends may break down our strong ties but so far, the culture is stronger."

Married just out of high school, Mrs. Saleh spent 15 years raising her two children and traveling to Switzerland and Germany where her husband, Mohammed Ismail, studied and taught electrical engineering, before returning to Egypt and continuing her education.

"When my children were old enough, then I decided to get my degree." Her Master's thesis on the Egyptian Brain Drain was inspired by her husband's frustration with working conditions in Egypt and desire to emigrate.

"I was very threatened by the idea. I did not want to leave my family again or take my children away from my family." She tilts her head and flashes a small smile.

"But then Sadat came to power and things got better for everyone and my husband does not want to leave now." Ironically, it would be best for her career if she would take a teaching post here in the United States — "But to hell with my education if it means leaving my family."

Describing Egypt as "the most progressive Arab nation," Saneya said that her country has advanced beyond the United States in many of its laws affecting the life and status of women. Although Egyptian women did not get the right to vote and be elected until 1956, the country passed an equal rights bill in 1962. Eight women serve in the national assembly and the last two Ministers for Social Affiars are women.

SANEYA SALEH

"Equal pay for equal work was never an issue in my country," Saneya said. "It has always been so. We have equal educational opportunity and women in all professions, though the majority have gravitated to the social sciences."

"Moslem women do not change their name when they marry, and they have full rights of inheritance. I am Mrs. Ismail, but I hold property and sign my checks as Saneya Saleh."

By law, women in Egypt can take up to 50 days maternity leave at 70 percent pay plus up to 6 months leave without pay. No woman can be laid off during maternity leave and when they return to work, they must be allowed two 30 minute breaks (paid) per day to nurse their baby. Any business with 100 or more employees must provide day care for employee's children.

"It was easy to make these changes in the social laws," says Mrs. Saleh. "From the beginning, as determined by Mrs. Hoda Sharaawi, founder of the Arab Feminist Union in 1923, we have based our demands for social reform on the spirit of the Koran (the Moslem Scriptures).

"The Koran is not just religious, but a life philosophy. Now we fight for changes in the Personal Status Laws covering divorce and abortion."

Mrs. Saleh says the low status of women in her country is "not the fault of Islam as many may think, but due to culture and tradition imposed by conquering peoples from Alexander the Great to the Turkish Ottoman Empire.

It is the Turks who veiled our women." It was the decline of Islamic civilization under foreign rule that made the women increasingly dependent on and obligated to the men.

"In the Golden Age of Islam — in the Seventh Century — women prayed in the temples and worked in the fields with the men. They dealt in business and were appointed aministrators in the Caliph's government. What we are doing is not so revolutionary — we have just regained what we once had."

Social change in Egypt has not come without conflict between the ideal of "Islamic principles that are compatible with feminine emancipation and the reality of culture and tradition."

"Men still have a sense of honor and duty to support the women of their family. Working women do not contribute to the expenses of the house." But these things seem to work out, she added.

"No one objects that the brother inherits twice what the sister will have because we know that the brother must support the sister and mother if they have no man to spend on them." Saneya smiles at some students' disbelief.

"We want to become partners, not competitors in building our society. The Arab woman wants greater freedom and independence. We ask for more responsibilities, more self-expression, more chances to prove our capabilities."

Sense of isolation

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I'm a 40-year old woman. I've worked all my life and since I lost my job two years ago, it's getting harder and harder for me to leave the house. I know my drinking habits have changed. Every night I have at least three drinks before dinner, and a bottle of wine with dinner. This makes me sleepy so I don't want to do anything but go to bed. I haven't been out of the house for almost a year and I don't want to leave. I send for everything I need. I'm almost afraid. — A.B.

Dear A.B.: You may be using alcohol to bury a sense of isolation and loneliness. It seems to me you have two problems that probably are interrelated and you may need professional help to overcome them.

It would appear from your letter that you have a strong dependency on alcohol. You can easily test yourself. Simply try to limit yourself to one drink before dinner and perhaps one glass of wine. If you can do this for a period of three months without strain or difficulty, chalk me up as wrong. If you can't, you need help.

Your drinking may be closely related to your fear of going out. Doctors refer to this as agoraphobia, often those who feel unable to leave their homes also suffer other "panic attacks."

There is no single cause. Sometimes panic attacks are triggered by hormonal changes, or by overstimulants such as coffee or medications that the patient doesn't tolerate well.

See a doctor. It's important to find out what is causing your condition before it gets worse.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My 70-year-old mother was mugged by a gang of young toughs in my neighborhood. I want to corner these hoods and beat them up myself. Many are only 14 and they're already vicious criminals. I can't understand — I was always poor, grew up, and still live in a ghetto area, but I never acted like these kids do. What makes them do these savage things? — R.O.

Dear R.O.: What accounts for this behavior in youngsters? Anger, frustration and a feeling that they're born losers in a society that only respects winners. I'm not making excuses for them, for violence, especially against the weak and helpless, is indefensible. It is a fact, however, that powerlessness breeds violence. Many who think they can't get ahead in the normal way turn to crime as a substitute. Young people who get in trouble with the law usually are those who feel they don't stand a chance of finishing high school and who expect to hold low-status jobs as adults.

The violence you describe has, unfortunately, become a major problem in mony urban areas. Society must find some way to organize these youngsters, put them to work, and keep them off the streets.

Don't, under any circumstances, consider taking the law into your own hands. Work through the police. They are prepared to cope with these hardened, often brutal, deliquents.

Donahue confronted with old Bruin jinx

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nearing the end of his regular weekly breakfast with sports writers, UCLA football Coach Terry Donahue said, "I want to thank you guys for not asking about the jinx."

A few minutes later, one brave writer finally asked the inevitable: why hasn't UCLA been able to beat Washington in Seattle since 1958?

"It's hard to believe it's been 18 years," said Donahue, shaking his head. "I don't have the answer. I know it's tough to play in Seattle — I went up there as a player myself and lost.

"But I won't say one word about it to the players this week. Oh, I suppose they'll read about it in the papers, but I'm not going to talk about it."

There are many theories explaining why UCLA hasn't been able to beat the Huskies in Seattle in the last eight games they've played there. Here are some of them:

—The Astroturf at Seattle is hard for Bruin players to adjust to, since they usually play on grass;

—The weather in Seattle is usually cold, often rainy;

—Washington's fans spur their team to play harder against UCLA and Southern Cal — the Pacific-8 Conference's perennial powerhouses — than against the other Pac-8 teams.

UCLA Athletic Director J.D. Morgan suggested that perhaps there is another reason.

For many years, he said, the UCLA-Washington game came just one week before the Bruins were to meet rival USC and frequently the Bruins would know in advance that a loss to the Huskies would not mean anything as long as they beat USC the following week. And that could cause a mental letdown in Seattle.

After Donahue had said he didn't know why the jinx existed, a publicist noted, "You know, Terry, the last UCLA victory came by a first-year coach," to which Donahue virtually shouted, "All right!"

(The Bruins beat the Huskies 20-0 in Bill Barnes' first game as UCLA coach in 1958 when he took over in midseason for George Dickerson, who had suffered a stroke a week earlier.)

Donahue said he had good news about his No. 1 quarterback, Jeff Dankworth, who is nursing a hip pointer. Dankworth will probably lead third-ranked UCLA Saturday against Washington.

Donahue said Dankworth is gaining in confidence and ability each week, and he said the Bruins may be forced to throw more than usual against a Huskie defense stingy against the run.

Donahue noted that Washington is "still in the Rose Bowl race," with only one Pac-8 loss, and he acknowledged that playing in Seattle wasn't a picnic. And he praised Washington coach Don James.

"Don James teams don't beat themselves. They just line up and you have to beat them."

Washington beat the Bruins 17-13 last year by taking away the option play, and Donahue said, "We may have to pass against them to win."

McVay tries to save Giants

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven was the magic number for Coach Bill Arnsparger and now it's the magic number for Coach John McVay.

After seven consecutive losses and a 7-28 record in 2½ seasons, Arnsparger's rebuilding program for the New York Giants was terminated Monday morning and McVay, one of his assistants, was named as the club's new coach.

The Giants have seven games remaining on their schedule.

"We hope that John can shake up the players and make them respond. We'll determine at the end of the year what kind of team we have, and hopefully, he and the staff can be a part of our organization," said Andy Robustelli, the Giants' director of operations, who huddled with club President Wellington Mara before announcing the change.

In other words, McVay has seven games to turn the team around if he hopes to be the head coach next year.

McVay has a good chance to end the Giants' skid this week when the 2-5 Philadelphia Eagles play at Giants Stadium.

"I feel we have reached the point where it is imperative to see whether the people we have can respond to another personality more than they did to Bill," said Mara.

The firing came in the final year of Arnsparger's three-year contract and followed a 27-0 drubbing by the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday.

McVay, who coached for two seasons in the World Football League before joining the Giants this year as assistant coach for research and development, plans no major changes.

"I don't plan any great shakeups," McVay said. "I think I've been left with a good nucleus and there's a good chance to turn things around.

"Radical changes are not in the best interests of the ball players," added McVay. "The important thing is a feeling of security, to know that the coaches believe in them."

Arnsparger reported to work at the Giants' training camp around 8 a.m., Monday, and was studying game films of the latest loss while his fate was being decided. Robustelli broke the news and then McVay was offered the job.

Arnsparger was hired to direct the rebuilding of the Giants after the team had struggled through a 2-11-1 season in 1973. The team was 2-12 in its first year under the former Miami Dolphin defensive coach but improved that to 5-9 last season.

Hopes were high during the 1976 pre-season, especially with the addition of free agent fullback Larry Csonka. But the team dropped a heartbreaker in the opener at Washington. A week later, the Giants were upset by Philadelphia and then lost to Los Angeles, St. Louis, Dallas, Minnesota and Pittsburgh.

"You're not going to see any different formations," McVay said. "We might change the style of running a play or running a pass pattern, but it won't be anything drastic. The important thing is to avoid the kind of mistakes we've been making to beat ourselves."

Arnsparger was not offered another job in the organization.

McVay, 45, played college football at Miami of Ohio under Woody Hayes and Ara Parseghian. He served as an assistant to Duffy Daugherty at Michigan State for three years and then was head coach and athletic director at Dayton for five years before moving to the WFL in that league's first season.

Redskins enjoy rain storm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington 20, Mother Nature 13, St. Louis 10.

A two-day rain, pelting at times in the first half, caused 13 fumbles, one shy of a National Football League record, in waterlogged RFK Stadium Monday night when the Redskins scored a 20-10 victory over the Cardinals in a nationally televised game.

The Cardinals lost eight of their nine fumbles, in addition to suffering two interceptions, as the Redskins moved into strong contention in the race for the National Conference East title.

The Dallas Cowboys, the East leader with a 6-1 record, visit the nation's capital Sunday to meet the Redskins, who now are tied with the Cardinals for second place at 5-2.

"This is probably the first time we've played totally together," said Washington Coach George Allen, winner of nine of 10 Monday night games since coming to the Redskins. "We had to play that way to win."

The Redskins gained the advantage early in the fourth quarter when Cardinals' running back Terry Metcalf fumbled and the ball was recovered by Washington defensive end Dennis Johnson on the St. Louis seven with 10:38 remaining.

On the next play, Mike Thomas, the 1975 NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year, ran to his left behind the blocking of tight end Jean Fugett and running back John Riggins for a touchdown, putting the Redskins ahead 13-10.

On the ensuing series, the Cardinals were forced to punt. Terry Joyce kicked the ball 35 yards, and Eddie Brown took it on the Washington 29, raced up the middle, then cut to the right sideline, scoring on a 71-yard play.

"We just made the play up on the sidelines," said Brown. "We haven't run a return up the middle all year, haven't even practiced it. But their coverage called for it."

Brown picked up blocks from Doug Winslow and Pete Wysocki, but also highstepped out of the reach of Steve Neils, Jerry Latin and Steve Jones before making it into the end zone.

"I was really getting tired," he said. "The last 10 yards were the hardest. My shoes weighed 10 pounds apiece at that point."

The Cardinals still had plenty of time left, despite the 10-point deficit. However, quarterback Jim Hart's pass was intercepted by middle linebacker Harold McLinton, ending one series, and Metcalf fumbled for the fourth time in the game at the Redskins one, ending another.

"Even after the punt return, we still figured we were in the game," said Hart. "If we score at the end and then force a mistake, we can take the game into overtime."

Cardinals Coach Don Coryell said simply: "This time last year we were 5-2. Now, we're 52. So we're still not out of it."

Sun Devils will seek Pacific-8

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona State University is expected to seek admittance to the Pacific 8, the school's president revealed Monday.

Both Arizona State and Arizona are being wooed by the Pac-8.

"Nothing is definite," said Dr. John Schwada. "There is much to be worked out. But I think we can say that it is extremely likely that we will recommend a move to the regents and that they will approve it."

ASU, now a member of the Western Athletic Conference, has indicated in recent weeks that it favored remaining in the WAC, while Arizona, also a WAC member, has been in favor of joining the Pac-8.

"We are feeling tremendous pressure," said Schwada. "Our sister institution in Tucson has made known its intentions of joining the Pacific 8 and it leaves us in quite a dilemma.

"The Western Athletic Conference in its present structure is an outstanding conference with a bright future, but with one of its stronger members missing, the situation changes."

Schwada noted that the WAC has been good to ASU, "but we're now in a position where we have to make a choice, and I think the choice is fairly obvious."

The state Board of Regents will discuss the matter at its Nov. 26-27 meeting. Sidney S. Woods, board president, said last week that he expected the board to vote favorably toward the switch, if ASU and UA wanted to make the shift.

Meanwhile, both Schwada and Dr. Fred Miller, ASU athletic director, expressed displeasure at Arizona's leading rush toward the Pac-8.

"We had hoped we could give further study to a number of matters," said Schwada. "You might say we now have a reduced bargaining position."

Arizona State is concerned about the method of distributing football gate receipts. ASU officials have contended that the school is better off financially under the WAC policy of a $25,000 guarantee to visiting teams than the Pac-8 procedure of splitting receipts down the middle.

"We have a rather extensive study compiled by a representative of one Pac-8 school," said Schwada. "It indicates both Arizona schools would make money, but it's based on a full house for each game.

Miller says a great deal of work involving football and basketball still has to be worked out. "I think it should be pointed out that we have not been asked to join the Pacific-8 and that there is no guarantee that we will be asked," he added.

Ladies enter OMS event

Janet Guthrie and Arlene Hiss have entered the Times 500 stock car race at Ontario Motor Speedway Nov. 21.

Mrs. Hiss, a Fullerton school teacher, and Miss Guthrie, of New York, will have to qualify for the race. But if they do it will be the first time two women have competed in the same NASCAR race.

Miss Guthrie, who failed in an attempt to qualify for the Cal 500 Indy car race in Sept., has been in four previous NASCAR events. Her highest placings were a pair of 15th place finishes in the Charlotte World 600 and the Daytona Firecracker 400.

Mrs. Hiss currently is one of the top drivers on the USAC stock car tour.

Big Eight frustrated

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Big Eight football coaches say they're tired of beating up on each other week after week while lesser teams with cleaner won-loss records rise above them in the national ratings.

But they also agreed there's nothing they can do about it.

"I look around the country and see other people's schedules, and who they play," said Barry Switzer, whose Oklahoma team lost Saturday to Oklahoma State and tumbled from fifth to 13th place in the Associated Press poll.

"And it's frustrating to know that every week you play a team that you know you've got to play as hard as you can to even be in the ball game."

The Big Eight has produced four national champions since 1970 and landed five teams in this week's Associated Press top 20—Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, Colorado, Nebraska and Missouri, all with 2-1 conference records.

"We probably have five teams right now who are as good as any team in the top 10," said Al Onofrio, whose Missouri Tigers whipped Nebraska last Saturday 34-24 rising from 17th to 10th and shoving the previously third-ranked Cornhuskers to ninth.

Missouri beat Southern Cal and Ohio State earlier this year, but the Trojans are rated fourth this week and Buckeyes are eighth.

"Because of the next four weeks several of us are going to be knocked out," Onofrio said. "Somebody has got to win and somebody has got to lose, and we're going to have some awfully good football teams not rated as high as they should be."

"When I look and see teams that are ranked ahead of Big Eight teams," said Bill Mallory of No.19 Colorado, "I think, 'There's no way.' I just don't think we're given credit for a heck of a league. I'd love to see some of those teams come in and play a Big Eight schedule."

"Like Maryland," said Oklahoma State Coach Jim Stanley, whose Cowboys jumped to 16th this week by beating Oklahoma. "Maryland doesn't have a good team on its schedule, and they're rated real high (fifth). They would have a hard time in the Big Eight."

"It is tough," said Tom Osborne of Nebraska. "I think we are gaining ground as people around the country are beginning to recognize the Big Eight is a tough league. But they still have to look at the won-lost record and of course that makes it hard to be ranked high nationally."

Kansas zoomed to the top 10 after winning its first four nonconference games this year, then suffered successive losses to Oklahoma State and Oklahoma and tumbled out of sight.

Meanwhile, Michigan retained the top spot in this week's ratings—receiving the first place nod from 53 of the 60 voters. It was the fifth straight week Michigan was first and for the fifth consecutive week Pittsburgh was the top challenger.

UCLA climbed from the fourth to third spot, followed by Southern California and Maryland. Unbeaten Texas Tech, which received one first place vote, is in sixth place with Georgia moving from 10th to seventh. Ohio State, Nebraska and Missouri round out the top ten.

Notre Dame heads the Second Ten, followed by Florida, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma State, Alabama, Mississippi State, Colorado and Cincinnati.

Aztecs sign Paul Gizzi

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Aztecs of the North American Soccer League said Monday they had signed free agent Paul Gizzi, a goalie, to a one-year contract.

Gizzi, 23, a 6-foot-1, 180-pounder, spent the last two years with the Seattle Sounders but was recently cut. Gizzi is a graduate of Biola College in La Mirada, Calif.

Ortmayer pleased with SCIAC opener

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Coach Roland Ortmayer was very pleased with his team's 1976 SCIAC conference debut last week vs. Whittier, but Pomona-Pitzer mentor Walt Ambord was not nearly as happy with his squad's SCIAC lid-lifter with Claremont-Mudd.

Those feelings were revealed Monday at the weekly Progress Bulletin football luncheon at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona.

La Verne blanked Whittier 23-0 to open its league slate but Claremont-Mudd bounced Pomona-Pitzer 69-35.

Leopard middle guard Dave Poling, who made 12 unassisted and seven assisted tackles in the shutout of Whittier, was chosen as the Defensive Player of the Week at the college level. Cal Poly lineman Doug Fowler won offensive honors for his play in the Broncos' 28-14 victory over USIU.

Player of the Week awards in the JC ranks were won by Chaffey linebacker Frank Malicki and Citrus center Wayne Walsh. Malicki had two interceptions, one fumble recovery and 12 tackles in the Panthers' 26-7 win over San Diego CC, while Walsh won offensive honors in leading the Owls' offense to 48 points in a 48-0 rout of San Bernardino Valley.

Other nominations from the four-year schools were La Verne wide receiver Steve Hines, Azusa Pacific quarterback Greg Gano and Azusa Pacific defensive back David Sconce.

Others nominated at the JC level were MSAC running back Dana Hutchinson and Citrus safety Lanny "Thumper" White.

Quoting the coaches:

ORTMAYER, La Verne: "Last week vs. Whittier was the first of our two-a-season matchups with SCIAC opponents, so I had a lot of questions as to how the teams would react to the game. It turned out to be quite a good day for us, our defense did an excellent job and presented our offense with a lot of scoring opportunities.

"I think they kind of overplayed our running game, as a result we were able to throw three touchdown passes. I also think they probably concerned themselves too much with the circumstances of our first game with them. They seemed to forget that we played very well in that game, even if we did win it on a questionable play.

"This week we play Redlands, they are 5-1 on the year and are a really well-balanced team. If we avoid turnovers, it should be a real good game. We'll battle 'em."

AMBORD, Pomona-Pitzer: "I have no comment on the Claremont-Mudd game. If I say anything positive about them they will probably turn it around and use it against me, and if I say anything negative about them I'm sure they will use that against me as well.

"Our freshman quarterback, Mark Klopp, did have a good game when he got in there, he has played well all year for us.

"This week we play Whittier. They are a good defensive team, but we'll show up for the game."

ANDY VINCI, Cal Poly: "I guess we're like water, we seem to seek our own level. Last week I think was our worst defensive game ever, our guys looked like they were out there watching paint dry.

"It was very difficult to get our kids interested in the game. They never stopped our offense, we stopped ourselves. Our offense did play well, we moved the ball very well.

"This week we have a bye, we need it. We're hoping to get about eight or nine guys healed up for our game with Northridge."

Draft rules

By The Associated Press

There are 26 major league baseball players who are unsigned for 1976, 19 of them in the American League.

Unless signed by the club they played for last season by Nov. 1, these players will be part of the first re-entry draft:

American League
Baltimore — Reggie Jackson, Bobby Grich, Wayne Garland, Royce Stillman.
California — Tim Nordbrook, Mike Miley, Paul Dade, Billy Smith.
Minnesota — , Steve Brye, Bill Campbell, Eric Soderholm.
New York — Doyle Alexander.
Oakland — Campy Campaneris, Sal Bando, Gene Tenace, Joe Rudi, Rollie Fingers, Don Baylor, Willie McCovey.

National League
Chicago — Steve Stone.
Cincinnati — Don Gullett.
Philadelphia — Dave Cash, Wayne Twitchell.
Pittsburgh — Rich Hebner.
San Diego — Tito Fuentes.
San Francisco — Gary Matthews.

THE RULES
There are pages of checks, counterbalances and technicalities governing baseball's re-entry draft. Basically, however, here's how it works:
—Names of unsigned players for 1976 are made available for the draft.
—Each player can be picked by 12 clubs plus the one he played for, making a total of 13 with which he can bargain.
—Clubs will select in inverse order of 1976 finish, with picks alternating by league.
—When selected by 12 clubs, a player's name is removed from the list.
—No club can sign more than two free agents. However, a club can sign as many as it loses.
—Toronto and Seattle, new to the American League in 1977, are not allowed to participate.
—A player is free to seek the best deal from all selecting clubs. If not signed by Feb. 16, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn puts the player's name before four interested clubs, excluding the one for which he played, for further negotiations.
—There is no compensation to the team losing a player from the one that signs him. All negotiated money goes to the player.

Four Reds named All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Four members of the World Champion Cincinnati Reds were named today to The Associated Press All-Star baseball team for 1976.

Second baseman Joe Morgan headed the Cincinnati contingent with one of the largest voting pluralities in the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters. He received 277 votes with runner-up Dave Cash of Philadelphia getting only 14.

Morgan batted .320 with 27 home runs and 111 runs batted in and is considered a favorite to repeat as the National League's Most Valuable Player.

The other Reds selected were shortstop Dave Concepcion and outfielders George Foster and Ken Griffey.

Concepcion, who batted .281 for the Big Red Machine, had 161 votes to 101 for Philadelphia's Larry Bowa. Foster, the major league leader in runs batted in with 121, who batted .306, led all outfielders with 215 votes. Griffey, the National League's second leading hitter with a .336 average, received 125. Squeezed between the two Reds' outfielders was Mickey Rivers of the New York Yankees, who had 134 votes, following his .312 batting average and 43 stolen bases for the American League champions.

In Kansas City, Bill Hunt of the NCAA's enforcement department, said, "We cannot confirm or deny that any investigation is being conducted. This is a policy imposed on us by the member institutions. It's simply a condition we work under here.

"Speaking generally, if we said a school was being investigated that could hurt the school's recruiting, even if the investigation turned up absolutely nothing farther down the road."

The Times had said that Oklahoma officials agreed last week to give the newspaper access to football ticket records, but later refused.

Last week, Oklahoma officials announced an internal probe would be conducted into allegations that the Oklahoma coaching staff was involved in spying on opponents' practices. Switzer asked for the probe after stating that he knew nothing of such activity. He said he would fire any coach involved in "such an unethical practice."

The Times said the allegations purportedly being probed include charges that players are promised large sums of cash from the sale of tickets they are alloted each game. The newspaper said it was charged that coaches help sell tickets at premium prices to generate $1,500 or more per player per season.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma officials were criticized by Gov. David Boren for refusing to release ticket records.

Boren said he had "personally conveyed my very strong feelings on this subject" to Oklahoma President Dr. Paul Sharp, and members of the university's Board of Regents.

"I believe that being open and laying everything out on the table is the best way to discover true facts," the governor said. "I sincerely hope that they will show no wrongdoing of any kind."

Joining Morgan and Concepcion in the All-Star infield were Minnesota's Rod Carew at first base and George Brett of Kansas City at third.

Carew, who batted .331 and missed a fifth straight batting crown by just two percentage points, won the closest race, receiving 114 votes to 103 for Steve Garvey of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Brett, the American League batting champion with a .333 average, had 179 votes and easily outdistanced Pete Rose of Cincinnati, who finished second with 76.

Catcher Thurman Munson of the New York Yankees was the leading vote-getter with 298 votes to only 22 for Johnny Bench of Cincinnati. The voting for that position was particularly interesting because Munson was involved in a post-World Series controversy with Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson when Anderson said that no catcher could compare with his man, Bench. Munson batted .302.

Jim Palmer of the Baltimore Orioles was selected as the team's right-handed pitcher and San Diego's Randy Jones was picked as the top left-hander. Palmer, 22-13 with a 2.51 earned run average, easily outdistanced rookie Mark Fidrych of Detroit, 205-81. Jones, who was 22-14 with a 2.74 ERA, had a tighter race, receiving 172 votes to 121 for runner-up Jerry Koosman of the New York Mets.

Both Palmer and Jones were repeaters from last year's team. The only other player to repeat was Morgan.

The National and American League Managers of the Year will be announced later this week.

Oklahoma claims no investigations

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer's contention that the Sooners are not currently under investigation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association appears to have been reinforced by a spokesman for the Big Eight Conference.

Switzer emphatically denied Monday a published report that the NCAA was investigating allegations that Sooners players and coaches were involved in ticket scalping.

"There is no NCAA investigation—official or unofficial—into our program," Switzer said.

The Big Eight spokesman expressed surprise at the report. "This is all news to us," he told The Associated Press. "The Big Eight, I can assure you, has no investigation at this time and plans none."

NCAA investigations normally come only after a school is investigated by its conference.

Switzer said that "because of their accusations — insinuations — our own administration has conducted its own inquiry into the matter."

Switzer was responding to an article in Monday's Oklahoma City Times. He declined further comment on the alleged probe, which the newspaper said involves accusations of illegal recruiting inducements and allegations of money generated through player ticket sales to finance automobiles.

Michigan still needs big test

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Coach Bo Schembechler still doesn't know how good his Michigan football team is.

"Whether we have a super team I can't say yet," he said Monday. "It has to be tested against tougher opposition. That'll come the next four games."

He's been saying most of the year that the next opponent will be tougher than the last. None of them have been very tough so far — at least as far as the final outcomes indicate.

Saturday the No. 1-ranked Wolverines played an almost flawless first half and went on to crush Indiana 35-0 in the rain for their third shutout. They won all seven games—four in the Big Ten—and have outscored opponents 307-58.

"We did a pretty good job," Schembechler said. "The only time I thought we didn't do a good job was against Northwestern."

Michigan beat the Wildcats 38-7 a week earlier.

This Saturday the Wolverines play their homecoming game against Big Ten rival Minnesota, which was upset by Iowa 22-12 over the weekend. The Gophers, quarterbacked by Tony Dungy of Jackson, Mich., head into the upcoming Little Brown Jug battle with a 5-2 overall record. Michigan is 7-0.

"Minnesota will be a hell of a lot better than Indiana," Schembechler said.

The following week Michigan plays at Purdue, then it hosts Illinois and closes out the regular season against archrival Ohio State — the only team most critics feel will be a legitimate test for the Wolverines.

Sophomore quarterback Rick Leach was Schembechler's offensive Champion of the Week for his play in the Indiana game. Michigan scored on five of its first six possessions, with a Russell Davis fumble spoiling the other. Schembechler said Leach was almost flawless during each drive.

Dean Galardi wins Montclair T-T title

Dean Galardi, U.S. junior table tennis champion, easily won the Montclair Table Tennis Club's first annual fall tournament Sunday at Monte Vista Elementary School.

Galardi defeated Harold Kopper of Riverside in three games, 21-15, 21-15, 21-5, to capture the advanced men's title. Teamed with Bart Lawson of Huntington Beach, Galardi also won the men's doubles championship.

Davis in the intermediates, Ian Davis of Fountain Valley defeated top seeded Thinh Nguyen of Upland, 21-14, 21-24, 21-12, 16-21, 21-18. Nguyen did win two trophies while John Colby of Upland won three.

Don Higgins of Alta Loma beat Kei Ariyasu of Hacienda Heights in five games to win the seniors-over-40 event and Hanna Butler of Montclair teamed with Rudolf Kovin of Sepulveda to win the draw doubles title.

Jay Bullock of Anaheim won a five-game match over Wayne Walker of Montclair for the beginners championship. Lee Lawson of Huntington Beach swept the juniors under 14 and 17 and the junior doubles.

Pitt rates as top pick

MIAMI (AP) — There still is some time before invitations can be extended, but Orange Bowl officials are making no secret of which team they want for their New Year's night football classic.

"It would be foolish of me to pretend that Pitt is not No. 1 on our list," said Nick Crane, chairman of the Orange Bowl selection committee. "They've got the ranking and (Tony) Dorsett—plus five players from Miami."

If Pitt were to accept an invitation, it would play the winner of the Big Eight Conference title.

The Big Eight race was thrown wide open last Saturday when both Oklahoma and Nebraska were beaten. At present, five teams are tied for first place in the conference.

Pitt has games against Syracuse, Army and West Virginia before Nov. 20, the date when bowl invitations can be sent out. When the Panthers end their regular season against Penn State, the bowl decisions will already have been made.

Malone may aid Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Coach Tom Nissalke says the addition of Moses Malone will make the Rockets one of the better rebounding teams in the National Basketball Association—and the 22-year-old forward-center will get more than 24 minutes playing time to aid the improvement.

The Rockets, off to a 2-0 start this season under Nissalke, announced Monday they had traded their first-round draft choices in 1977 and 1978 plus an undisclosed amount of cash to Buffalo for Malone, a former star in the American Basketball Association.

"He'll make us one of the better rebounding teams in the league where we have been just average," Nissalke said. "He'll give us another dimension of speed and quickness and strong rebounding."

Buffalo General Manager Bob MacKinnon said the Braves decided to trade Malone because of a demand by the youngster and his attorney Lee Fentress that Malone be guaranteed 24 minutes of playing time per game.

"I'd hope he would play more than 24 minutes for us," Nissalke said. "If he was only going to play 24 minutes for us, we wouldn't have traded for him in the first place."

Fentress said in Washington, D.C. there was no such demand for playing time. "It's outlandish for any player to be guaranteed any number of minutes," Fentress said.

Rockets officials declined to name the financial terms, but a Buffalo source said the Rockets reportedly would pick up Malone's reported $3.5 million contract and agreed to make the final two payments of the $350,000 owed for Malone in the dispersal draft.

Malone, who passed up a scholarship to the University of Maryland and went directly to the pros, will be playing for his fifth team in less than one year.

Ted Turner in hot water again

ATLANTA (AP) — The San Francisco Giants charged Monday that Atlanta Braves owner Ted Turner's party for Giants outfielder Gary Matthews amounts to tampering.

Spec Richardson, the Giants' director of baseball operations, said in San Francisco that his National League team wired the office of baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn stating facts supporting the tampering charge.

"We talked with the commissioner last week at the World Series following Mr. Turner's announced determination to fete Matthews in Atlanta," Richardson said. "We only gave Mr. Kuhn the facts. We, by wire today, have reiterated those facts. It's up to the commissioner to make a judgment."

Turner, who already has been slapped with a $10,000 fine and the loss of a first-round choice in the January free agent draft for "tampering" with Matthews, could not be reached for comment.

Turner threw a party for the slugging outfielder Sunday at the Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium in an effort to persuade Matthews, who became a free agent after the 1976 season, to sign with the Braves.

Field narrowed for JRB teams

LOS ANGELES — Eleven community college football teams are being considered as possible "eastern" representatives in the Junior Rose Bowl game Dec. 11 according to game director Glenn Davis of the sponsoring Los Angeles Times.

Davis said that 11 schools being contacted have been asked to send game films and seasonal statistics for the perusual of the JRB selection committee. The game, which will be played in Pasadena's Rose Bowl, will match the best California community college team against its counterpart from out-of-state for the mythical junior college national championship.

Teams contacted were: Mt. Hood, Oregon; Ellsworth, Iowa; Navarro, Texas; Rochester, Minnesota; Wesley, Delaware; Hutchinson, Kansas; Northwest Mississippi; Joliet, Ill.; Golden Valley Lutheran, Minnesota; Jones County, Mississippi; and Minnesota Tech College at Crookston.

Davis said the teams were selected because of their outstanding records and placements in the JC Grid-Wire, a national rating service.

The California "host" team will be selected from the six survivors of the state's playoff system which matches the 12 California conference champions. The selection committee plans to name the out of state team Nov. 22 and the California team Nov. 29.

Reserved seat tickets are now on sale at all Mutual and Ticketron outlets; the Pasadena Jr. Chamber of Commerce, 181 S. Los Robles St., Pasadena; Times Special Events, 212 W. First St., Los Angeles.

The Pasadena Jr. Chamber of Commerce is currently conducting a contest to select "Miss Jr. Rose Bowl." Tryouts are scheduled Oct. 26 and 27 at Pasadena Federal Savings, 199 N. Lake Ave. The final selection will be made Nov. 1 at the Oak Knoll Inn in Pasadena.

Ambord has 'no comment'

JERRY SCONCE, Azusa Pacific: "We played USD last week, it was a typical APC-USD game. They have some good players but are undisciplined and unorganized. We were pleased to win, although again, I was not happy with the officiating. I think maybe some of the these officials should be given fines to make them hussle out there, there's nothing worse than lazy officials.

"This week we play St. Mary's at home. They are an awful hard team to figure out, I think they are better than their record indicates, we expect a good game from them. We have been playing good spectator football so I guess our fans are happy even if I'm not."

MAL EATON, MSAC: "Cerritos tied us last week, during the game I thought we were playing poor defense but looking at the game films it seemed more a case of Cerritos just doing an exceptionally good job on offense. We did play well offensively ourselves, our offensive line, especially Mike Nissly, blocked exceedingly well.

"Also looking at the films, it looked like our field goal try right at the end of the game was good, but the officials thought otherwise. I guess that's the sort of call you have to expect when you play on the road.

"We came out of the game with no injuries, and the tie really has no effect on the conference standings, so we are not too unhappy. We figure we still have to win our three remaining games to win our conference. We have a bye this week."

MIKE MERANDI, Chaffey: "Poor officiating caused our game with SDCC to be very sloppy, they called over 200 yards in penalties and really kept either team from getting anything going.

"Our defense played well, but our offense sputtered. Once again, however, we wore them down in the fourth quarter.

"We have Citrus this week, from our standpoint we thoroughly enjoy playing them. They are a super organization and they do a outstanding job of coaching. They have very good talent and are as fundamentally sound a team as we will play all year."

JOHN STRYCULA, Citrus: "We beat San Bernardino last Saturday, they had some good people but we just played our best game overall. We led 41-0 at the half, our offense blew them out and our defense was very aggressive.

"Our quarterback, Dale Bunn, had a real good game, he ran well and passed the ball better than he had the last two games.

"We play Chaffey this week, it looks like they, Saddleback and us are the three teams in contention for our conference title. Chaffey is a much-improved team, we expect a hard game and figure that we will have to play well to win."

Ruth's wife lived with his mementoes

NEW YORK (AP) — The frail, little lady on Riverside Drive never surrendered.

Although Babe Ruth's proudest home run records crumbled under the bats of later stars, they fell like popcorn balls on the head of the Bambino's unyielding widow.

"There was only one Babe Ruth," Claire Ruth insisted. "There will never be another Babe."

It was a conviction Mrs. Babe Ruth took with her Monday afternoon when, after a long battle with cancer, she succumbed in her sleep in her rambling apartment beside the Hudson River.

It is the same 11-room, four-bedroom apartment she shared with the Babe from 1942 until 1948 and in which she lived alone, among the mementoes of his remarkable career, through the last 18 years.

It was a cluttered museum of photographs, balls, bats, newspaper clippings, trophies and other memorabilia which she guarded with a vengeance and never allowed to be touched.

They were the source of endless stories when newsmen dropped by for a chat or when her place was overrun by the grandchildren — four by an adopted daughter of the Babe and a fifth by her own daughter.

Mrs. Ruth resented the legends that the Babe, in his heyday, was a hellraiser, who drank too much beer, ate too many hotdogs and had a too wandering eye for the pretty ladies.

"None of it is true," she said. "He drank some beer but he couldn't eat hot dogs because he had a delicate stomach. He was a fun-loving person and an easy mark for friends. If he had any faults, it was that he was overly generous.

"When he was home, he never liked to go out to parties or restaurants. It bothered him when he got so much attention. He was really a homebody. We listened to the radio, talked and played cards. He was a wonderful husband.

"Col. Jacob Ruppert, who owned the Yankees, suggested that I go on road trips with him to keep him out of the hands of con men. I screened all his calls. If I hadn't, he would have given his life away."

When Roger Maris of the Yankees hit 61 home runs in 1961, breaking the Babe's season record of 60, Mrs. Ruth was quick to recall that Maris had 58 more times at bat than Ruth had in 1927.

She refused to be shaken when the Atlanta Braves' Hank Aaron hit his 715th home run on April 8, 1974, shattering one of the Bambino's greatest career marks. "I don't care if someone hits 800 home runs, or 900," she said. 'They will never accomplish what the Babe did."

She was a bright, quick-witted woman who maintained an intense interest both in baseball and the Yankees long after the Babe had died. Her pet project was the Babe Ruth Baseball League for juniors.

Mrs. Ruth grew up in baseball. Her father, Col. James Monroe Merritt, was Ty Cobb's lawyer. A first cousin was Johnny Mize, who hit 359 home runs for the Cardinals, Giants and Yankees.

A show girl, she met the Babe at a Washington, D.C., party in the mid-1920s and they were married in a morning ceremony April 17, 1929 just before the Babe was scheduled to take the field for the Yankees' home opener.

After the Babe's death, Mrs. Ruth became an even more prominent personality, sought after for appearances at charity affairs and sports events. She rarely missed one of the Yankees' Old Timers games.

She and Eleanor Gehrig, widow of Lou Gehrig, became a familiar pair at such functions, although there were rumors that the Babe and Lou were not the best of friends and that the chilliness had been handed down to their widows.

"All false—not true," Mrs. Ruth said. "The Babe never had a jealous bone in his body. Eleanor and I became the best of friends."

One story Claire always told with deep relish.

"Once President Nixon invited me to the White House," she said. "He was an avid baseball fan. We talked for 45 minutes. As I went out, I noticed that Secretary Kissinger had been kept waiting in the ante room."

Penalty helps Montreal win

MONTREAL (AP) — Defenseman Gerry Hart of the New York Islanders felt both he and Pete Mahovlich of the Montreal Canadiens were to blame for the penalty call that played a large part in their National Hockey League game Monday night, won 4-1 by Montreal.

"He was as guilty of the occurrence as I was," Hart said of Mahovlich's role in a highsticking major penalty that Hart was assessed when he drew blood from above the Montreal center's eye.

The penalty came 29 seconds after Bob Bourne began serving a tripping penalty, and the Canadiens scored the goal that broke a 1-1 tie with the two-man advantage and added another goal while Hart still was off late in the first period.

The battle between the two division leaders was the only game played Monday night in the NHL.

"I guess if there's a two-minute penalty called when blood is drawn, then it's supposed to be a five-minute major," Hart said. "But I still think it's unfortunate. I don't think there should have been a penalty at all.

"That a penalty could be called like that, even when somebody is just brushed, well, that's ridiculous. What kind of game would we be playing here?"

Hart said the Islanders were "embarrassed" in the second period, when Montreal's Doug Jarvis scored the game's final goal and the Canadiens outshot New York 13-5 after a 16-5 first-period margin.

"We were put off our game in the second period. It was a combination of the adversity we were experiencing and the Montreal Canadiens and referee Wally Harris. I think maybe I should go out there and shake his hand."

The game was marked by several exchanges, largely involving Montreal's Bob Gainey, who was sent off at 10:43 of the second period with New York's Clark Gillies. Gillies received a double minor for interference and roughing while Gainey was assessed an interference minor.

Bryan Trottier of the Islanders accompanied Gainey to the penalty box in the third period, Trottier for holding and Gainey for interference.

Montreal Coach Scotty Bowman saw it as a plot to get Gainey off the ice.

"It was a game plan they had. They were trying to get him out of there since the first period," said Bowman.

Sports briefs

NEW YORK (AP) — Vitas Gerulaitis and Dick Stockton head the U. S. Davis Cup team which will face Venezuela in Caracas Nov. 12-14 in the second round of the 1977 American Zone competition.

Gerulaitis, from New York, is No. 4 and Stockton, from Dallas, No. 10 in the U. S. men's rankings. Completing the squad will be Sherwood Stewart of Baytown, Tex., No.19; Fred McNair of Chevy Chase, Md., No. 36, and Bill Scanlon, 19-year-old collegiate champion from Dallas who is unranked.

Announcement was made Monday by Tony Trabert, the American captain.

Stockton has played on the U. S. team for three straight years while Gerulaitis made his Davis Cup debut in 1976. The others are newcomers.

In picking a virtually untested squad, Trabert apparently is expecting little opposition from the Venezuelans. The heavy artillery of Jimmy Connors, Arthur Ashe, Roscoe Tanner, Eddie Dibbs and Harold Solomon are being held back for later and tougher assignments.

The United States has not won the cup since 1972. In 1973 the Americans lost 5—0 to Australia in the final round but bowed to Colombia in 1974 and to Mexico in 1975 in earlier eliminations.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rick Kane, San Jose State's flashy tailback, and Kise Fiatoa, a nose guard at Long Beach State, were named Monday as football players of the week in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association.

Kane rushed for 63 yards on 16 carries and caught two passes for 29 more as San Jose beat Fresno State 21-7 last Saturday night.

Fiatoa, a 6-foot-1, 240-pounder, had nine tackles in a 21-10 victory over Lamar Tech. He also had three quarterback sacks and forced two interceptions.

Kane, holder of the Spartan school rushing record of 1,752 yards, suffered a hip pointer in the first period of last week's game, and he played in pain for the last three periods.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Connors, the world's No. 1 ranked men's tennis player, has signed to play on the $2.5 million World Championship Tennis tour in 1977, the WCT announced Monday.

Connors, the defending U. S. Open champion, will be playing on the WCT tour for the first time next year. "The WCT probably offers some of the toughest competition there is and certainly the Dallas finals is one of the most prestigious in professional tennis today," Connors said.

Connors has earned $276,282 in tournament play this year with a 77-7 record in singles play.

DETROIT (AP) — Problem-plagued Marvin Barnes has been reinstated by the Detroit Pistons but still faces court arraignment on charges of trying to take a .38-caliber pistol aboard an airliner.

Barnes was suspended last week by the National Basketball Association team after missing three days of practice.

A team spokesman said Monday that Barnes and Pistons General Manager Oscar Feldman met Sunday.

Feldman said, "Barnes says he is now ready to do what he is supposed to do."

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP) — The first of 16 jury panel members was chosen Monday for the murder retrial of former middlweight boxing contender Rubin "Hurricane" Carter and John Artis.

A spokesman for Superior Court Judge Bruno L. Leopizzi said the juror was a man. Other information about the panelist was not made known.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. — Defending champion Earl Anthony of Tacoma, Wash., beat Butch Soper of Huntington Beach, Calif., 222-192 in the championship match of the $60,000 Buzz Fazio Open. It was his 26th title, making him the alltime champion on the Professional Bowlers Association circuit.

CAGLIARI, Sardinia — Baldovino Dassu of Italy fired a final-round 69 for an eight-under-par 280 and won the Italian National Open golf tournament by eight strokes over Spain's Manuel Pinero.

PERTH, Australia — Billy Martin of Palos Verdes, Calif., beat Indian Davis Cup player Sashi Menon 6-4, 6-3 and won a $40,000 international tennis tournament.

VIENNA — Vitas Gerulaitis of New York downed Peter Pearson 6-4, 5-7, 7-6 in the first round of the $50,000 Grand Prix Tennis Tournament.

NEW YORK — Dance Spell, $10, came from behind in the stretch and upset Honest Pleasure in the $55,550 Jamaica Handicap for a three-quarters of a length triumph at Aqueduct Race Track.

LAUREL, Md. — Take the Pledge, $51.60, charged along the outside and nipped early leader Resound in a threehorse photo-finish in the Laurel Turf Cup at Laurel Race Course.

CHICAGO — Officer's Call, $12, and Dare To Command, $5.40, wound up in a dead heat for first place in Hawthorne Park's $30,180 Bidwill Memorial Stakes.

Upland Realtor to fill Mikesell's seat

Kamansky chosen in apparent compromise

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

In an apparent compromise, Upland Realtor Joseph Kamansky was chosen Monday by San Bernardino County supervisors to fill the Second District seat left vacant by Daniel Mikesell.

"He was not everyone's first choice," admitted Supervisors' Chairman Dennis Hansberger, who noted the 62-year-old Kamansky was picked only after weekend phone conversations with two other supervisors.

Only three supervisors — Robert Townsend of Chino, James Mayfield, and Hansberger — voted on the Kamansky selection, which by county charter had to be made within 30 days of Mikesell's resignation on Sept. 28. If the choice had not been made within the time period, supervisors would have given up the right to Gov. Brown.

Supervisor Nancy Smith attended Monday's session but declined to vote because she had been ill during interviews conducted for 29 original applicants.

Kamansky's choice surprised many observers. Although he was among six finalists for the post announced last week, others felt either Upland Councilman John McCarthy or former Ontario Councilman Gus Ramos would be selected.

"It was a shocker to me," said State Sen. Ruben Ayala (a former county supervisor), who reportedly was supporting Ramos. "I thought it was between Gus and McCarthy. I guess they were going for someone in the same field as Mikesell." (Mikesell is a former realtor.)

Three other finalists were John Bratta, Alta Loma teacher who led the recall drive against Mikesell; Ann Ivey, director of nursing for the county health department; and Dennis Stout of Alta Loma, an employe with the county mental health department.

Hansberger made it clear there had been a board split over the final choice. He told reporters after Kamansky was picked that, "Sure he's a compromise. Everyone is a compromise."

Earlier he noted that, "I could get two votes for any of three candidates." (Three votes were needed to provide a board majority to make the selection.)

Townsend, who said "Each supervisor favored someone else," admitted later his final three choices were Kamansky, Ramos and McCarthy, not necessarily in that order.

However, he said Kamansky had one unique characteristic, being from the "private sector." And Hansberger said he was impressed by Kamansky's "independence of thought."

During the public session, the vote took only a few minutes. Townsend moved to pick Kamansky, Mayfield seconded it and Hansberger made the vote unanimous.

Members of the audience shook their heads in disbelief. One newspaper had even indicated in strong terms that McCarthy would be chosen.

"I'm sorry Mikesell had to leave," said Mayfield after the vote. "It's too bad we had to make this decision and I'm sorry he left, with his health deteriorated. I don't even know if they (Mikesell and Kamansky) know each other."

Some of the audience groaned after Mayfield's last statement, and Kamansky said in an interview later that Mikesell and he were "good friends."

Ramos told newsmen that, "I think we all were expecting a different appointment."

McCarthy felt that "Possibly this was their way of compromising." He added that he had a feeling of relief rather than disappointment about the selection.

Bratta, who attended along with others involved recently in the Mikesell recall movement, said, "This real estate thing leaves me a little shaky. I don't see the supervisors making a selection representing the greatest number of people. The board went with their traditional values — maybe we should be thinking of another recall."

Kamansky, who will complete the two years left in Mikesell's unexpired term which runs until December, 1978, said he was "surprised" at his selection. "I was the only one from private industry in the final six."

He told reporters that he plans to sever all real estate ties before joining the Board of Supervisors. "I feel well qualified to take this job."

A moderate Republican, Kamansky noted that he favors growth if it's properly handled "with good planning and zoning." He said the Alta Loma-Cucamonga-Etiwanda area will continue to expand.

In 35th District, it's Brutocao vs. Lloyd

Covina businessman stresses employment

By PHYLLIS CANNON
Asst. City Editor

Full employment, to be achieved by recognizing the importance of the independent businessmen "who are the backbone of this country," is the major concern of Covina businessman Louis Brutocao, the Republican candidate in the 35th Congressional District race.

"To provide small businessmen with the money needed to build a foundation for their firms, the federal government must operate with a balanced budget," said Brutocao.

"If the Treasury Department quits soaking private investors to finance the national debt, that money will be unleashed to invest in jobs in the private sector.

"To encourage competition and new business activity, the federal government must curtail its regulatory fervor.

"By eliminating counterproductive and redundant regulatory functions, the federal government can take a big load off the backs of small businessmen, enabling them to concentrate more of their resources in their businesses."

Brutocao, a naturalized citizen who came to this country in 1951 from Canada, said that "Realistic expansion and business incentives must be incorporated into the business tax schedule. Each time a business expands, it is creating new jobs and stimulating the economy. This activity should be rewarded with fair investment tax incentives.

"Government job programs are terribly wasteful," the candidate said. "The recent $3.9 billion jobs bill passed by Congress over President Ford's veto is nothing more than a simpleminded 'band-aid' solution to a very deep-seated problem.

"The challenge before us," said Brutocao, "is to create permanent jobs which offer a solid future for our unemployed."

Brutocao said there is nothing more cruel than giving an unemployed person a job that evaporates when funding is cut off.

"That $3.9 billion would have been much better spent had it been funneled into the private sector. I would use that money to give businesses a $3,600 tax credit for each person they hire from the ranks of the unemployed," he said.

Brutocao, father of seven, worked as a machinist and a toolmaker before coming to Covina, where he became involved in egg ranching, land development, construction and operation of recreation facilities. In 1955, he and his brothers opened Covina Bowl.

Brutocao was elected to the Covina City Council in 1971 and became mayor in 1973. He held that position until last February.

He has served on the District Attorney's Advisory Council, the League of California Cities, the East Gabriel Valley Planning Commission and the San Gabriel Valley Farm Bureau.

LOUIS BRUTOCAO

Incumbent is seeking second term in office

Satisfactions of accomplishment and of being of service to people in the district and the country, as well as personal "thrills," have highlighted the first term of Rep. Jim Lloyd, D-35th Dist., now campaigning for a second term.

"The congressional reorganization, which included creating a responsibility on the part of the chairman to an awareness of new members is a highlight," said Lloyd.

"Another was bringing about a new budgetary process whereby Congress looks at what has to be spent, where the money comes from, and attempts to set limits on what is to be spent, instead of leaving decisions to the president. Congress now has to listen to its own voice.

"I think House reform, the new openness in government, is a far better situation today than in the past.

"My relationships in the Congress are important to me. I'm extremely pleased with my committee roles.

"As a member of the Armed Services Committee I've had a strong voice and been able to voice opinions on weapons systems. I helped secure passage of the Navy's F-18 fighter appropriation and was a staunch supporter of the B-1 bomber appropriation.

"As a member of the Committee on Science and Technology, I have taken interest in legislation assisting the development and application of alternate energy sources, especially geothermal and solar.

"I supported legislation amending the Internal Revenue Code, allowing tax credit for taxpayers improvements in the thermal design of homes.

"I'm proud of my efforts in converting the American system of weights and measurements to the metric system and also in liberalizing the eligibility requirements for federal programs designed to help the aged and disabled."

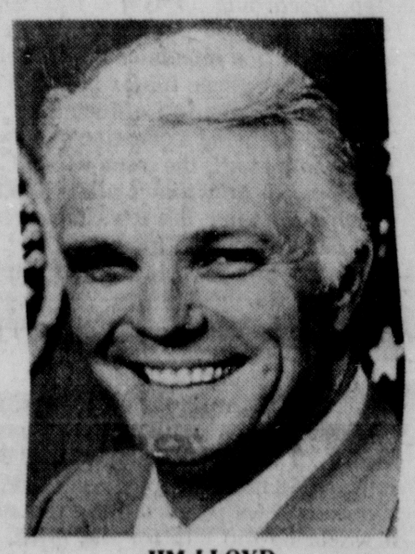
Through his efforts, Lloyd points out, a Chino truck plant was reopened, the Cucamonga channel program was funded two years running, and President Ford signed his bill for a two-year study on forming a 52,000-acre Sheep Mountain Wilderness area in the district.

The biggest thrills for Lloyd, he said, were hearing his first speech in Congress and secondly, listening as the President delivered his State of the Union address.

"Next I'd list the friendships I've been able to make on both sides of the aisle in the House. I've experienced great friendships with men of great stature.

"The most gratifying thing I've been able to do is give people in the district representation, in many instances, on a one-to-one basis, been able to intervene for people who needed help. My wife, Jackie, works with me all the time in this and never gets a penny in return."

Lloyd, former West Covina mayor and councilman, estimates he will spend half the amount of money on this campaign his opponent will spend.



JIM LLOYD

Local cities reap $65 million share

Estimated allocations of $65 million in federal revenue sharing funds will be distributed to cities in the 35th Congressional District during the next four fiscal years, Rep. Jim Lloyd, D-35th Dist., announced today.

Funding is assured, Lloyd said, under an extension of revenue sharing for 3¾ years that was approved by Congress and signed by President Ford.

During the four-year period, Pomona is due to receive the largest amount, nearly $6 million, compared to Walnut, the smallest beneficiary, with an estimated $166,404.

Annual estimates by city are:

Fiscal 1977: Pomona, $1,169,107; Ontario, $505,391; West Covina, $348,230; Montclair, $290,524; Chino, $283,486; Covina, $234,394; Upland, $166,383; Claremont, $104,454; San Dimas, $96,638; La Verne, $74,414; and Walnut, $32,499.

Fiscal 1978: Pomona, $1,605,691; Ontario, $694,121; West Covina, $478,271; Montclair, $399,016; Chino, $389,349; Covina, $321,925; Upland, $228,516; Claremont, $143,460; San Dimas, $132,725; La Verne, $102,203; and Walnut, $44,635.

Fiscal 1979: For all cities, the same as fiscal 1978.

Fiscal 1980: For all cities, the same as fiscal 1979.

Where to go to get free swine flu shots

Free swine flu shots will be given to persons 60 years old or older and to chronically ill adults over 18 during clinics scheduled Wednesday at the following valley locations:

—Taylor Hall, 1717 N. Indian Hill Blvd., Claremont, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

—First Christian Church, 1751 N. Park Ave., Pomona, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

—West End Health Center, 1020 W. Sixth St., Ontario, from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

—County building, 13260 Central Ave., Chino, 8 a.m. to noon.

Additional clinics are scheduled in the valley on Friday for senior citizens.

Individuals not in the high-risk category will be eligible for the free immunization program starting Nov. 1.

Hahn asks for review of Schools Superintendent

A total review of the work of the Los Angeles County Superintendent of Schools was asked today by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn in Los Angeles.

Hahn told the rest of the Board of Supervisors that he thinks county taxpayers are paying too much for the services rendered by that agency.

He says much of the work done by the county superintendent can be undertaken by local school districts, and be financed by local school taxes rather than countywide levies.

He said that since 1971 the budget of the county superintendent's office and the County Board of Education has risen 318 per cent and the number of employes has gone up 118 per cent.

"This is more than any department of the county, except the small senior citizens affairs unit," he declared. "Although the Board of Supervisors appoints members of the Board of Education, that group has independent responsibility for the county school system."

Hahn asked the supervisors for a complete evaluation of the county superintendent and his responsibilities.

Lost Chord Club meets

The San Gabriel-Pomona Valley Lost chord Club will hold its monthly meeting in the small conference room on the main floor of the Queen of the Valley Hospital in West Covina, today at 7 p.m.

The newly elected officers of the club will be introduced.

Claremont School of Theology names its new president

The Rev. Richard W. Cain, 50, of Phoenix, Ariz., has been named president of the School of Theology at Claremont, effective July 1, 1977.

He will succeed Gordon F. Michalson, president since 1968, who reached mandatory retirement age this year.

The announcement was made by board chairman Lawrence T. Cooper and Bishop Charles F. Golden, bishop of the Los Angeles area of the United Methodist Church, after a vote by the school's board of trustees at a meeting in Pomona.

Mr. Cain is pastor of the First Methodist Church in Phoenix and is a member of the board of the Claremont school he will head.

From 1962 to 1968, he was Methodist district superintendent for Los Angeles and in 1967 he received the Churchman of the Year award from the Los Angeles Council of Churches.

Mr. Cain was graduated from USC in 1949 and took his theological education at Boston University.

The University of the Pacific granted him an honorary doctorate of divinity degree in 1963.

He served with the Army Air Force in World War II.

More than 3,000 walked

Some valley residents are still rubbing sore feat they acquired while walking to relieve hunger pains for others.

More than 3,000 persons and at least two goats participated Sunday in the "Walk for Hunger," sponsored by the Pomona Valley Council of Churches.

Sponsors reported volunteers walked 21,654 miles to raise some $50,000. And, they added, that donation figure may go higher.

Volunteers for the walk were promised donations to the hunger cause on the basis of miles they walked.

PHCC meets

Executive board members of the Puente Hills Communities Coalition (PHCC) will meet tonight at 7:30 at Security Pacific Bank in Rowland Heights.

Chairman Ted W. Staley said the agenda includes a discussion of the proposed development of 450 acres in the South Diamond Bar hills.

Board recommendations for candidates for 1977 PHCC officers will be received.

Balancing the auto pollution

It would be nice to be able to believe, as some people do, that all our problems are reducible to the simple terms of the good guys vs. the bad guys. It would save so much wear and tear on the reasoning faculties.

The question of automobile exhaust pollution and what to do about it is a case in point.

According to columnist Jack Anderson, White House aides maneuvered behind the scenes during the rush to adjourn Congress to save the automobile industry the cost of complying with a tough clean air law.

White House pressure on a few key congressmen and senators stalled the legislation which would, says Anderson, "have compelled auto manufacturers to modify their exhaust systems to keep dangerous poisons out of the atmosphere."

That's one extreme. Here's the other:

Unless the new Congress revises vehicle exhaust emission standards next year, it may force the industry to cancel its 1978 model production, warns Richard L. Terrell, vice chairman of General Motors, in a recent release to the press.

As usual, the truth must lie somewhere inbetween, and in this case it would seem to be closer to the side of the "bad guys."

It is inconceivable that Congress would permit such a vital part of the economy as the automobile industry to shut down. But it is a gross distortion of the facts to imply, as Anderson does, that the industry is entirely unregulated and is blithely building cars that are pouring dangerous poisons to the atmosphere.

Few industries are more intensely regulated. Since the mid-1960s, exhaust emission standards have been steadily tightened and have now reached the point where, compared to the car of a decade ago, according to GM's figures, they represent reductions of 90 per cent of hydrocarbons, 83 per cent of carbon monoxide and 38 per cent of nitrogen oxide — the three major pollutants. The standards are even tighter in California.

Far from being a question of a tough clean air law vs. no law at all, the issue which Congress failed to settle (with or without alleged White House pressure) is whether the law already on the books for 1978 cars should be modified.

Again, GM's Terrell: The requirements still in effect for 1978 models are "so close to zero emissions" that present catalytic converter systems can't meet them.

"In spite of our best efforts and the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars, we have not yet developed this technology (to meet the 1978 standards) . . . We will keep trying, but time has run out for 1978 models; for those models, 1978 is today, and even if we perfected the technology right now, it would be too late for the 1978s.

Another law may also be coming into play — the law of diminishing returns.

According to Terrell, the level of emissions coming out of a new car's tailpipe is so small that further reductions as called for by the 1978 standards would have little effect.

But those standards would impose a significant fuel economy penalty, he says, wasting billions of gallons of gasoline in direct conflict with the automotive fuel economy standards enacted by the same Congress.

They would also waste billions of dollars by adding unjustifiable costs which, Jack Anderson to the contrary, not the industry but the consumer would have to pay.

The reason GM opposed the 1978 standards in the final House-Senate conference committee bill, says Terrell, was because "they did not strike a reasonable balance between the need to conserve energy and minimize consumer costs and the need to achieve cleaner air."

But then, balance is a commodity that is increasingly hard to come by these days.

Thoughts

"Have I not commanded you? Be strong and of good courage; be not frightened, neither be dismayed; for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go." — Joshua 1:9.

"Have courage for the great sorrows of life and patience for the small ones; and when you have laboriously accomplished your daily task, go to sleep in peace. God is awake." — Victor Hugo, French novelist.

We intend that no one should blame us about this liberal gift which we are administering, for we aim at what is honorable not only in the Lord's sight but also in the sight of men. — IICor. 8:20,-21.

"You don't have to preach honesty to men with creative purpose. Let a human being throw the engines of his soul into the making of something, and the instinct of workmanship will take care of his honesty." — Walter Lippmann, American journalist.

"For every one will be salted with fire. Salt is good but if the salt has lost its saltiness, how will you season it? Have salt in yourselves, and be at peace with one another." — Mark 9:49,50.

"You must not lose faith in humanity. Humanity is an ocean; if a few drops of the ocean are dirty, the ocean does not become dirty." — Mohandas K. Gandhi, Spiritual leader of India.

Board excludes Mrs. Speiginer

Dear Editor:

The Pomona School Board's action on Tuesday, Oct. 12 to exclude Mrs. Gertha Speiginer from attending an Emergency School Aid Act (E.S.A.A.) Conference appears to be an unwarranted personal and vindictive action by the elected representatives of our community. The negative implications from such a decision are numerous, but the most dangerous is dividing the community along personal and racial lines.

Most everyone active in the Pomona community is aware of Mrs. Speiginer's role in the community as spokesman for the N.A.A.C.P. Mrs. Speiginer has at times been forced to take public positions from which many of us would shy away. It appears that three of our representatives on the school board lack that understanding and appear now to be using their authority to vindicate their egos from past political indiscretions by "punishing" Mrs. Speiginer.

Honest, sincere and active members of our community must be respected and protected from either institutional harassment or personal arbitrary vendettas made by elected officials in their public positions. The public must be aware and guard against this abuse of power.

Deceptive performance

Dear Editor:

The deceptive performance of our congressman, Jim Lloyd, in the 35th district is most disturbing.

His answers to my many, many letters on important issues differ from the way the Congressional Record shows he votes.

At the expense of the hard working taxpayers, he voted for $3.7 billion for foreign aid in 1975, $5 billion for foreign aid in 1976, $20 million additional for congressmen's operating expenses, just a few of the many extravagant expenditures.

Mr. Lloyd's interests are not for his constituents, but for Big Government.

CIA aids secret police

WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency not only has provided financial support to some of the world's most notorious secret police, but has condoned their operations within the United States.

Such brutal police agencies as South Korea's KCIA, Chile's DINA and Iran's SAVAK have terrorized exiles in this country. There is reason to believe that they have violated U.S. laws. The FBI has received reports that they have committed burglaries, attempted kidnappings and plotted murders.

An alarmed Rep. Donald Fraser, D.-Minn., has asked the CIA to divulge the details of its agreements with foreign intelligence agencies, which allow the spies to operate within each other's countries. The CIA has stubbornly refused to cooperate.

The CIA has good reason to be sensitive. Over the years, it has developed cozy relationships with some of the most repressive foreign intelligence agencies in the world.

South Korea's KCIA even took its name from our spy agency. We cited evidence over a year ago that KCIA agents were threatening, intimidating and abusing Korean exiles in this country. A Korean embassy spokesman then called the charges "groundless" and said the KCIA was not active in the United States.

But now, South Korean Ambassador Pyong-Choon Hahm has admitted that KCIA agents have used "goon psychology and tactics" against Korean residents in this country. They were acting on their own and are now being ordered back to Seoul, he said.

A year ago, we also reported that Chile's DINA "has hired thugs to track down and assassinate prominent exiles." Last month, a prominent Chilean exile, ex-Foreign Minister Orlando Letelier, was blown to pieces by a bomb that had been rigged beneath his car. DINA has been suspected of arranging the assassination.

But a strange thing has happened, the CIA, which is forbidden by statute from conducting investigations within the United States, has entered the case. Coincidentally, newspaper accounts, quoting "intelligence officials," have reported that Cuban, anti-Castro extremists were behind the Letelier killing.

This raises some questions. What business does the CIA have becoming involved in a domestic murder investigation? Is the CIA trying to solve the murder or to protect its undercover relationship with DINA? Has the CIA been planting stories in the press to divert suspicion away from DINA?

The Iranian secret police force, SAVAK, was actually organized by the CIA in 1956. The ties between the two agencies have always been close. One intelligence source, whose reliability had been tested, told us that SAVAK agents hound and harass Iranians in the United States, with the full knowledge and sometimes the assistance of the CIA.

Answerable only to the shah of Iran, SAVAK has become one of the most feared secret police agencies in the world. It uses terror and torture to achieve its ends. Experts say that SAVAK has tighter control over the people of Iran than the KGB exercises over Soviet citizens.

Assitant State Secretary Alfred Atherton has acknowledged that SAVAK agents are loose in the United States. They seek information, he explained cautiously, about "potential terrorists who may be among students who would return to Iran."

Our intelligence sources say SAVAK's U.S. operations are directed by Mansur Rafizadeh, who poses as an Iranian attache' at the United Nations. He works out of secret apartment hideouts in New York City. He supervises scores, some say hundreds, of SAVAK agents in this country. A number of them work under diplomatic cover at the Iranian embassy in Washington.

The SAVAK agents devote most of their time, apparently, to spying on the students who oppose the shah's imperial rule. SAVAK informants have infiltrated student groups so completely that no one knows whom to trust. When the students demonsrate, SAVAK agents, posing as newsmen, snap their photographs. This is why most Iranian demonstrators wear masks.

We have documentary evidence that SAVAK agents also commit burglaries, forgeries and other crimes in behalf of the shah. Dr. Richard Cottam, a political science professor at the University of Pittsburgh, told our associate Joe Spear that a trusted State Department source had warned him that Iranian hit squads are on their way to the United States.

"I was told by someone I completely trust," alleged the professor, "that SAVAK had made the decision to send assassination squads into Europe and the United States. The guess within the government is that any executions will be disguised as muggings. The obvious targets would be Iranian dissidents."

Cottam immediately notified Reza Baraheni, an Iranian poet, who was once mercilessly tortured by SAVAK and now resides in the United States. Baraheni asked Attorney General Edward Levi for a "thorough investigation" and "guarantees for the security" of prominent Iranian dissidents. Levi did not respond.

If silent majority doesn't vote

The preoccupation of the candidates this election is with voter blocs.

Jimmy Carter made this system work when he was elected governor of Georgia. He sought and won the black vote. Separately he went after educators. He courted labor. He courted business. He courted the unemployed and the aged and the young. And he got the votes of enough of each.

He expects to do that again.

Listen carefully: The President is in trouble with ethnic voters. Millions of Americans of Eastern European heritage are angry that he has not taken a tougher stand on communism in their homeland.

Though that sounds like today's news, it is not. It is 30-year-old news. It refers to then-President Truman. He was said to be "in trouble with the Poles" because of his predecessor's Yalta retreat.

Then-Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan predicted that the Polish vote would cost Truman the election.

It didn't.

When the chips are down and the Poles went to the polls — they let their pocketbooks do the voting.

The ethnics supported Nixon in "72."

President Ford and challenger Carter have been competing vigorously for the Jewish vote, the Catholic vote, the Polish-Lithuanian-Hungarian-Czechoslovakian vote and the Spanish vote.

Carter campaigns hardest where the computers say he should. The computers dispassionately recognize the significance of the foreign-born or "foreign-roots" vote in the big cities in the big states where the electoral votes come in big bunches.

So I suppose it's understandable if the campaigners pay less attention to the scattered votes of 3 million farmers.

The Carter campaign has separate functionaries concentrating on going after the votes of American Indians and Asian-Americans and Spanish-Americans. There is a separate "desk," as these departments are called, for courting conservationists, blacks, women.

Ford campaigners are similarly interested, if less methodical, in giving attention to the fragmented ethnic and special-interest factions.

Carter, who speaks Spanish, expects to do well among our nation's 6 million Hispanics of voting age.

All of this flattery and flirting and promising more consideration and more goodies for minorities . . . all of this leaves the American majority wondering, "Doesn't anybody care about us?"

One paragraph in a letter from Blue Springs, Mo., says, "We middle-class, wage-earning, tax-paying workers are having a struggle. . We are doing without in order to buy food for the lazy and Cadillacs for the pimps and the punks. No one asked us if we want to or if we can afford to. We are just ordered to! But we intend to stay honest. If we die poor we will never eat out of another man's pocket!" Endquote.

But if that unhappy woman decides not to vote at all, she may yield control of her country to some who have not bothered to learn the language of her country.

Doc Peirsol

Just in jest

Since people spend at least a third of their lives in bed, it is not surprising that manufacturers are making the most of this opportunity to cater to human needs. Their efforts have resulted in twin beds, king size beds, queen size beds, good old fashioned double beds, hide-a-beds, contour beds, oval beds, electric vibrating beds, motorized self adjusting beds and water beds, to name but a few of their more outstanding designs in bedroom furniture.

So one would naturally think that where beds are concerned there is little left to be accomplished. But that would be doing the ingenious promoters of bedroom comfort a definite injustice. Maybe in bed design they have reached certain limits, but that's just for the stripped down models. When it comes to optional extras there's simply no stopping them. One enterprising firm is now even offering breakfasts in bed for $7 single or $10 double.

Hospital shakeup

By EARL G. WATERS

Charges by Ventura County's district attorney that 100 deaths at the Camarillo State Hospital during the past three years were the result of criminal negligence or worse now appear to have been highly exaggerated with attention now focused on only six deaths. Still the suggestion that patients at state hospitals are being mistreated has sparked investigations by the Department of Health.

The action serves to remind that the danger of abuse of those unfortunates who become hospitalized for mental illness by crass employes is ever present and that the administrators must be on constant guard. For regardless of the fact that most of the 17,000 employes of state hospitals are dedicated people there are always those few who shouldn't have been hired and others who become insensitive, unsympathetic or just downright sadistic after employment. This extends to all levels including the administrators and doctors as well as nurses and other workers.

The problem is a recurring one and surfaces periodically. The present trouble centering at Camarillo and Norwalk Metropolitan hospitals, recall the most explosive scandal of all time which occurred some 20 years ago and led to substantial reforms both in institutional management and in treatment of the mentally ill. That erupted at Modesto State Hospital, since closed, when a superior court judge reported that shocking conditions existed there. His knowledge came from testimony given during the trial of a hospital aide in connection with the death of a patient. He forwarded a lengthy report to Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, then attorney general who promptly made it public.

It provoked a major legislative investigation headed by Sen. Alan Short. He received full cooperation from Brown as well as the Stanislaus sheriff and district attorney. Despite attempts by the state mental hygiene department, then in charge of all state hospitals, to cover up their derelictions the Short committee found widespread abuses.

There had been an abdication by the hospital management and a takeover by a group of lower echelon workers. They were not only running things to suit themselves but had so intimidated the decent employes, by far in the majority, that they feared for their lives and remained silent about the misconduct. So calloused had the doctors and top management became that they accepted without protest a directive ordering patients who appeared to be dying during the night to be shunted aside. Doctors were not to be bothered and calls should await morning.

At the time the hospitals were horrendously overcrowded with more than 40,000 patients. They were jammed into the wards like sardines and the overflow were bedded impromptu in drafty hallways. The hospital was understaffed and almost anyone willing to work for the low pay was hired. As a result the Short committee found employes with criminal records for armed robbery and other aggressive offenses. It also found that the system was so bad that workers fired at one hospital for patient abuse had no trouble being rehired at another.

The Short committee findings compelled many changes including the utilization of wonder drugs which rehabiliated patients who had been confined in what Short termed "human warehouses" for many years. He also instituted the community mental health clinics which avoid long term hospitalization for most mentally ill. The reforms have served to reduce the numbers to some 16,000 and overcrowding is no longer a factor.

Although the trauma of the friends and relatives of the patients and the employes must suffer as a result of the charges now being made is unfortunate, the investigations being made are bound to be beneficial in leading to further improvements in the overall programs. If nothing more, Ray Procunier, department official in charge of the probes, has made it clear he intends to rid the institutions of "roughnecks."

Ann Landers

Parents urged to visit schools

Dear Ann: May I say a word to parents who are interested in "back to basics" in education? I too have spent many years in touch, first as a public school teacher, next as a parent to five sons, then as a university teacher-of-teachers.

Your correspondent suggests that parents attend local school board meetings. Better yet, I would urge them to visit the classrooms of their children. Sit in for half a day, once a month if you can, but surely once a year.

You DO have time. You MUST have time. If you haven't, what are you doing pretending you are parents?

Plutarch wrote: "Such fathers as commit their sons to tutors and teachers and themselves never witness or overhear their instructions deserve rebuke, for they fall far short of their obligation. They ought themselves to undertake examination of their children and not place their trust in the disposition of a wage earner; even the latter will bestow greater care on the children if they know that they will periodically be called to account. Here the witty saying of the hostler is apt: 'Nothing fattens the horse so much as the king's eye.' " — Basic Parent

Dear Basic: How good of you to bring the wisdom of Plutarch to my readers. That superb quote points up how little human nature has changed since 120 A.D.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you advised a woman who hated cigaret smoke to remove the ash trays. It doesn't work, so please don't suggest it any more.

Last night my husband's brother asked, "What have you done with the ash trays?" I replied, "I put them away because I don't like smoke in the house." He laughed and said, "What are you? Some kind of nut?" With that he lit a cigaret and put the ashes in his pants cuff. He doused the butt in his drink and left if floating in the glass.

This morning a neighbor lit a cigaret. Seeing no ash tray she said, "So you've put them away — well, THIS will do." She took one of my African violets from the window sill and flicked the ashes in the pot. When she finished her cigaret she ground it out in the soil and asid, "This will help it grow."

Tonight my husband's boss was here. He lit a cigaret and asked for an ash tray. I told him I had put the ash trays away to discourage smokers. His response was, "It'll never work." He then proceeded to drop his ashes on the carpet and said nonchalantly, "This will keep the moths out."

Thought you'd like to know how your advice worked for me. — No Go In San Leandro

Dear San: You certainly have some odd-ball traffic in your home, lady. Keep the ash trays handy and put them out when you sense the need.

Dear Ann Landers: How does one tell an intelligent but sensitive man that his interminable, detailed stories are boring to the point where soon no one will want to be around him? He speaks slowly, pauses so often people become tired of his droning and start another conversation. The storyteller continues undaunted.

Perhaps if you print this letter he will recognize himself and improve his delivery, or at least cut it short. — Weary A Listenin'

Dear Weary: Never. Those egocentric types are convinced the whole world hangs on their every word. Even TELLING them does no good. They are utterly hopeless.

How archers track arrows

Any bow hunters will tell you that arrows can get pretty expensive. So some such archers have taken to dipping the fletching on their arrows into a game bird training scent, like quail maybe or pheasant. At day's end, they send out their bird dogs to retrieve those arrows. Pretty nifty.

Most everybody has seen that lady who plays the part of Aunt Bluebell on the Scott towels TV commercials. But only a Seasoned Citizen might realize that she's the one and only Mae Questel who did the voice so many years ago of the cartoon character Betty Boop. Mae also vocalized for "Little Lulu," "Olive Oyl" and some of the characters in "Casper, the Friendly Ghost."

HOSPITAL STAY

Q. "Among those patients admitted to hospitals, how long do they stay there on the average?"

A. Depends on their whereabouts. In New York, 9.8 days; in Alaska, 4.7 days. Nationwide, 7.8 days.

Q. "Isn't Jane Fonda now the highest paid female movie star?"

A. Second to highest. Barbra Streisand still ranks No. 1 at about $1 million per picture. Jane gets almost $1 million, though. Highest paid male star, Charles Bronson, receives $1.3 million per film.

You say you don't recall the official flowers of Mothers Day? Carnations. Incidentally, that fine holiday really has spread. It's now recognized also in Austria, Canada, Mexico, Japan, the West Indies, numerous places in Africa and across most of Central and South America.

LOVE AND WAR

The love and war experts in West Germany say it's right after three years of marriage that the typical couple is most likely to be threatened with divorce. Three years, they think, is how long it takes ot acquire most material comforts, after which time the husband and wife start finding fault with each other. Maybe there's something to it. Business partnerships, it's said, usually hold together fairly well while the partners are operating in the red, but oftentimes start to come apart as soon as they get into the black.

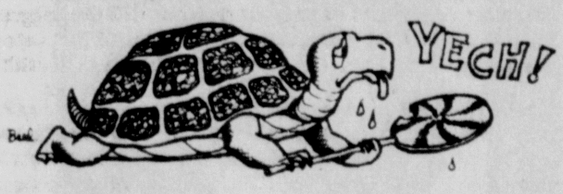
Argument continues over the origin of that mixed drink known as the martini, but there's little debate as to just what made it so popular. The bathtub gin of the Prohibition Era was not always as smooth as it might have been. A touch of dry vermouth was just the sauce to blunt its cutting edge.

Although the Scottish "Mac" before a surname meant "son of," the Irish "O" before a surname originally meant "grandson of."

The law of Reed City, Mich., prohibits a citizen there from owning both a cat and a bird at the same time.

Dr. Miller

Turtles don't like sweets



DEAR DR. MILLER: My sister tries to feed Timothy, her turtle, candy. I told her it's a dumb thing to do, but she never believes me anyway. Mother said feeding candy to Timothy could cause diabetes. Can you give us some other good reasons for not doing this? — K.K.

Dear K.K. — It's unlikely Timothy has a sweet tooth (or any other kind for that matter). You'd probably find, on close investigation, that he's actually snubbing the sweets, anyway. While turtles can, on rare occasions, develop diabetes, candy-eating wouldn't be the cause. Of more concern here would be what Timothy is actually eating, if anyghing. He'd better be checked out thoroughly to be sure he is actually consuming—not just playing with — the food he's being offered. Food for tuttles may range from dog food to lettuce to worms. In fact, if they were tempting to Timmy, all three would be desirable.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I'm seriously considering picking out one of the biggest breeds, like St. Bernards and Great Danes and going into the business. Is there any secret to raising expensive puppies? — K.A.

Dear K.A. — Raising expensive puppies is a cinch. To raise a litter of giant breed puppies, you can definitely count on it costing you plenty by the time your total costs involved in the breeding stock and the housing, feeding, veterinary bills, your time and miscellaneous expenses. The food bill alone, particularly if a litter lingers long after weaning, becomes astronomical on a daily basis. The costs of such an enterprise, and the unforeseen problems certain to arise, have caused many a would-be commercial dog breeder to consider the whole project a big mistake or at least to look at it realistically as an expensive hobby. It's very easy to raise expensive puppies. The hard part is selling them for a high price or, dreams aside, for even enough to make expenses.

TOASTY TIMES INDOORS

—tend to result in low humidity. As a consequence, during the winter months mucous membranes, skin, hair coat and feathers of species inhabiting furnace-heated homes tend to become increasingly dry. A humidifying system, simple or complex, is the most effective way to solve the undesirable "dry air" syndrome. Advantages may range from increased resistance to respiratory disease due to improved health of the mucous membranes, to considerably less dandruff and shedding.

Erma Bombeck

And now it's skateboarding

My son never fails to amaze me. At age 21, he has come up with a new way to break his neck. It's called a skateboard.

Frankly, I'm tired. I've dedicated my entire life to keeping that kid whole and at a time of my life when I should be eating chocolate sandwiches and getting up at the crack of noon, I'm a bundle of nerves.

It started with the two-wheel bicycle. As I ran along beside him, clutching his sweater with one hand and the bicycle seat with the other, I yelled, "You could kill yourself on this thing." Sure enough, my housecoat caught in the spokes and I almost made a wheel out of myself.

The pogo stick was worse. As he sprung about the house, his head inches from the ceiling, I tried to shield him from falling into a lamp and he lost his balance . . . pinning me between the floor and his body, causing me severe pain.

When he wanted a horse, I tried to warn him that I just wasn't up to it, but did he listen? He did not. As I led the beast around by the reins, I was repaid for my vigilance by being stomped on by a 1500-pound horse.

"We are not going out for football," I told him the summer of his 15th year. "What do you mean what has that got to do with me? I'm your mother. If you want to kill your mother, I can't stop you, but every Mother's Day . . . mark my word . . . you're going to feel just terrible." (I carry with me today a trick knee suffered when I ran onto the playing field with an extra mouthpiece to protect $1500 worth of braces.)

It never ended. He jumped off the high board at the pool just to give me stomach cramps and just when I thought I had myself under control, he came home with his learner's permit to drive. (The only boy I know who was given a ticket for going 25 mph . . . in reverse.)

I thought all of it was behind me until the other night when he was leaving the house with his little board with the wheels under his arm.

"Where are you going?" I asked.

"Trying to find an empty swimming pool, a hill, or a paved ditch. Then I am going to balance myself on this little board up the side of it until I fall off."

I climbed on the skateboard, clutched him around the waist and closed my eyes. "Why don't you like your mother?" I whimpered.

Dr. Lamb

Cancer risks to uncircumcised

DEAR DR. LAMB — I know there is a higher incidence of cancer of the penis in uncircumcised males. I would like to know if it is possible for adult males to be circumcised and what the operation would entail. Is the operation painful for very long after it is performed? Can most doctors do it or does it require a surgeon? Can it be done in the office or must it be done in the hospital? Would you recommend that uncircumcised adults be circumcised?

DEAR READER — Yes, the danger of cancer of the penis is greater in uncircumcised males. In a study from the Cancer Research Unit at the South African Institute for Medical Reserach in Johannesburg, investigators reported that a high number of Bantu men developed cancer of the penis, particularly in noncircumcised men. The highest incidence was in men who wore an artificial prepuce cover, a practice common among the native Bantu.

This same report confirmed what other investigators had noticed about the relationship between cancer of the cervix in women and lack of circumcision of the man. In South Africa cancer of the cervix is the most common malignancy in black women. The Lesotho group have the highest rate of cancer of the cervix although 50 per cent of the men are circumcised. By contrast, in Natal where men are not circumcised the rate of cancer of the cervix is quite low. In plain English, circumcision of the male is not a major factor in causing cancer of the cervix in women regardless of what misinformation you may have read to the contrary.

Cancer of the penis is fairly uncommon in our society. When it occurs it is almost always in an uncircumcised male. However, that does not mean circumcision is necessary. The key to preventing the cancer is cleanliness. That may be dependent upon the individual's anatomy and how easily he can do this. If the individual is able and willing to do this regularly there is little likelihood that cancer of the penis can develop.

As I have mentioned before, with age, drying and constriction of the skin may make it difficult to keep clean. And occasionally the skin gets caught in the retracted position, creating real and sometimes immediate problems that require prompt medical attention.

The operation can be done easily in most adult males. It is not particuarly painful. After all, despite its location it is just a skin incision. If a complete circumcision is done in an adult the period of recovery is usually limited to the short time it takes a simple skin incision to heal. The newly exposed tip, however, is quite sensitive, not painful but sensitive, somewhat analogous to the tender feet a person may have when first going barefoot.

I don't think it is necessary for every adult to have a circumcision. It depends upon the anatomical situation and the individual's hygienic habits. It is a personal decision. In most cases I regard this about like long or short hair. If you want to have it long, keep it clean. If you are not willing to make the effort, cut it short.

What people say

"Britain does not like her writers very much . . . A man who sails around the world gets a knighthood and all poor Evelyn Waugh ever wanted was a knighthood. Of course, he never got one. All Muriel Spark was given was the O.B.E. (Order of the British Empire), which is what Mary Quant got for inventing the miniskirt."

For Wednesday, Oct. 27

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Unexpected benefits could fall into your lap today. You'll reap the harvest, but be sure to share it with your partners.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Avoid working with tools or doing manual labor if possible today. Success comes in areas shared on an intellectual plane.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Keep your thoughts off fun and games today and do a good job. There could be dividends you didn't anticipate.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't be dictatorial with the family today. A good time can be had by all, if you play things by ear.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Shun small talk and avoid repeating gossip today. In fact, stay close to home. This is where you can really triumph.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll be on the go today, engaged in impressive activities. Don't dabble in games of chance. They'll be costly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't make changes today, especially selfish ones. Good fortune is more likely to be found in tried and true areas.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be prepared for a flurry of activity today. You'll love it, so don't try to slip off by yourself and end up frustrated.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) More can be accomplished in secluded places where your insights and hunches can be put to work. Avoid bright lights and crowds.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The more the merrier for you today. Use your talents in behalf of others. Success grows with the number you help.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have excellent insight today. The rewards are yours provided you use your gifts responsibly.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Progressive people are attracted to you because of your enthusiasm today. You could become involved in unusual happenings.

Your Birthday, Oct. 27, 1976

This year should be a learning experience for you. Many short trips, new activities and people with a lot to say are in your future.

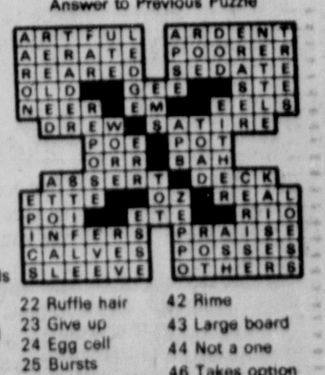
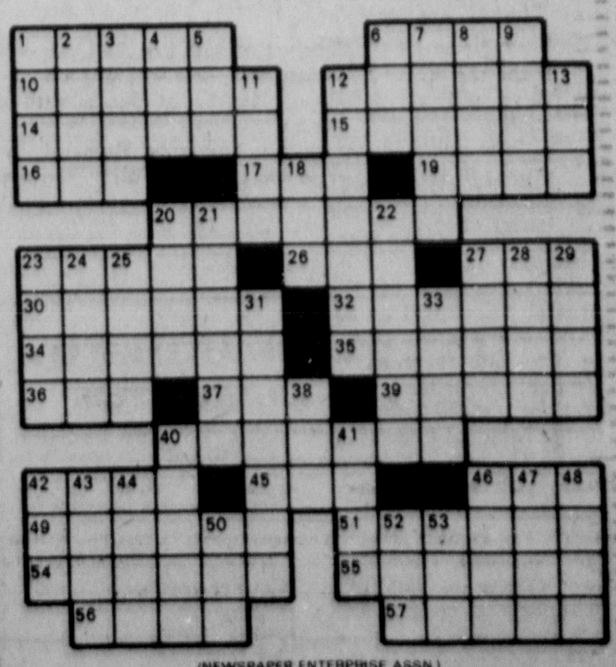
Answer to Previous Puzzle





(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Robert Schuller

Oh, that beautiful bell!

The second oldest college in America is William and Mary, in Williamsburg, Va. It is today one of our most prestigious institutions in higher learning.

However, in 1881 the far-reaching effects of the Civil War had created a financial catastrophe — and in this depression William & Mary closed its doors. It would have remained closed if it had not been for the undying faith of its president, Dr. Benjamin Ewell. Every morning he would rise and walk across the campus to ring the old college bell. It was all he could do — but it said, "I believe in tomorrow. I believe in tomorrow." And one day, the doors opened again!

Hang the beautiful bell of possibility thinking in your mind, and ring this bell of faith every day until you come to stand before God in that day in which there is no sunset and no dawning.

The Stayman convention in some form or other is used by at least 99 per cent of experts and at least 90 per cent of tournament players. In its basic form it accomplishes two objects. First, it allows partner of the opening notrump bidder to sign off at two diamonds, hearts or spades at a three clubs. Second, it makes it easy to find a 4-4 major suit fit after a notrump opening.

The two-club response to an opening notrump is artificial and forcing. It shows at least eight high-card points and promises a second bid. It also shows at least four cards in one major suit.

North has a minimum Stayman response and rebids two notrump over South's two spades. South has a maximum 18-point notrump. Since he knows that North holds four hearts (remember you don't respond Stayman unless you have at least four cards in one major) South jumps to the heart game.

There is nothing to the play. South wins the second trick with his king of diamonds, draws trumps, knocks out the ace of clubs and makes five odd.

Ask the Jacobys

Several readers have wanted to know what the notrump opener rebids over a Stayman response when he holds four cards in both majors.

More partnerships bid spades. The Jacobys do this except that if the hearts are much better they bid two hearts, not two spades.

Almanac

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 26, the 300th day of 1976. There are 66 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1825, the Erie Canal was opened, connecting the waters of Lake Erie and the Hudson River.

On this date —

In 1760, George III was crowned King of England.

In 1774, the First Continental Congress was adjourned in Philadelphia.

In 1905, Sweden recognized Norway's independence.

In 1917, Brazil declared war against Germany.

In 1942, a major Pacific War battle began in the Solomon Islands between Allied and Japanese forces. The U.S. aircraft carrier "Hornet" was sunk.

In 1959, the Soviets released the first pictures of the hidden side of the moon, taken by a Soviet spacecraft.

Ten years ago: Forty-three men died in a fire on the carrier "Oriskany" off South Vietnam in the U. S. Navy's worst accident of the Vietnam War.

Five years ago: Nineteen Cuban representatives flew to the United States despite an official U.S. ban on their entry.

One year ago: President Anwar Sadat of Egypt arrived in the United States with a bid for military and economic aid. He was the first Egyptian head of state to visit the U.S.

Today's birthdays: The Shah of Iran is 57. Republican Senator Edward Brooke of Massachusetts also is 57.

Thought for today: The years between 50 and 70 are the hardest. You are always being asked to do things and yet you are not decrepit enough to turn them down. — poet T. S. Eliot, 1888-1965.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago, Benjamin Franklin — accompanied by two grandsons — left Philadelphia for France.

FTC pays

Consumer units receiving funds

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Consumer groups are finding it less expensive to get their views across to federal agencies these days, with taxpayers picking up part of the tab for consumer participation in goverment rule making.

Legislation and federal rulings have authorized the agencies to provide grants to consumer organizations — and certain individuals — who testify on proposed rules and regulations and meet specific standards.

The Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act opened the way for the grants, by permitting the Federal Trade Commission to pay the expenses of some participants in agency hearings to establish trade regulations.

And the comptroller general has ruled that other federal agencies may do the same thing unless there is a law specificially prohibiting the practice.

Note: the ruling does not mean that the agency is required to pay costs for consumers; it simply means it has the right to do so if it chooses.

In order to qualify for public funds, the group or individual generally must represent a viewpoint that is necessary for a fair decision and would not otherwise be represented. The applicant must be unable to afford participation without government help.

The Federal Trade Commission already has issued grants totaling almost half a million dollars. The money is used for legal research, for travel and hotel expenses in connection with attending hearings and for staff and overhead costs associated with a particular issue before the FTC.

The emphasis is on consumer groups, but individuals are considered if they meet commission standards, particularly if they have a point of view that is not represented by any organization or industry.

By the beginning of September, the FTC's Bureau of Consumer Protection had received 54 requests for funds. The commission approved 31 requests from consumer groups and one from an individual — Joel M. Platt, who represented the interests of Illinois consumers concerning vocational schools. Fifteen of the requests were turned down and seven were pending.

The amounts of the grants, as detailed by the Office of Consumer Affairs of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, ranged from $528 to the National Council on Senior Citizens for use in connection with proposed regulations on the funeral industry to $91,020, given to the National Consumer Law Center to facilitate testimony on credit practices.

The list prepared by the Office of Consumer Affairs shows that several groups have received more than one grant. The senior citizens unit, for example, got four grants totaling almost $58,000 to help the group present its case in the areas of prescription drugs and funeral costs.

The office of the comptroller general originally ruled in a case involving the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. The policy was later expanded to other agencies, including the Consumer Product Safety Commission, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Power Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Agency fair

Pomona Coordinating Council will host an "agency fair" Tuesday at the First Christian Church in Pomona.

The event will be held from 12 to 2 p.m. and will provide the various community service agencies in town an opportunity to advise visitors of the types of services they have available, said Larry Rubin, coordinating council vice president.

Services provided by agencies include counseling, drug abuse programs, employment services, information and referral, and family services.

Persons interested in attending are asked to notify Phyllis Murphy at 623-6433.

POMONA VALLEY WOMEN

Progress Bulletin

OUR ANNUAL SALUTE TO THE VALLEY'S WOMEN ACHIEVERS

Jan Ellison

Mary Montes

Mary Carol Smith

Estelle Nesbit

Salute to women

Great interest in the community and dedication to improving conditions for the underprivileged are the tenets by which clubwomen are known in the valley. Others dedicate their efforts to education and concern for the young and the old.

Today the Progress Bulletin salutes four Woman Achievers along with thousands of valley clubwomen in the 15th annual edition of Valley Women for their great effort in helping their communities.

Winners of the awards are Jan Ellison, Pomona; Mary Montez, Pomona; Estelle Nesbit, Pomona; and Carol Smith, Claremont. Their stories are found on pages 7, 13, 15 and 17.

The staff of the Progress Bulletin is very grateful to the individuals who submitted nominations for the awards and who completed forms on the many organizations so their club stories could be told in this edition.

We regret omissions and request that organizations that did not return club blanks send their stories to the Family Editor so that the stories may be printed in the Family News columns during the coming year.

Thank you,
Mary Remillard, Family News Editor

Judges named

The five judges who read all of the nominations for Woman Achiever very carefully and evaluated the nomination blanks are to be congratulated for their great effort.

They are: Richard Gorow, manager of Montgomery Ward Store in Montclair; JoAnn Fitzgibbons, Upland fashion and beauty expert; H. Gordan Wells, manager of Pomona's main branch of Bank of America; Dr. Armen Sarafian, president of La Verne College; and Barbara De Voss, general manager of Montclair Plaza.

Clubs assist the youth of Pomona

Many women feel their energies are best devoted to the many needs of the young people of the community, and a variety of clubs help youth groups in many ways.

MT. SAN ANTONIO COUNCIL CAMP FIRE GIRLS provides opportunities for youth to realize their potential and to function effectively and seeks to improve those conditions in society which affect youth.

Miss Roberta Carrington, 1675 N. Berkley, Pomona, is president. Working with her serving the 10,581 members are Mrs. James De Lap, vice presdient; Lorraine Brannen, secretary; William Finch, treasurer; and Richard Lewis, publicity chairman.

Highlights of the year were a Bicentennial celebration, Buffalo Bat BQ, IGOR day camps and the council camping program.

Raising standards of home life and the securing adequate laws for care and protection of young people are among the goals of POMONA COUNCIL PTA. In addition, the council promotes closer ties between home and school.

Mrs. Robert Bugley, 1178 N. Cleveland, Pomona, is head of the council. Her slate includes Mrs. Joan Jandrall, secretary; and Mrs. Don Riggs, treasurer. Meetings are on the third Wednesday. There are 5,192 members.

YWCA OF GREATER POMONA VALLEY endeavors to bring together women and girls of diverse faiths and experiences opening their lives to new understanding.

Dr. Dolores Cross, 192 E. Radcliffe, Claremont, is president. Other officers are Imajean Thorne, first vice president; Ellen Lepp, second vice president; Kathleen Kerwin, secretary; Ruth Fasnacht, treasurer; and Evelyn Stewart and June Hyman, publicity chairman. There are 510 members. Meetings are on the third Thursday.

Last year the YWCA moved its headquarters to 1787 N. Garey Ave. A 15-passenger club van was purchased with the aid of the California Community Foundation and valley service clubs. The van will be used for all ages.

A new program for school children is starting this fall. It is known as Latch Key and refers to the house key tied to a string that youngsters wear around their necks to get into their homes after school. Children are taken by the new van to Palomares Center, a seniro citizens residence where a program of Buddy Grandma and Buddy Grandpa is developing.

Other highlights of the year included celebration of World Mutual Service with 83 countries and the Christmas bazaar luncheon and bake sale.

The youth department provides Y-teen clubs in junior and senior high schools in all 10 cities in the valley. Y-teens have a number of activities available.

A number of workshops helpful to women and a variety of classes were offered during the year and an exhibit of YWCA activities was on display in August at San Dimas City Hall.

POMONA DE MOLAY MOTHERS CLUB assists the advisory council of the Order of De Molay. The club serves refreshments and cares for De Molay members' robes.

Mrs. Walter Smith of Diamond Bar is president. Serving with her are Mrs. Joan Smith, vice president; Mrs. Robert Lillie, secretary; and Mrs. Jack Lowry, treasuer. Meetings are on the third Wednesday. Members number 25.

Highlights of the year include dinners, a rummage slae, Christmas for a needy family, and installations in March and September, followed by a reception and dance.

Mrs. Richard Kirkendall, 721 W. 7th St., Claremont is president of WOMEN'S SERVICE BOARD OF THE BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA, OLD BALDY COUNCIL.

Other officers are Mrs. James T. Johnson, vice president; Mrs. James Edwards, secretary; Mrs. Craig McManigal, treasurer; Mrs. Vincent F. Martin, publicity chairman; and Mrs. Donald R. Des Combes, parliamentarian. The 25 members meet on the fourth Tuesday.

The board was created to advance services to the boys in Old Baldy Council, Boy Scout troops.

Members collect outgrown uniforms and make them available to others through the uniform bank. They man a booth at the Scout-O-Rama. The Evening for Scouting and rummage sale profits helped to buy equipment that will benefit all boys in Old Baldy Council. Other highlights were the membership luncheon and installation luncheon.

SPANISH TRAILS GIRL SCOUT COUNCIL meets weekly and serves 19,708 girls through 4,486 adult volunteers.

Mrs. Sanford Newton, 1449 N. Gibbs St., Pomona, is president. Also on the slate are Mrs. Kenneth Nowels, Mrs. Larry Hansen and Mrs. Cory Aylor, vice presidents; Mrs. Joseph L. Arri, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Burkhalter, corresponding secretary; Hugh Crombie, treasuer; and Mrs. Richard Pilkington, publicity chairman.

Girls Scouts is one of the few national organizations chartered by Congress to serve youth. All girls 15 to 17 are welcome in local troops which involve girls in planning and learning to become well-rounded citizens.

During the last year, almost 15,000 scouts from the council joined in the Heritage Fair at the county fairgrounds to celebrate the country's birthday and the 65th anniversary of Girl Scouts.

Que Pasa focused on communications with Spanish surname families and brought leaders together to increase effotts to serve Chicano girls. Twenty-two senior scouts traveled to other states to participate in events, such as Women in Action in Washington, D.C., which was attended by Catherine Serpa and Lisa Conrad.

Auxiliary assists its union

The 21 members of the Carpenters Ladies Auxiliary 647, Pomona, meet the second Tuesday evening of each month under leadership of Mrs. George Reinhardt.

Assisting officers are Mrs. Ernest Escanuelas, vice president; Mrs. John Hulse, secretary; and Mrs. Carl Hietikko, treasurer and publicity chairman.

The club's purpose is to promote the economic, social and political objectives of local unions and councils of the brotherhood, to promote the patronage of the union labels and services and to create closer association between families of the union.

The auxiliary serves refreshments to the carpenters after their meetings, helped with the children's Christmas party, collected coupons for the City of Hope and Porterville State Hospital and donated money to the Penny for Pines state council of ladies auxiliaries and toward a state scholarship for a carpenter's son or daughter.

Social activities included a Christmas party, birthday dinners and a secret pal dinner. Projects of the ways and means committee were a white elephant sale, grocery basket sale, money tree and a bazaar at Montclair Plaza. The auxiliary selected two members, Mrs. Clyde Cable and Mrs. Reinhardt, to attend the state auxiliary convention in February in San Jose.

Shakespeare Club studies author's work

The Shakespeare Club of Pomona, organized in 1904, is dedicated to the study of Shakespeare's writings, life and times. Monthly meetings are devoted to speakers and book reviews of cultural interest. There are 60 members.

Mrs. Myron Powell, 731 Alamosa Dr., Claremont, is president. Other officers are Mrs. Harold K. Folsom, vice president; Mrs. E. Terence Keiser, secretary; Mrs. G. Alfred Lynn, treasurer; and Mrs. Don E. Wright, publicity chairman.

MRS. MYRON POWELL

Social club aids charities

Although the Our Times Club is social, the eight members this year made a cash donation to a charitable organization. They also sponsored a Thanksgiving meeting of Joy and Gladness, a Christmas party and a June potluck picnic.

President of the club, which meets on the second Saturday of each month, is Mrs. Pearl M. Toroian, 470 San Francisco Ave.

Mrs. Toroian's fellow officers are Mrs. Louva Oswalt, vice president and publicity chairman; Mrs. Mildred Wallace, secretary; and Mrs. Newton Keene, treasurer.

MRS. TOROIAN

Native Daughters

Mrs. Alphonse B. Fages, 1459 Old Settler's Lane, Pomona, is president of Rancho San Jose Parlor 307, Native Daughters of the Golden West.

The fraternal organization has a patriotic motive, preservation of California history and natural resources. The 92 members also are interested in child welfare.

During the past year, the group celebrated its silver anniversary, sponsored open house at the Phillips mansion, sold Children's Foundation calendars, assisted with Centennial and Bicentennial events, presented the city with a California flag and conducted numerous fund-raising events. Twenty-six new members were taken in which won a state prize for the group at the convention.

Other officers are Mrs. Betty Preston, vice president; Mrs. Louis Baiz, secretary' Mrs. Myrtle Pool, treasurer; and Mrs. Welford Turner, publicity chairman.

MRS. ALPHONSE FAGES

Daughters research history

Mrs. Jeanne Doty, 1745 Bridgeport Ave., Claremont, is president of the Daughters of the British Empire, which supports the British Old Folks Home in Sierra Madre.

Other officers are Mrs. John Harris, vice president; Mrs. William Radley, secretary; Mrs. Marc Boucher, treasurer; and Mrs. Carl Henry, publicity chairman.

The 15 members meet on the first Thursday of the month. Highlights during the past year were the June Faire at the Sierra Madre Home, a movie benefit at Cinerama Dome, a Christmas party and a summer luau.

Club is support group

Mrs. Thomas Sawyers, 714 Wellesley Dr., Claremont, is president of the Rembrandt Club, support group of the art departments of the Associated Colleges of Claremont.

The club specifically provides funds for the purchase of art works for the permanent collection of Pomona College and for student scholarships.

During the past year the club had an exhibit of oil sketches of Frederic Church in Montgomery Gallery, made a bus trip to Los Angeles County Museum of Art and sponsored a Bicentennial handcrafts exhibit in Montgomery Gallery.

Other officers are Mrs. Edward G. Jones, vice president; Mrs. Donald H. Pattison, secretary; Mrs. Jay T. Gerber, treasurer; and Mrs. Alex Baker, publicity chairman.

Moisturizer helps

Always make sure you use a moisturizer under and around your eyes. That's the dryest part of your face.

Sports interest women

Women who enjoy fishing in the Pacific Ocean make up the membership of more than 20 in the Pomona Valley Lady Anglers. The club meets on the second Tuesday of the month.

President is Mrs. Edith Braida, 221 W. 5th St., San Dimas. Others on the slate are Mrs. Lucy Anderson, vice president; Mrs. Wanda Howard, secretary; Mrs. Ada Christian, treasurer; and Mrs. Braida, publicity chairman.

The club encourages women to fish on the club charters and also on the many open boats available.

The social club made five charter trips out of San Diego last year. On the last one, 26 passengers caught 168 albacore. The Christmas party and trophy awards banquet are other highlights of the club year. The group marked its 25th anniversary in September 1975.

Color it right

Winter lip color this year runs to the raspberry, wine and deep plum shades.

Woman's Club aids civic organizations

Pomona Woman's Club is a cultural, civic and educational organization with the Crippled Children's Society as its project.

Mrs. Agnes McVaigh, 1650 N. San Antonio Ave., Pomona, president, is assisted by Mrs. Harry Grosdidier, vice president; Mrs. Edythe Sipple, secretary; Mrs. Edith Dean, treasurer; and Mrs. Leroy Rowse, publicity chairman.

The 18 members meet on the second Monday of the month. During the past season, the club had a Christmas program, a tour of San Bernardino County Museum, a picnic at the Palomares Adobe and a variety of programs.

Business women offer aid to others

Business and professional women's clubs offer opportunities to business and professional women to further their education through industrial, scientific and vocational activities. The clubs also elevate the standards of these women and encourage cooperation and better understanding among them.

Ms. Virginia Butler, 153 N. Verdugo, Glendora, is president of the BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUB OF POMONA. Mrs. Dorothy Smith and Ms. Marjorie Raymond are vice presidents; Mrs. Ada Malette, secretary; Mrs. Shirley Durant, treasurer; and Mrs. Betty J. Eagon, publicity chairman.

The 41 members meet on the third Tuesday. Highlights during the last year were election of Julia Arri as second vice president of the National Federation; completion of Mrs. Eagon's term as president of the California Federation; and selection of Marjorie Raymond as Woman of the Year.

The club sponsored the Camp Fire Girls ingathering tea, supported a project for the Junior Foundation for the Blind, and served on YMCA membership drives and the Girl Scout Council board of directors.

MONTCLAIR HEIGHTS BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUB meets on the second Thursday under the leadership of Mrs. William Carlson, 10165 Marion, Montclair.

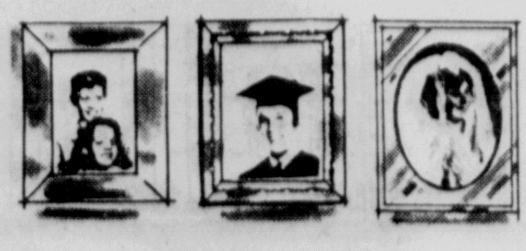
Other officers are Mrs. Betty Wicker, vice president; Mrs. Ben Mitchell, secretary; Mrs. William Grant, treasurer; and Mrs. Kathryn R. Wilson, publicity chairman.

During the year the club sent 10 Montclair High School students to a youth conference and sent one girl to Girls' State. Various money-raising projects permitted donations for a scholarship, dental work for a court ward, to the Avenue of Flags, to Linda Vista School and to BPW National Foundation. The eight members also gave many hours to City of Hope, Doctors Hospital, Suntown Convalescent Hospital, the American Cancer Society, Meals on Wheels, Long Beach Veterans Hospital and Family Counseling Service.

Mrs. Carson E. Hawk, 210 E. Gladstone St., San Dimas, is head of the LA VERNE-SAN DIMAS BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUB. Mrs. Avis Mills is president-elect; Mrs. Elizabeth L. Ross, vice president; Mrs. Elijah Williams, treasurer; and Mrs. Robert Wortman, publicity chairman.

During the season two Women of the Year were chosen: Mrs. Hawk and Mrs. Robert Garciduenas of La Verne. The club took birthday cakes to boys at Camp Glenn Rockey and had a display at San Dimas City Hall during National Business Women's Week. Charter members were special guests at celebration of the club's 20th anniversary in May.

A scholarship was presented to a Bonita High School girl. The president and treasurer attended the state convention in Beverly Hills.



Ten new members joined the POMONA VALLEY CHAPTER OF THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF WOMEN IN CONSTRUCTION after a membership drive in January.

Anita Abrams, 6729 Hermosa, Alta Loma, is president of the 41-member group. Also on the slate are Oneta Biddie, vice president; Joan Seymour, recording secretary; Marcia Skews, corresponding secretary; Peggy Rhoades, treasurer; and Sharron Jones, publicity chairman.

The club sponsored an "Introduction to Construction" class at MSAC, a fashion show at the Castaway, Bosses Night at the Elks Club, a "Construction Update" seminar and celebration of the club's ninth anniversary.

The chapter received second place in Region 12 for construction projects and won a first-place award at the regional forum in Oxnard. Members took Christmas gifts to the Laurel Park Nursing Home and sent the residents birthday cards every month. They also made contributions to the National Founders Scholarship Fund and the NAWIC Education Foundation.

POMONA VALLEY CHAPTER EXECUTIVES' SECRETARIES, INC., elected Mrs. Ronald Base, 2535 Belleview Rd., Upland, as president. Other officers are Mrs. Priscilla Lerma, vice president; Mrs. Marilyn Pierce, secretary; Mrs. Robert Brown, treasurer; and Mrs. Lerma, publicity chairman. The 50 members meet on the fourth Thursday.

During the year, the club approved two $250 scholarships to second-year secretarial science students chosen at Chaffey and Mt. San Antonio colleges and gave $60 to Ontario Library for books on secretarial subjects. Members also approved the Business Career Development program, sent two delegates to the 29th annual meeting in Baltimore and gave Christmas gifts to Santa Claus, Inc. A $300 scholarship was presented to Eugenia Villamarin, a second-year secretarial science student at Chaffey College.

MRS. BARBARA HEDEMAN

Club is social, charitable

Mrs. Barbara Kay Hedeman, 1364 Edgehill Dr., Pomona, is president of the Women's Community Club of Pomona Valley, Inc.

Other officers are Mmes. Virginia Nikirk, Pat Maxwell and Goldie Brown, vice presidents; Frances King, secretary; Rose Jarosh, treasurer; and Penny Huff, publicity chairman.

The club has about 80 members and meets every Wednesday with lessons in oil painting, china painting, knitting and crafts. During the season, members had a Christmas tea, membership tea, Mother's Day tea and several rummage sales. They have published a cookbook with members' favorite recipes.

Doris Brian, 851 E. 6th St., Pomona, is president of the PBX CLUB OF POMONA. Other officers include June Crane, vice president and publicity chairman; Doreen Holt, secretary; and Mary Jane Turlington, treasurer.

The 15 members meet on the second Tuesday of the month. During the year they attended the Flea Market in Upland, toured Hickory Farms, attended the Charity Bazaar in Montclair, held a Christmas party and gave gifts to Pacific State Hospital.

ONTARIO LEGAL SECRETARIES ASSOCIATION has 45 members with Mrs. Evelyn Campbell, 1335 N. Winston Ct., Upland, as president.

Others serving are Rosie Relph, vice president; Sheila Shipley, secretary; Linda Gooding, treasurer; and Sheryl Lawrence, publicity chairman.

During the club year, Las Vegas Night raised funds to provide two $100 scholarships. Another highlight was the Day in Court, which introduced students in the legal secretarial program at Chaffey College to the local court system.

Leota Lee, 1916 Chapman Rd., Claremont, is president of the POMONA VALLEY DENTAL ASSISTANTS SOCIETY.

Other officers are Connie Hardesty, vice president; Lee Whitney, secretary; Shirley Preston, treasurer; and Vicki Clark, publicity chairman. The 150 members meet on the fourth Wednesday.

Highlights during the year included a joint meeting with Tri-County Dental Assistants Society in Diamond Bar and Doctor's Night, which featured a panel discussion on tempro mandibular joint problems.

Serving with Mrs. Novelli and Mrs. Joseph Shanklin, vice president; Mrs. Althea Correl, secretary; Miss Laura Krupinski, treasurer; and Mrs. Eugene Warren, publicity chairman.

The group had study periods each month this year with special study seminars for registered parliamentarians and was host to the Southern Area conference.

MRS. CAROL SMITH

Leads protective life

By MAE TATE
PB Staff Writer

"It's just the sense of feeling you're doing something for other people. It's a personal type of satisfaction in doing more than being involved in just your own family."

Thus Carol Smith of Claremont, a 33-year-old blond housewife and mother of two daughters, explained the motivation behind her constant and active involvement in community projects. She smiles easily and her pale blue eyes sparkle when she speaks of her pet project — all of which involve children.

She joined the Pomona Jay-C-Ettes in 1968 because of the community conscious spirit of her husband, Wayne. An international insurance broker for the firm of Johnson and Higgins of Los Angeles, Smith had been actively involved in service projects of one kind or another since his student days at Mt. San Antonio College. At one time he was national chairman of the Jaycees and also had charge of the Jaycees prison chapters.

"I used to be very shy and very quiet. You'd never believe that, would you?" she chuckled.

"Being involved in such a group as the Jay-C-Ettes builds your confidence. It's sort of a chain reaction, a good feeling."

Mrs. Smith joined the Pomona Jay-C-Ettes in 1968 and during her active membership initiated the total club program of community service projects. Service here became an adjunct to service with the Claremont Junior Women's Club, the American Red Cross, the Claremont United Church of Christ, Congregational, Pilgrim Place, Blue Birds, her own Our Lady of Assumption Catholic Church and others.

She points with pride and satisfaction to the Reading Is Fundamental (RIF) program in the Pomona schools, part of the national program headquartered at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. She initiated this program while serving as president of the Jay-C-Ettes last year.

"I had heard about the program that provides books to young children and knew what it was about. I had also read articles on the benefits derived from the program in other towns and states. It wasn't used as much on the West Coast as on the East," she recalled.

"There had been publicity and emphasis on reading and the lack of reading skills even at the high school level," she added.

Recognizing the fact that she had been fortunate in having two daughters — Tracy, nearly nine, and Karen, 6 — who both read well and enjoyed books, she admitted that many children and parents were not as lucky. Many children did not realize "there's a whole other world in books. The television is so handy that you forget about picking up a book and reading. The idea is to make the children know it's fun to read a book. It's not just homework," she said.

So, in a joint project with the Jaycees, Mrs. Smith organized parent volunteers to haul books in their cars to San Jose and Lincoln schools in Pomona. Scholastic, Garrard and Western were among the publishing companies that supplied books at a special rate. Fundraisers were held throughout the community to provide dollars for the purchase of books.

This year, the project will be expanded to include Madison School in addition to San Jose and Lincoln. The distribution of paperback books will also be expanded to include classroom libraries of hardback books for individual grade levels at the three schools.

RIF reaches the fringe readers, the ones who do do not orginarily include reading among their pasttimes, the ones who do not have a public library card. The child who is hostile and resentful about the suggestion of reading is never pressured, Mrs. Smith emphasized.

"He has his choice. We're not saying you have to leave this room with a book. It's here if you want it. The teachers and principals are bending over backwards to make it work," she said.

She helped author the RIF project book which was submitted for state Jay-C-Ette competition in 1976 and which captured first place for community service project.

The Children's Shoe Clinic, in 1973, is also among her favorite projects. This clinic is a supplement to the Pomona Council PTA's Clothing Project which does not provide shoes.

During a state Jay-C-Ette meeting, the idea for such a project came up; and home again, Mrs. Smith researched the possibilities with Henry Posner, owner of Mr. Henry's Shoes in the Claremont Village. He helped establish the guidelines and the project was underway with his customers supplying the largest number of shoes each month.

"There is such a need here," Mrs. Smith said, leaning forward with clasped hands. "Many children are not going to school because they have no shoes. There are cases of kids rotating shoes and taking turns to go to school.

"It's a very easy project. You can help a child go to school. It's not really his fault."

During the three years of operation, the Children's Shoe Clinic has distributed approximately 1,300 pairs of shoes.

Mrs. Smith began the assistance project to Utilization and Development Infant Training (AUDIT) School which provides toys, refreshments and special parties for children at the school.

She was a parent helper at the Claremont United Church of Christ Nursery School from 1970-74; a teacher and library aide, mother crossing guard and administrator of individualized science testing for third graders at Condit School in Claremont; assistant leader for Palomares Camp Fire District of Condit School; a volunteer for March of Dimes, the Cancer Fund and United Way; and a helper with the Red Ball Fire Safety program of the Claremont Junior Women's Club.

She is currently an emergency phone volunteer two nights a month for the American Red Cross with emphasis on service to military families in the valley and assists on the annual festival at Pilgrim Place.

In 1974, Mrs. Smith was named the Outstanding Pomona Jay-C-Ette of the Year. In 1975, she led the club to a second place award in state competition.

Mrs. Smith's selection as a 1976 Woman Achiever can be summed up in the words of Barbara E. Smith, region one coordinator of the California Jay-C-Ettes, "Her dedication to helping others is not a passing fancy, but a lifelong commitment. In my opinion, Carol is the personification of community service."

La Leche League unit active

Mrs. Douglas Soto, 9433 Orange St., Alta Loma, is president of La Leche League, Mt. Baldy View Chapter.

The educational organization has 150 members which meet monthly. The nonprofit group promotes good mothering through breast feeding and encourages mothers through monthly meetings by providing information and practical help. It offers a continuing series of informal meetings open to all interested women.

Information and literature are available from any group leaders. There are 12 leaders in the valley.

Other officers are Mrs. Douglas Bronson, vice president; Mrs. D. Haugland, secretary; Mrs. J. Donner, treasurer; and Mrs. Joseph Duncan, publicity chairman.

Auxilians help hospitals in the valley

Hospital auxiliaries organize to help hospitals in their areas with money, equipment and public relations. They also often provide scholarships for young people who are studying medicine.

CHINO GENERAL HOSPITAL AUXILIARY has 80 members who meet quarterly. President is Mrs. Frank Powell, 12486 Jacaranda, Chino.

Assisting her are Mrs. William Schoneman, vice president; Miss Gertrude Case, secretary; Mrs. Richard Huston, treasurer; and Mrs. Bruce Lensch, publicity chairman.

During the year, the auxiliary had a family theater night at Gallery Theater in Ontario. The group also participated in Montclair Plaza's charity bazaar, selling crafts made by members. A Valentine tea honored all hospital employes. State Senator Ruben Ayala was guest at the awards luncheon and installation of officers.

The gift shop at the hospital is the auxiliary's main source of funds which are used for medical-health oriented scholarships. The total in such grants this year was $1,200. Scholarships are given hospital employes and Chino High School graduates who wish to enter the field of health science.

Mrs. Carson E. Hawk, 210 E. Gladstone St., San Dimas, is president of SAN DIMAS COMMUNITY HOSPITAL AUXILIARY.

The 150 members meet on the third Monday. Other officers are Mrs. Evelyn Kipley, vice president; Mrs. Virginia Abbington, secretary; Mrs. Warren Moderow, treasurer; and Mrs. Sharon Long and Mrs. Grant Hunter, publicity chairmen.

The auxiliary in the past year sponsored monthly maternity teas for expectant mothers, two blood banks, a fashion show and a day at the races. Members furnished puppets for children in pediatrics, served as hostesses at doctors' seminars and supported teen volunteer activities. The president and three teen volunteers attended the state convention for hospital volunteers in San Francisco.

Members are making articles for a Christmas boutique to be held Dec. 4 at the hospital. Teen volunteers make tray favors for all patients for every holiday.

DOCTORS HOSPITAL AUXILIARY OF MONTCLAIR this year gave the hospital a sensitometer, a densitometer and two wheel chairs. Funds are raised through the gift shop, a total volunteer project, and through rummage and bake sales, the Plaza charity bazaar, and silent auctions.

Members also help the nurses, run hospital errands and have maternity teas. Books, candy and toys were given to the pediatrics department, and members also were hosts at the opening of the new heart catheterization unit. Auxiliary members gave more than 6,275 hours last year.

The auxiliary meets the fourth Wednesday and has 45 members under the leadership of Mrs. Betty Wicker, 9981 Poulsen Ave., Montclair.

Other officers are Mrs. Margie Young, vice president; Mrs. Evelyn Labbe, secretary; Mrs. Charlotte Peters, treasurer; and Kathryn R. Wilson, publicity chairman.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY, POMONA VALLEY COMMUNITY HOSPITAL, LTD., contributed 38,377 hours in staffing 18 services within the hospital last year. Junior volunteers donated 7,745 hours. The auxiliary also sponsors the Sick Baby Fund which provides assistance to needy families, purchases equipment for the nurseries and the pediatrics department, offers scholarships to junior volunteers entering medical fields, and makes payments on the $150,000 pledge to the hospital to provide monitoring equipment for intensive care and cardiac units.

Funds are raised through the gift shop, nursery photos, Christmas Holiday Homes, the May Breakfast and gifts.

The 429 members have quarterly meetings. Miss Edith Frances Eells, 425 Lincoln Ave., Pomona, is president. Others on the slate are Miss Virginia Parker, vice president; Mrs. Walter C. Fuhrman, recording secretary; Mrs. Harry C. Kinne Jr., corresponding secretary; Mrs. Graham Talbott, financial secretary; Mrs. George L. Mickel, treasurer; and Mrs. Harold E. Roe, Mrs. Carroll W. White and Mrs. Lawrence C. Smith, directors.

Mrs. Joseph Schechter, 1005 E. Juanita Ave., La Verne, is president of SAN ANTONIO COMMUNITY HOSPITAL AUXILIARY.

Serving with her are Mrs. Robert Williamson, vice president; Mrs. Robert Sherwood, secretary; Mrs. Robert Totten, treasurer; and Mrs. Barbara Brewer, publicity chairman.

The 300 members meet on the third Monday. Highlights of the past season were the Silver Tea, Employees' Tea, an organizational membership coffee and a rummage sale.

Service clubs aid valley

"Service" is the key word for certain clubs whose members are professional women with a desire to be of service to others in the community. The clubs seek out needs on local, national and international levels and endeavor to fulfill them.

ZONTA CLUB OF POMONA VALLEY has 24 members who meet on the first and third Wednesdays of the month. The officers are Mrs. Dorothy M. Ransom, 1350 San Bernardino Rd., Space 22, Upland, president; Mrs. Tex Barrett, vice president; Mrs. Almon B. Shepard, secretary; Mrs. Sylvia Parker, treasurer; and Miss Judy Harvey, publicity chairman.

Highlights of the club year were a benefit fashion show and a rummage sale. Proceeds enabled the club to give sholarships and to contribute to Meals on Wheels and other projects.

Mrs. Jeanine Parsons, 433 Mulberry Dr., Pomona, is president of ALTRUSA CLUB OF POMONA VALLEY. Also on the slate are Mrs. Carol Cole, vice president; Mrs. Raquel Leist, secretary; Miss Margarette Bunn, treasurer; and Mrs. Fay Mack, publicity chairman.

Proceeds of the club's money-raising projects have gone to Santa Claus, Inc., Operation Groovy, After Stroke Resocialization, Avenue of the Flags, YWCA's minibus project and project HELP.

Members also donated many hours of work to Santa Claus, Inc., American Cancer Society, American Red Cross and Pomona Health Center. The women made and stuffed more than 500 stockings for Santa Claus, Inc., and held a Christmas party for 25 children from foster homes.

On July 1, 200 redwood trees were dedicated in the Soroptimist Redwood Grove near Los Angeles County Fairgrounds by SOROPTIMIST INTERNATIONAL OF POMONA.

In cooperation with the city, an irrigation system was installed, paths and landscaping added and a sign installed. Granite blocks with names of those in whose honor the trees were dedicated soon will be added.

Miss Sharon M. Russell, 621 W. 5th St., San Dimas, is president of this group. On her slate are Mrs. Lorraine Brannen and Mrs. Mary Wenker, vice presidents; Mrs. Dwayne Nix, recording secretary; Mrs. Jerome Brower, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ruth Redepenning, treasurer; Mrs. Nancy Tschopp, publicity chairman; and Mrs. Lorraine Stillinger, Mrs. Sandy Sanford and Miss Roberta Carrington, directors. The 58 members meet every Thursday.

Other service projects included scholarships for students at Mt. San Antonio College and Cal Poly and summer camperships to youth organizations in the community, and contributions to the YWCA, Recording for the Blind, David and Margaret Home and YMCA. Christmas was provided for a needy family.

Mrs. Norma C. Merry, 12421 Central Ave., Space 4, Chino, is president of SOROPTIMIST CLUB OF CHINO. During the club year, this group gave scholarships to Chino High School graduates, helped with camperships to COSS and gave to YMCA activities in Chino. The women sponsored a giris softball team and had a rummage sale, spring golf tournament and the annual Tea Cup Tea.

The 20 members meet every Thursday. Other officers are Mrs. Trinidad Perez, vice president; Mrs. Donald Smith, secretary; Mrs. Jonnie Salter, treasurer; and Mrs. Betty Brennan, publicity chairman.

SOROPTIMIST CLUB OF ONTARIO is under the leadership of Mrs. Ruth Long Wheeler, 748 E. 6th St., Ontario. Others on the slate are Mrs. John Schessler, vice president; Mrs. James Hoskins, secretary; Mrs. John Gorman, treasurer; and Mrs. James Bolton, publicity chairman.

The 50 members meet every Tuesday. This year the club participated in the paramedics program in Ontario to institute its adoption in the area. Members also supported the high school girls service club and held a party for senior citizens.

The club has a pecan sale underway now.

LTN unit aids many

Mrs. Katheleene McClellan, 331 W. McKinley Ave., Pomona, is president of the Love Thy Neighbor Club whose 20 members meet on the first Thursday of the month.

Also on the slate are Mrs. Eva Evjen, vice president; Mrs. La Vera Cline, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Daisy Ramsey, publicity chairman.

The club meetings are potluck luncheons. The members sponsor an annual Christmas party, send cards to sick members and take gifts to shut-ins.

Support given by women

The Foothill Philharmonic Committee helps to support the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra and attempts to further interest in the knowledge of music for the benefit of the community.

The 86-member musical organization meets monthly from October through May, except February.

Mrs. Stanley Lawton, 570 E. Sierra Madre Ave., Glendora, is president. Assisting her are Mrs. Brooke E. Sawyer, vice president; Mrs. Conrad Briner, secretary; Mrs. Harland P. Goodrich, treasurer; and Mrs. Edward A. White, publicity chairman.

During the year, the group maintained a music mobile of docents and instruments for visits to public schools in the area, arranged bus tours to the Los Angeles Music Center for the concert series, and contributed volunteers to man booths for the Danish Festival benefit. Monthly programs feature music and speakers on music.

African Violet society

The Pomona Valley African Violet Society, with 113 members, furthers interest and education in the care and culture of African violets and cultivates friendly relations among interested persons.

Mrs. John L. Jones, 4069 Olive Hill Dr., Claremont, serves as president. Also on the slate are Mrs. Harold Jenny and Mrs. Everett Wood, vice presidents; Mrs. Estella N. Knox, recording secretary; Mrs. L. E. Strickler, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Roy M. Wright, treasurer; and Mrs. Erma Carolan, publicity chairman.

The club meetings are devoted to programs relating to care and sales of African violets. The 23rd annual show was held in April.

Hadassah is Zionist group

Sharon Chapter of Hadassah raises money for Jerusalem hospitals and schools. The Women's Zionist Organization of America is concerned with a just and lasting peace in the Middle East. It sponsors the Hadassah Hebrew University Medical Center at Ein Karem, Israel, and the Zionist Youth Organization in this country.

Mrs. Abraham Wodinsky, 2211 La Paz Dr., Claremont, is president of the local chapter. Other officers are Mrs. Eugene Watkins, vice president; Mrs. Jerry Donin, Mrs. Barney Dagan and Mrs. Bob Farkas, secretaries; Mrs. Ruth Klein, treasurer; and Mrs. Donald Rosenthal, publicity chairman. The 185 members meet on the third Wednesday of the month.

Highlights of the club year have been the Country Affair, the annual summer dinner party; the Youth Aliyah Luncheon, the membership breakfast and traditional paid-up membership luncheon and the Mishpoche folk music concert. Meetings include book reviews on American Jewish subjects, panel discussions, films, play presentations, discussions on local and national topics, and speakers.

Chapter members donated more than 5,000 hours last year in volunteer work for its own activities and for Meals on Wheels, Casa Colina Auxiliary, Vital English, the Organization for After-Stroke Resocialization, library assistance to shut-ins and tutoring in public schools.

The Scripps College Fine Arts Foundation celebrated the golden anniversary of the college during the club year at a gala opening of the Millard Sheets Retrospective Exhibition in Lang Gallery.

Mrs. Charles S. Holmes, 1010 Berkeley Ave., Claremont, is president of the cultural organization of 300 members. Other officers are Mrs. Louise Padelford, vice president; Mrs. Floyd Ethridge, secretary; Mrs. James Leonhard, treasurer; and Mrs. George Gibson and Mrs. Raymond Wetrich, publicity chairmen.

The group organized to stimulate interest in art and to raise funds for scholarships, art exhibits, equipment and other needs of the Scripps College art department. Meetings are the first Tuesday of October, November and February through May.

Two benefits were held this year: a Mexican stoneware sale and a studio-home tour. An active docent group conducted tours of the exhibitions in Lang and Montgomery galleries for groups of all ages. The foundation also supported students with cash awards for work in the student show. Members were offered a serigraph by Phil Dike, a special limited edition entitled "Variations of Birds and Sun."

MRS. JAN ELLISON

Needs to feel busy

By VONNIE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

Seeing a need in the community and doing something to fill that need gives one 1976 Woman Achiever a genuine sense of accomplishment.

"I have always needed to be busy," says Mrs. G. Roger Ellison of Pomona, a winner in this year's Progress Bullletin competition.

The Ellison home a spacious two-story house with a cheery kitchen and large dining room, is a gathering place for friends, people with problems and classmates of the three Ellison children.

"You get out of life just what you put into it," says the achiever, known to the community as Jan.

"We lived near schools so friends of the children were always welcome to come here before and after school. This seemed to be the natural place for parties," Jan said.

The children are grown and two are married.

They are Kay Biescar, who lives in Westport, Conn., with her husband, Gordon, and son, Matthew; Gregg, who is completing medical school and resides with his wife, Llaina, in Houston, Tex., and Jean, a senior in the nursing program at UCLA.

Gregg is following in the footsteps of his father, Dr. G. Roger Ellison, Pomona physician, while Jean has chosen the same career as her mother.

Jan graduated from St. Joseph School of Nursing in Ft. Wayne, Ind. While she has worked as a nurse, she is more likely to use her skills serving as a volunteer.

For the past two years, Jan worked as the volunteer clinic manager at flu immunization clinics sponsored by the Pomona Health Department.

This fall, she is heading the swine flu immunization clinic to be held at her church, First Christian Church of Pomona.

"If I were to choose any group to assist, I think my concern would be for the elderly," Jan says. "There are so many people who have outlived their spouses and friends and now find themselves with no one to turn to for assistance or companionship."

Jan's concern for the elderly and the ill has been long standing. For years, she has prepared Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners for patients of Dr. Ellison and taken them to the homes of the ill.

Mrs. Ellison is a frequent visitor at convalescent homes where she delivers refreshments or picks up patients for visits to beauty shops or a luncheon.

A member of the Assistance League of Pomona Valley for 12 years, Jan has served as president, regional council member and in numerous offices and chairmanship.

Here, too, her concern for the elderly is expressed as she represents the league on the Greater Pomona Housing Development Corporation Board.

Mrs. Ellison is now serving in league as regional council alternate and permanent files chairman.

The league is but one of the busy Achiever's many current interests.

She is congregational representative-at-large for her church. In the past, Jan has served as a deaconess and as the nurse for church youth group activities in Mexico.

Jan is currently serving her second three-year term on the board of the Pomona Valley Historical Society and is a member of Pomona Valley Community Hospital Auxiliary and the Women's Auxiliary of the Los Angeles County Medical Association, District 14.

Active since she moved to Pomona in 1954, Mrs. Ellison holds an honorary life membership in PTA. She served on the boards of Kingsley Elementary, Emerson Junior High and Pomona High Schools.

She has also been on the Pomona Library board and the Pomona Concert Band board as well as several United Crusade committees.

Her most recent community activity has been completing a six-month term in Los Angeles as a member of the federal jury.

Many people have found a haven in the Ellison home. At one time, a young man who had no family of his own lived with the family two years while attending college. At present, a young woman from Indiana is staying at the house while she works and continues her education.

The family also hosted a Japanese exchange student under the auspices of the Pomona Lions Club.

But Jan still finds time for some hobbies. She is taking photography class in adult education and has signed up for business courses.

She also loves to travel and hopes to explore more of the Far East.

"My real hobby is wallpapering," Jan says, "I can relax and you must admit that I can see my accomplishment when I'm done."

Garrison unit aids theater

The Curtain Raisers of Garrison Theater is a cultural organization for the enjoyment and support of student and professional theater and for participation in the acquisition of essential capital equipment for the Garrison Theater of the Claremont Colleges.

Officers of the 225-member club are Mrs. Michael J. Rosenthal, 1100 Oxford Ave., Claremont, president; Mrs. Howard Metzler, vice president; Mrs. Ralph Spaulding and Mrs. Frederick Sontag, secretaries; Mrs. John Regan, treasurer; and Mrs. William Cheverton, publicity chairman.

Regular meetings, in addition to special activities, are in September, February and May.

Highlights this year were a meeting and coffee with Charles Champlin, a dinner party and evening with Emlyn Williams as Charles Dickens, "Jane Eyre," film and novel course taught by Mike Riley, Movietone Newsreel series and a bus trip to Neil Simons' "California Suite" at the Los Angeles Music Center.

Since 1962, the club has donated over $30,000 to Garrison Theater.

Veterans' needs are uppermost

A number of organizations bend all efforts to helping veterans who have served this country in its many conflicts. They visit hospitalized veterans, assist their families and often provide scholarships. They also promote patriotism and advance the causes of peace.

NAVY MOTHERS CLUB OF AMERICA has 46 members who meet on the third Tuesday of the month.

Mrs. Paul Hederman, 4450 Los Serranos Blvd., Chino, is president; Mrs. Regena Meadows, vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Griffiths, secretary; Mrs. Peter Sametrick, treasurer; and Mrs. Don Clark, publicity chairman.

The club wrapped Christmas gifts for orphans, held a Christmas party at Camp Pendleton, held a baby pageant, furnished refreshments at the Navy Training Center and gave monthly aid at veterans hospitals.

Mrs. Wilfred H. Seetoo, 300 S. Glenwood Ave., Glendora, is president of AMERICAN LEGION, CHARLES P. ROWE AUXILIARY, UNIT 30.

Also on the slate are Mrs. Ross Weber, vice president; Miss Winifred Frater, secretary; Mrs. George Cagley, treasurer; and Mrs. Seetoo, publicity chairman. The 110 members meet on the third Thursday.

The auxiliary assisted the post in many capacities, was host for the 18th District meeting, sent a girl to Girls' State, and contributed to the gift shop at the Veterans Hospital in Long Beach. Several members serve in the 18th District.

DISABLED AMERICAN VETERANS AUXILIARY helped with a Christmas party for all community children, distributed canteen coupon books to veterans at Long Beach hospital at Christmas and send dittybags to the hospital every month.

Mrs. James Rogers, 633 E. Alvarado St., Pomona, is president of this group. Other officers are Mrs. Ehring Seetoo, secretary; Mrs. Herbert Marshall, treasurer; and Mrs. Malcolm Huff, publicity chairman. The 83 members meet on the third Tuesday.

Mrs. Nellie J. Qualls, 2717 Arrow Hwy., Space 96, La Verne, is president and publicity chairman of WIDOWS OF WORLD WAR ONE, CHAPTER 44. The 20 members meet on the second Saturday.

Other officers are Mrs. Lillian Buchanan, vice president; Mrs. Jennie Simpson, secretary; and Mrs. Agnes Dworak, treasurer.

The 50 members of AMERICAN GOLD STAR MOTHERS, INC., meet on the second and fourth Wednesdays. Last season they had a fashion show, flea market sale, Red Devils breakfast for all Gold Star Mothers in California and a July anniversary party.

Officers are Mrs. Ruth M. Tedrick of Pomona, president and publicity chairman; Mrs. Paul Hederman, vice president; Mrs. Frank Penn, secretary; and Mrs. Kenneth Bolton, treasurer.

WORLD WAR I VETERANS AUXILIARY is headed by Mrs. Jeff McDonald, 12445 Norton Ave., Chino. The 52 members meet on the second Thursday.

Other officers are Mrs. William Farrow, vice president; Mrs. Elmer Bock Sr., secretary; and Mrs. C. E. Grani, treasurer.

During the last year, women of the group devoted more than 500 hours to making lap robes, bibs, utility bags and pillows for wheelchair patients at the Veterans Hospital. They also made some clothing and turned in enough coupons to buy three washing machines for the hospital.

Mrs. Mike Padilla, 918A Springfield, is president of VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS AUXILIARY 2018. On her slate are Mrs. William Prochar, vice president; Mrs. Bonnie Wood, secretary; and Miss Sharon Burgess, treasurer. The 117 members meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays.

During the past year, the auxiliary had the grand opening of the new post home with Congressman Jim Lloyd and Mayor Ray Lepire attended as well as the state auxiliary president, state commander, district commander and district vice president. Other organizations also attended and the auxiliary prepared the dinner.

DR. MARY MONTEZ
Makes shortcomings more democratic

By PHYLLIS CANNON
Asst. City Editor

A deep conviction that preservation of the multiple culture heritages within the population strengthens educational and governmental institutions has motivated 1976 Progress Bulletin Woman Achiever Dr. Mary Montes.

From a very humble beginning, this Pomona resident has worked her way to the top in the academic world (a Ph.D. in educational administration from Claremont Graduate School) and now is serving as president of the Pomona school board.

Professionally, Dr. Montes is an assistant professor at the Center for Teacher Preparation and Bilingual-Cross Culture Programming at Cal Poly Pomona.

At 37, this petite brunette speaks in low and measured tones to express her convictions.

"During my years in the classroom (she taught in public schools in Chino and Pomona) I became aware of the shortcomings in our educational institutions — in all our institutions. I have tried to make them more Democratic.

"I have tried to open them up for more diversity and greater opportunity for people to impart their own value systems instead of just having to accept the value systems of others. Society must be reflective of many points of view. An unresponsive institution is one that hasn't allowed for participation from people of diverse value systems."

Slowing her words, she adds, "Power is something people can share. Power in institutions and governments must be shared among the multi cultures of society."

To fill one of the needs for multi cultural educational enrichments for children, Dr. Montes and members of her family have founded Sonrisa Inc., (Smile), a biweekly publication for first through ninth grade children which will be available in November.

Education is Dr. Montes' greatest love, but running a close second is politics.

She is a member of the Democratic Central Committee, she formulated the Democratic Coalition in Pomona and she assisted in organizing the 65th Assembly District Democratic Committee.

"I hope someday to have my time free to do nothing but register voters. This is so important. I'd also like to start a Chicano lobby, but I've had financial roadblocks and that will take time," she said.

Dr. Montes has been a volunteer in political campaigns for nine years and in 1974 was a candidate in the 35th Congressional District primary.

She is a member of the advisory committee to the Assembly Joint Committee for the Revision of the Election Code and advises the Ford Foundation's Center for Educational Leadership.

To involve more citizens in government, she has formed numerous adult and student organizations.

Dr. Montes was born in Chino. She is a 1957 Pomona High School graduate. She was graduated from Mt. San Antonio College in 1959, received a B.A. degree from UCLA in 1962 and her Ph.D. in 1974, the year she was elected to the Pomona school board.

She has a 7-year-old daughter, Lisa, a student at Hamilton Elementary School. They make their home at 1308 W. 11th St.

Eastern Star is Fraternal

Order of the Eastern Star is a fraternal and social order to aid members in sickness and distress. The order also gives help for cancer relief through the J. Clifford Lee Cancer Fund and helps with cancer dressings, maintains an OES home as a philanthropic endeavor and has a scholarship fund.

Mrs. Barbara C. Green, 1400 W. 13th St., Upland, is worthy matron of POMONA CHAPTER 110, ORDER OF THE EASTERN STAR. George Mason is worthy patron; Mr. and Mrs. George MacLaughlin, associate patron and associate matron; and Mrs. Harold Goodpasture, publicity chairman. The 204 members meet on the second Saturday.

STAR OF THE WEST CHAPTER 468, ORDER OF THE EASTERN STAR has Mrs. Roy Davis, 825 E. 4th St., Pomona, as worthy matron.

During the year the chapter contributed to the J. Clifford Lee cancer fund and to the scholarship fund for eligible students to continue their education. There are 345 members. They meet on the third Monday of the month.

Stop paying for gas you don't use!

Get a new Caloric gas range and use 30% less gas, save 30% of your gas range bill.

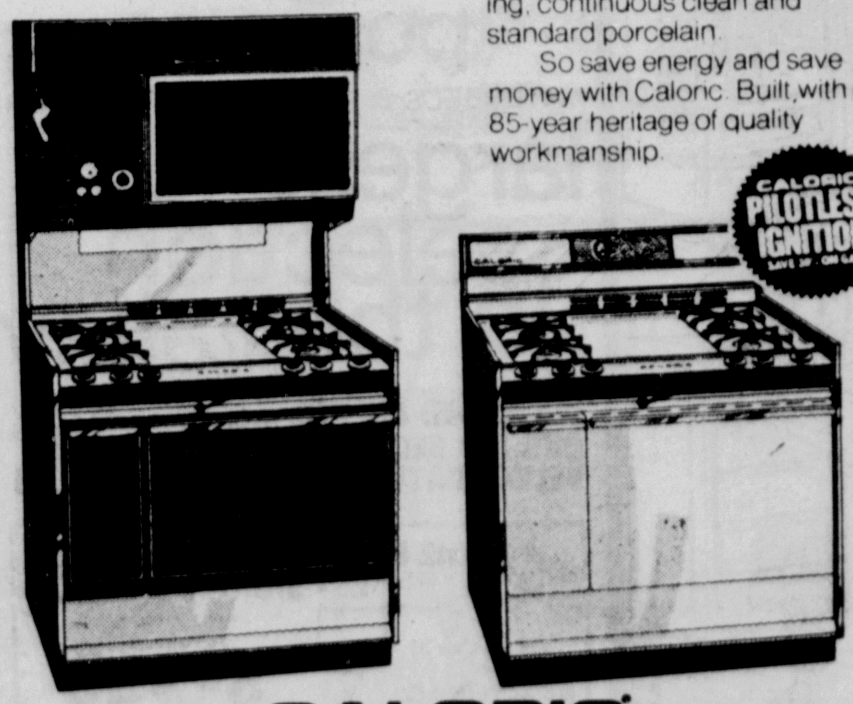
Caloric gas ranges have no pilot lights. They all start automatically with a tiny electric spark.

Which means a Caloric doesn't consume gas 24 hours a day — and you don't pay for gas you don't use.

What's more, Caloric offers a whole line of pilotless ranges: 16 models, including self-cleaning, continuous clean and standard porcelain.

So save energy and save money with Caloric. Built with an 85-year heritage of quality workmanship.

WHEN YOU COOK



CALORIC
Inside and outside, America's most beautiful ranges.

SAVE GAS ENERGY WITH THESE CONSERVATION TIPS

- Don't preheat gas oven ... it is unnecessary.
- Keep pots and pans covered.
- Adjust top burner flame to fit pans.
- Reduce burner flame to simmer after cooking starts.
- Cook by time and temperature ... avoid opening oven door while food is cooking.
- Try one-place cooking ... prepare an entire meal using only the oven ... broiler ... or top burner.
- Be sure all burners are off when not in use.
- When replacing your gas range, consider one with an ignition system which eliminates the constant burning pilots.

Mrs. William B. Allen, 520 Baughman Ave., Claremont, is president of the Campus Women of the Claremont Colleges, a social club dedicated to promoting a friendly relationship among the women of the Claremont Colleges and providing them with a program of social activities.

Assisting Mrs. Allen are Mrs. C. Freeman Allen, vice president in charge of programs; Mrs. William D. Seward, interest group vice president; Mrs. Jerome Garris, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Eikeren, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ronald Scogin, treasurer; and Mrs. John L. Jurewitz, publicity chairman.

The 250 members meet for traditional events and general meetings are called by the board when necessary. The interest groups, including book discussion, tennis, bridge, sewing, swimming, foreign students, George C. Stone Center volunteers, hiking and gardening, meet from October through June.

Traditional events include the fall coffee, a trip to Gamble House in Pasadena, the spring breakfast and fashion show.

MRS. WILLIAM B. ALLEN

MRS. A. E. STODDARD JR.

Texts are recorded on tape

Mrs. A. E. Stoddard Jr., 1917 Radford Ave., Claremont, is president of the local chapter of Recording for the Blind, Inc.

Other officers of the educational unit, which has quarterly meetings, are Mrs. Stephen Glass, vice president; Mrs. Sidney Davidson, recording secretary; Donald Webster, corresponding secretary; Mrs. La Vere Flora, treasurer; and Mrs. William Kelber, publicity chairman.

The club tape records textbooks, which are distributed nationally without charge to blind and handicapped people unable to use printed materials.

During the last year, the 80 local volunteer members gave more than 7,700 hours to read, monitor and prepare tape and do the related clerical work. They also this year added a copying machine to their equipment to change four-track original recordings to two-track reels and to cassettes for student use.

League Juniors active

National Charity League Juniors, Foothill Chapter, is a group of 21 women engaged in social and cultural activities and sponsoring suitable philanthropic projects.

The group meets on the third Monday of the month under leadership of Mrs. Howard Theurer, 2419 San Antonio Crescent, Upland. Others on the slate are Mrs. Richard Wingate, vice president; Mrs. Leon Lott, secretary; Mrs. Peter Norell, treasurer; and Mrs. Lloyd Castleberry, publicity chairman.

Activities of the last club year included a Bicentennial party at Graber's Olive House, a Christmas Party for the Upland Day Care Center, outings with the Upland Boys Club and a summer party for members.

Welcome Wagon has clubs in valley

Welcome Wagon clubs are designed to welcome new residents to their areas and provide them a medium for meeting new people. The clubs also serve the entire community in a variety of philanthopic activities.

WELCOME WAGON CLUB OF CLAREMONT is headed by Mrs. James McCabe, 2138 Oxford Ave., Claremont. Other officers are Mrs. Jerry Perry, vice president; Mrs. Carlton Sheets, secretary; Mrs. James O'Loughlin, treasurer; and Mrs. Norma Groves, publicity chairman.

During the past season, the club sponsored tennis and bridge groups, arts and crafts and monthly luncheons. They also had a wine-tasting party. Proceeds of an elegant elephant sale went to local organizations.

Mrs. Bill Gordon, 23302 Wagon Trail, Diamond Bar, is president of DIAMOND BAR-WALNUT WELCOME WAGON-NEWCOMERS CLUB. Also on the slate are Mrs. Ed Eichler, vice president; Mrs. Ed Fry, secretary; Mrs. Tony Revier, treasurer; and Mrs. Chuck Tate, publicity chairman.

At Christmas the club provided for a needy family. Also during the year, the 100 members.

Opera Guild cultural Social, cultural and musical projects are the interests of the West End Opera Guild which has as its president Mrs. Lee Beck, 365 Fremont St., Upland.

Other officers are Mrs. John E. Hunt, first vice president; Mrs. George Porter, second vice president; Mrs. Phillip Larson, secretary; Mrs. Mark Kirk, treasurer; and Mrs. William O'Connor, publicity chairman.

Club meetings are the second Tuesday of each month. The 90 members promote and support opera. During the last year, they sponsored two aperitivos and conducted a ways and means project.

ESTELLE NESBIT

Teacher emeritus

By MARY REMILLARD
Family News Editor

Her friends call her the Kindergarten Teacher Emeritus of Pomona and all who know this Woman Achiever of 1976 proclaim she is a living legend in her own time. She is Miss Estelle Nesbit of Pomona.

The modest, now retired kindergarten teacher has a tendency to brush off any accolades directed her way. Rather, she would like to have others believe that what she has done was only a natural process. But there are those who maintain that all who have been taught by this inspiring and gentle educator recall her with an aura of reverence, love and nostalgia.

"Miss Stell" has taught and guided several generations of Pomona Valley families. Those who are now grandparents, parents and young adults glow when they recapture their wonderful days in her kindergarten classrooms, she retired in 1961. But Miss Nesbit has never retired her help and wisdom and influence.

A native Pomonan, she is the daughter of valley pioneers, the late William Frazier Nesbits. She grew up in a large Victorian-style home adjacent to property on which the AAA offices now stand at Towne and San Bernardino avenues. Her father was a citrus grower and although she has traveled she still maintains her home in Pomona, a lovely place in northeast Pomona around which she has developed one of the most beautiful gardens in the valley. Her two sisters and four brothers have also continued to reside in the valley.

"I always liked young children and I always knew I wanted to teach youngsters," she says.

Miss Nesbit graduated from Broad Oaks Kindergarten Training School. It is now a part of Whittier College. She received a B.A. degree from UC Santa Barbara and did advanced work at UC Berkeley and Pomona College.

In addition to gardening, Miss Nesbit counts horses and skiing as real interests. It is only in the last couple of years that she retired her skiis.

"Cross country skiing sounds so exciting to me right now, but I've had to ask my friends not to count me in anymore," she said wistfully.

She loves people and has empathy for adults. She loves her hometown. Her contributions reflect this.

She was instructor during summers in Early Childhood Education at La Verne College during the summer sessions; was consultant to St. Paul's Episcopal Church School; conducted workshops for teachers in the use of language development skills and the use of materiels of instruction.

For years she was the volunteer Story Lady for preschoolers at Pomona Public Library and received a certificate from the board for her service.

She served on the Tree Commission of the Pomona Parks and Recreation Commission.

She has been granted a certificate for 1,000 hours of service by Pomona Valley Community Hospital Women's Auxiliary. She has also received a certificate for outstanding service to Pitzer Home.

Miss Nesbit has served Mt. San Antonio Council of Camp Fire Girls and Spanish Trails Girl Scout Council. She was Story Lady for summer programs serving children in disadvantaged areas.

She has given service to the following clubs and societies of which she is or has been a member: California Teachers Association, National Education Association, California PTA, honorary Life Membership; National Retired Teachers Association, Pomona Valley Retired Teachers Association and American Association of University Women.

Every year 60 kindergarten children and their parents have been invited in the spring to the beautiful garden at her home where they enjoy May Pole dances. She also shares her lovely garden with friends and family at Tulip Time. Missing from her garden is "Frog Baby" — a fountain statue she first saw in South Carolina. She managed to order one. The statue was cast in btonze in Italy for Elkin Studio in New York, and subsequently it was delivered to her home. Many will remember it in her garden, but typical of Miss Nesbit, she wanted others to love it and have the opportunity to see it. So, she donated it to the Pomona Public Library, and now so many more can enjoy it.

Those who know her best emphasize that "Miss Stell" is directly responsible for establishing the solid foundation for many outstanding Pomona citizens.

Her wisdom, sound guidance and understanding have provided her students with the desire to continue to seek out knowledge, to question, to learn and to achieve.

Pomona Shrine is active

In April the 50th installation of officers for POMONA VALLEY SHRINE, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem was held. Taking office were: Miss Suzanna Bradley, worthy high priestess, 2142 Yorba Drive, Pomona; Mrs. Luella Schroeder, noble prophetess; Mrs. Glen Younkin, secretary; Mrs. Rose Jarosh, treasurer; and Mrs. Art Laing, publicity chairman.

The social and fraternal organization which provides financial aid to those with catastrophic medical expenses meets on the second Thursday of every month. There are 205 members.

Among the highlights of the last year was Supreme Appointment Night attended by the supreme watchman of shepherds. He is Charles B. Mackey of San Bernardino. The group also hosted an evening honoring associates from shrines throughout Southern California.

Auxiliaries raise funds in programs

Many children's homes and service organizations have auxiliaries organized for the sole purpose of raising funds for the principal organization, assisting at meetings or conducting programs to benefit the organization.

FOOTHILL GUILD FOR THE CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S SOCIETY attempts to aid, support and further interest in the Crippled Children's Society for the benefit of the community.

Mrs. J. P. Rimer, 960 W. 19th St., Upland, is president. Her slate includes Mrs. Russell Lett, vice president; Mrs. Don E. Clark, secretary; Mrs. Harry W. Swett, treasurer; and Mrs. John S. Butler, publicity chairman.

The 50 members helped with mailing campaigns, served at the center's reception desk, conducted summer camp interviews and assisted with clerical work and crafts and as teacher aides.

Mrs. John R. Keith, 650 W. Harrison Ave., Claremont, is president of SAN GABRIEL VALLEY WOMEN'S AUXILIARY TO McKINLEY HOME FOR BOYS.

Mrs. Stanley Plummer, Mrs. Mella Saltsman and Miss Thelma Wright are vice presidents; Mrs. Louis Monson, secretary; Mrs. H. R. Wissman, treasurer; and Mrs. Charlotte Brace, publicity chairman.

The 90 members endeavor to augment the program of the home with service and with funds to help the budget needs. The group has provided a $300 fund for continuing education, graduation outfits, periodicals for the reading program, game tables and other furnishings for cottages. They wrapped 800 Christmas gifts and packed welcome kits for new arrivals and provided birthday cookies, cards and cash for each boy.

GATEWAY HOUSE AUXILIARY provides opportunities for members to contribute time and talent to Gateway House and provides financial support for the home.

Mrs. Joseph Walker, 339 Indian Dunes Lane, Azusa, is president. Other officers are Mrs. Arthur Wilson, vice president; Mrs. Wynn Young, secretary; Mrs. Karl Kent, treasurer; and Mrs. Shelton Beatty, publicity chairman. There are 40 members.

During the past year, the club took young mothers to see "The Nutcracker" at Garrison Theater, had a membership tea and a fashion-show luncheon, "Reflections in Fashion."

Mrs. Lee Harlan, 614 Northwestern Dr., Claremont, is president of CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY — CLAREMONT AUXILIARY. Mrs. Ralph Christiansen is vice president; Mrs. James Lorenz, secretary; Mrs. Harold Parker, treasurer; and Mrs. Fred Holliday, publicity chairman.

This club, which meets on the fourth Thursday of the month, supports the adoption and counseling services program of Children's Home Society, a statewide agency founded in 1891. CHS serves natural parents, children needing permanent homes and couples wishing to adopt.

Other society programs include assistance to single parents, adoptions for special-needs children and intercountry adoptions. CHS is the largest voluntary child welfare agency in the state.

CHS is a participating member of United Way.

During the past year, the auxiliary sponsored a boutique with a champagne silent auction, a spring luncheon and fashion show and installation luncheon. The group also sold Christmas cards and are planning a boutique to be held Nov. 2.

POMONA JAY-C-ETTES support their Jaycee husbands in community service projects and prepare the social calendar for husband-wife activities and for the children.

Activities include a family picnic, surprise shower, astrology lecture, French dinner meeting, new membership dinner, school shoe clinic and numerous Christmas activities.

Officers are Mrs. Sue Castaldi, 23746 Sunset Cross, Diamond Bar, president; Mrs. Jeanette Parr and Mrs. Carol Wiley, vice presidents; Mrs. Marge Lewis, secretary; Mrs. Jane Kawa, treasurer; and Mrs. Joan McNamara, publicity chairman. There are 30 members.

This is the Jay-C-ettes second year with the Reading Is Fundamental project. Last year in hopes of encouraging reading the group made it possible for 168 children to select books. There were three distributions to schools last year and members are planning to double the program next year.

POMONA OPTI-MRS. CLUB is philanthropic. The 25 members make monthly contributions to the Optimist Home for Boys in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Paul Salado, 4400 Philadelphia St., Chino, is president; Mrs. Glenn Kennedy, vice president;

Auxiliaries assist in raising funds for clubs

Mrs. Homer Agee, secretary; Mrs. Robert Frady, treasurer; and Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton, publicity chairman.

This year the club had an installation dinner, a Christmas dinner and a joint rummage sale with the Optimist Club.

Mrs. Gerald Juergens, 750 Santa Barbara Dr., Claremont, is president of WOMEN'S AUXILIARY, TRI-COUNTY DENTAL SOCIETY.

Other officers are Mrs. Thomas Watson, vice president and president elect; Mrs. William Arnett, vice president; Mrs. Frank Sillo, secretary; Mrs. Terry Brock, treasurer; and Mrs. Kay Madsen, publicity chairman.

The 37 members meet on the third Thursday of the month to promote better dental health for children through puppet shows, films, poster contests and flannel board demonstrations.

During the last year, literature and a flannel board were given to the Los Angeles County Health Department; 1,500 dental health week posters were distributed to schools and libraries; 15 dental health kits were given to local schools; a puppet show was presented for 3,600 students; 1,800 tooth brushes were given children in Head Start; a poster contest was held with cash prizes; dolls and films were given school children; and pamphlets were given to expectant mothers thru Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AUXILIARY has 98 members who try to maintain high quality medical service in whatever capacity possible and promote projects of health, education and charitable activities.

President is Mrs. Jerome Johnson, 648 Delaware Dr., Claremont. Also serving are Mrs. Donald Moehring, vice president; Mrs. Frederick

Transcribers Guild is educational unit

The Pomona Valley Transcribers Guild, an educational organization, is served by Mrs. Charles Brooks, 10210 Baseline Rd., Alta Loma, president; Mrs. Ronald Coonrod, vice president; Mrs. Marshall Mendel, secretary and publicity chairman; and Mrs. Claude Culbert, treasurer.

The educational organization, which meets the third Wednesday of the month, transcribes textbooks into large type and Braille to enable visually handicapped students to be educated from grade school through college. Pleasure-reading books also are transcribed and placed in the Ontario library.

A new center, also staffed by the club's volunteers, started last month at Colony Park in Ontario to train visually impaired adults in cooking, sewing, grooming, crafts, nutrition, mobility training, Braille reading and writing.

Highlights of the year included the annual dinner at the Arbor Restaurant when special awards were presented to Jean Culbert, Elinor Savage, Mary Gray, Betty Smith, Eva Haag, Ed Greenlee, Aaron Gropp, and the Ontario Public Library for outstanding service to the guild in many areas.

MRS. CHARLES BROOKS

Service projects their aim

Community service and educational scholarships are the projects of Toujours Les Femmes, an organization of 14 members which meets on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month.

Mrs. Charles Atterberry, 933 Milford Ave., Pomona, is president. Her slate includes Mrs. David Spriggs, vice president; Mrs. Tony Faulk, secretary; Mrs. Roscoe Fortson, sergeant at arms; Mrs. Walter West, treasurer; Mrs. Marvin Crayton, hospitality hostess; and Mrs. Betty Whitfield, publicity chairman.

The club renders service to the community in any way requested and entertains members and their friends. Members choose a charity each year, and one of the annual affairs is designated for the support of the chosen charity.

Activities in the club year just past included a fund-raising Christmas dance and a fund-raising trip to Las Vegas in May. There is currently a four-year scholarship for college for one student and there are quarterly birthday parties for residents of the Pomona Convalescent Home.

University Women give scholarships

Promotion of fellowship among college women is the goal of American Association of University Women chapters. The chapters promote social activities and raise money to provide scholarships for women at the graduate level.

Mrs. Theodore Swartz, 424 Elder Dr., Claremont, is president of POMONA BRANCH OF AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN.

Other officers are Mrs. John Mason, vice president; Mrs. Albert K. Hall, secretary; Mrs. J. C. Menees, treasurer; and Mrs. Martha Ainsworth, publicity chairman.

The 110 members' scheduled meetings are the second Tuesday of each month.

CLAREMONT BRANCH OF AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN has 170 members which meet on the second Thursday of the month.

Officers include Mrs. Earl Vermilyea, 2232 Villa Maria Rd., Claremont, president; Mrs. Sue Cooper and Mrs. Darryl Zell, vice presidents; Mrs. Robert Connolly, recording secretary; Mrs. William Plummer, Corresponding secretary; Mrs. Brian Morrison, treasurer; and Mrs. Dudley Warner, publicity chairman.

Highlights of the year included speakers on a variety of topics, a holiday dinner, a game program, a spring home tour and installation luncheon.

MRS. WATERHOUSE

Ebell unit cultural group

Mrs. E.G. Waterhouse, 1106 Wisconsin St., Pomona, is president of Pomona Ebell Club, a cultural organization of 275 women.

The club engages in advancement in all lines of cultural endeavor and assistance in promoting general community welfare. This year's activity highlights included a class in dance and social awareness, a holiday tea and boutique, an elegant elephant sale, a new member brunch, a spring philanthropy party and a dessert game party.

The club meets on the first and third Fridays of the month. Other officers are Mrs. Ardell Holt, vice president; Mrs. Laurence Thomas, secretary; Mrs. Helen Carroll, treasurer; and Mrs. Ward Turney, publicity chairman.

MRS. B. BENNER

Civic service extended

A civic service group of 35 members is the Wednesday Afternoon Club of San Dimas which meets the second week of each month.

Mrs. Bancroft Benner, 170 Monte Vista Ave., San Dimas, is president of the club. On her slate are Mrs. Robert Rimpau, vice president; Mrs. Alfred Batchelor, secretary; Mrs. B.R. Day, treasurer; and Mrs. John Moran, publicity chairman.

The club's aim is to further sociability among members and to promote the welfare of the community through philanthropic means and to present a variety of programs to interest and entertain members.

Highlights of the past season included a special game social; a play-reading of "The Other Wiseman," based on the story by Henry Van Dyke and dramatized by Ruth Sergel; a color-slide talk entitled "America, the Beautiful," presented by Col. (Ret.) Dana S. Alexander; an interior design talk, a book review; a spring tea; and "Old Glory," a program about the American flag presented by Mrs. Paul Hertz and Miss Carolyn Hertz.

Philanthropic donations were made for Recording for the Blind, the Order of Merit for San Dimas High School, two camperships, McKinley Home for Boys, Christmas baskets for the needy and Meals on Wheels.

Chapters raise funds

Several auxiliaries devote all their time and talents to the City of Hope, which has undertaken extensive research to end catastrophic diseases and offers free treatment to anyone suffering from catastrophic disease.

Mrs. Merci Las Cano, 3020 Crooked Creek, Diamond Bar, is president of the RICK LAS CANO CHAPTER OF THE CITY OF HOPE. Pete Leyba is vice president; Miss Gloria Espinoza, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ken Carpenter, treasurer; and Robert Conway, publicity chairman. The chapter meets on the first Wednesday. There are 74 members.

The chapter sponsored an installation dinner, a George Washington birthday dance, a rummage and bake sale and a luau during the past year.

The 70 members of the CLAREMONT-MONTCLAIR CHAPTER OF THE CITY OF HOPE have chosen as president Mrs. Stan Scates, 902 Notre Dame Ave., Upland. Mrs. Dorothea Armandan is vice president; Mrs. Tim Ryan, secretary; Mrs. Ed Ayers, treasurer; and Mrs. Kathryn R. Wilson, publicity chairman. Meetings are on the last Thursday of the month.

The chapter has contributed $3,500 to the medical center in the past year. The chapters have been asked to raise $28,500,000 for the next year. Claremont-Montclair chapter already has various fund-raising projects planned to meet these obligations. Last year members had a rummage sale, bake sale, theater party, holiday party, card party and memorial donations, among other projects.

ELSIE HIRSCH CHAPTER OF THE CITY OF HOPE raised over $15,000 last year for the hospital. Some of the activities were a Valentine Day luncheon, a day at the races, an Israeli luau and Las Vegas Night.

Mrs. Irv Fishlow, 155 Kirkwood Ave., Claremont, is president. Mrs. Mildred Kaplan and Mrs. Helen Winberger are vice presidents; Miss Lucille Goldbau, recording secretary; Mrs. George Kaplan and Mrs. Jack Rochester, treasurers; and Mrs. Marc Weiss, publicity chairman. The 150 members meet on the second Tuesday.

On her slate are Mrs. Alex Hughes, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Shields, secretary; Mrs. William Wells, treasurer; and Mrs. Dennis Pisula, publicity chairman. The 18 members meet on the second Wednesday.

The club is selecting philanthropic projects for Hope House, Inc., in El Monte. During the season, members sponsored a Founder's Day Observance, Christmas potluck with husbands, a theater party at the Gallery Theater and a May potluck with husbands. They also made crafts for the Diamond Anniversary Convention in Scottsdale, Ariz.

POMONA VALLEY ALUMNAE CLUB OF KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA is under leadership of Mrs. Jan Olaf Johnson, 342 Emerson St., Upland. Other officers are Mrs. Robert Crow, vice president; Mrs. Drew Barden, secretary; Mrs. James Jackson, treasurer; and Mrs. G. Alan Carlisle, publicity chairman. The 40 members meet monthly.

The club raised funds with a sale of Christmas greenery. Other activities included the national Founder's Day Brunch in Los Angeles, a Reminiscence Party, a theater party and an arts and crafts get-together.

The Bicentennial was the theme of the year for DELTA THETA CHI SORORITY, UPSILON CHAPTER. The 24 members chose Mrs. Eugene Miller of Claremont as the outstanding member of the past year.

A theater party, patio sale and wine-tasting party raised funds to provide a scholarship for Susan Kline, a student at University of California at Berkeley, and for donations to the West End Child Development Center and San Antonio Community Hospital Dental Center.

Mrs. Alice Krehbiel, 4191 Mountain Ave., San Bernardino, is president of the club. Serving with her are Mrs. Hal Micholson, vice president; Mrs. Ron Britten, secretary; Mrs. Miller, treasurer; and Mrs. Del Hensley, publicity chairman. Meetings are on the second and fourth Thursdays.

ZETA UPSILON, EPSILON SIGMA ALPHA pledged five new members last year and raised $200 for charity at an auction of handmade items.

President of the 13-member group which meets on the first and third Tuesdays is Mrs. Henry Vagt, 1979 Brookport, Covina. Also serving are Mrs. Robert Bernasconi, vice president; Karen Elton, recording secretary; Mrs. Darryl LeVesque, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Phineas Goldstein, treasurer; and Mrs. Edwin Feldstein, publicity chairman.

Other highlights of the year were participation in a radio-thon for St. Jude's Hospital. ESA's international philanthropic project; participation in the June 6 Grand Prix of America for benefit of the hospital; a Christmas progressive dinner with husbands; and the Jewel Pin ceremony for the new members.

DAR chapters are active here

Daughters of the American Revolution is an organization that fosters patriotism, loyalty to the government, love of peace and a faith in God that leaves no room for atheism.

The DAR perpetuates the memory of those who achieved American independence and works for the protection of historical spots and preservation of documents, relics and records.

POMONA CHAPTER, DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION has named Mrs. William T. Cox, 565 E. Arrow Highway, Pomona, as regent. Other officers are Mrs. B. F. Hendricks, vice regent; Mrs. Nelson Hull, secretary; Mrs. Franklin Scudder, treasurer; and Mrs. Duard MaMahon, publicity chairman.

Highlights of the year included talks on the Constitution, national defense, lineage research, and Pomona history with slides by Elizabeth Zilles, centennial queen. The chapter also visited Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Gardens and presented good citizenship pins and certificates to students in the six high schools in the Pomona area. The 18 members meet on the third Thursday of the month.

Mrs. Cevil L. Shagena, 1254 Karesh Ave., Pomona, is regent of CLAREMONT CHAPTER, DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION. Her slate includes Miss Helen E. Gipson, vice regent; Mrs. Albert F. Norton, secretary; Mrs. Richard J. Lowe, treasurer; and Miss Nora Frisbie, publicity chairman.

During the past season, the chapter planted a Bicentennial logo in Cahuilla Park as a gift to Claremont; donated $300 to the California society's gift to the stae, "Men of Vision," statues in Presidio Museum in San Diego's Old Town; donated to DAR-owned schools in the Appalachians; gave support to American Indian schools, worked on Centennial, Bicentennial and Avenue of Flags committees.

Members also presented an ROTC medal at Claremont Colleges, good citizenship awards at area high schools and at Boys Republic and American history contest awards at Claremont schools. The 69 members meet on the first Thursday from October through June.

MRS. C. L. SHAGENA

Group serves youth

Mrs. Harvey Good is vice president of Mt. Baldy Community Club which strives to unite adults of Mt. Baldy, implement communication between various groups and to serve youth, school and other community needs.

Mrs. Gary Wilson is secretary; Mrs. Joseph Barber, treasurer; and Mrs. Alan Bescoby, publicity chairman. Several women have served as president during the year on a monthly basis.

Activities during the season included the Christmas Home Tour, an Easter egg hunt and a Halloween party for children, help for Santa in visiting each Mt. Baldy child, the Fourth of July picnic and assistance at the dedication of the new school Sept. 25.

Mothers of Twins solves problems

Pomona Valley Mothers of Twins Club is a social and philanthropic organization designed to bring mothers of twins together socially to discuss twin problems and exchange twin equipment.

The club now has 40 members, and includes a mother of triplets and a mother of quadruplets. General meetings are held on the second Wednesday of the month and board meetings on the fourth Wednesday.

Mrs. Norbert J. Becker, 1024 E. Pomello Drive, Claremont, is president. Other officers are Mrs. Charles Tinker, first vice president; Mrs. Matthew Quay, secretary; Mrs. Adeeb Lakkees, treasurer; and Mrs. Gary David, publicity chairman.

The club has made donations to the junior blind, Crippled Children's Society and to the sick baby fund at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. For 14 years, the club supported a set of twins in Bogota, Colombia, through the Foster Parent Plan.

The club belongs to the national Mothers of Twins, which has over 8,000 members.

WCTU brings women together

Chapters of Woman's Christian Temperance Union bring together women on local, county, state, national and international levels working for the abolition of the liquor traffic.

The women work for protection of the home and to teach young people the evils of drug and alcohol. Total abstinence is their ultimate goal.

President of the La Cerne Chapter of WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION is Mrs. H. Spenser Minnich, 2607 B St., La Verne. Other officers are Miss Jane Wingard, vice president and publicity chairman; Mrs. Emmerson Root, secretary; and Mrs. Ellis Jenkins, treasurer. Sixty-five women are members of the chapter, which meets on the second Tuesday.

During the season, the chapter had had three fruestas, promoting the idea that fruit juices are better than alcohalic drinks. Members worked with young people in schools, promoting essay and poster contests, and two delegates attended the WCTU workshop at Redlands University and another attended the national convention at Richmond, Va.

POMONA - CLAREMONT WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION is under direction of Mrs. Clifford Henning Sr., 735 St. Paul St., Pomona, president and publicity chairman; Mrs. Jack Swickard, vice president; Mrs. George Johnson, secretary; and Miss Harriet Morley, treasurer. The group has 51 members who meet on the third Thursday. Fourteen men are honorary members.

During the last year, this chapter distributed 3,500 youth temperance education leaflets as well as brochures at the county fair, bumper stickers and other literature. The members protested liquor applications in the area and attended hearings of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

They also protested liquor outlets at City Council meetings and protested dog racing and bingo. Projects also supported area chambers of commerce and police and fire departments. Awards were made to outstanding youths selected by Pomona Coordinating Council.

The club was represented at state and county WCTU institutes, a workshop at Redlands University and conventions in Ohio and Richmond, Va.

Sorority united women

Beta Sigma Phi is a cultural and social organization designed to unite women of the community for cultural development and civic service. The club provides an enriching inspirational experience in appreciation of the liberal arts. There are 250,000 members in 10,000 chapters throughout the world.

ZETA TAU CHAPTER, BETA SIGMA PHI collects postage stamps for the Boy Scout World Friendship Fund. The chapter also collected food for a needy family at Thanksgiving and toys for needy children at Christmas. Members also have made donations for cancer research.

During the year, members presented programs on the first and third Mondays on the theme, "Woman's Heritage."

Mrs. Keith Gebhart, 24039 Willow Creek Rd., Diamond Bar, heads the chapter. On her slate are Mrs. John Guthrie, vice president; Mrs. Bob Hammack, secretary; Mrs. Dave Chalmers, treasurer; and Mrs. Dick Bushman, publicity chairman.

Mrs. Donald Plyley, 2105 S. Oakland, Ontario, is president of PRECEPTOR UPSILON CHAPTER, BETA SIGMA PHI. Her officers include Mrs. Hershel Bostic, vice president; Mrs. Chuck Mueller, secretary; Mrs. Robert Franklin, treasurer; and Mrs. Edwin Richards, publicity chairman.

Political groups aid citizen participation

Political clubs serve to promote political education through active participation of citizens in government, to encourage political responsibility through information, voter service and action.

In cases where a club is of a particular political persuasion, members endeavor to promote knowledge of the principles and policies of the particular party.

MRS. ALEX DUARTE

GOP unit active in valley

POMONA VALLEY REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S CLUB meets on the second Thursday of each month. The 140 members are the educational arm of the Republican Party. They inform the public on issues, support candidates, maintain a headquarters, register citizens to vote, supply poll watchers and rides at election time. A booth is maintained at the Los Angeles County Fair each year and encourage and assist qualified women to seek elective and appointive offices.

Mrs. Alex C. Duarte, 1615 W. Badillo St., San Dimas, is president. Other officers are: Mrs. Clarence Jackman, vice presdient; W. D. Will, secretary; Carson Hawk, treasurer; and Richard Speier, publicity chairman.

Representatives of the club attended all national, state, Southern Division and Los Angeles County conventions. The club awards a scholarship in May to the most outstanding civic minded high school student. The annual fund-raising party in May supported the club's yearly activities and helped to maintain the local Republican Headquarters. The club donated a Christmas tree to Childrens Hospital. The club encouraged and promoted respect and admiration for the country's flag as the nation's symbol of liberty.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS OF CLAREMONT this year sponsored an Equal Rights Amendment Benefit Women's Faire, public debates on the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District bond issue and assisted the City of Claremont in creating a city water task force. Members also assisted the school district and printed four publications on relevant topics.

The league also helped distribute information on ballot issues in the elections this year and worked for improved legislation in the areas of the Californias coastline, water, U.S. development aid, revenue sharing and clean air.

Mrs. Judy Wright, 472 W. 10th St., Claremont, is president; Lissa Peterson, Muriel O'Brien and Ruth Robbins, vice presidents; Marsha King, secretary; Ruth Iredell, treasurer; and Sue Keith, publicity chairman. There are 215 members.

Mrs. Thomas E. Keating of Diamond Bar is president of LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS OF POMONA AND DIAMOND BAR. Also serving the 60-member group are Mrs. Clifford Smith and Mrs. Albert Stern, vice presidents; Mrs. Ronald E. Coonrod, secretary; and Mrs. J. F. Mangrich, treasurer.

The club has made a local study of Pomona boards and commissions and of Diamond Bar incorporation. It sponsored "Meet Your Local Officials" Oct. 7, and has been sponsoring October candidate nights for the MSAC election in Diamond Bar. The club has a speakers bureau for pros and cons of propositions on the November ballot.

CLAREMONT REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S CLUB, FEDERATED is under the leadership of Mrs. Frederick Moore, 835 Marymount Lane, Claremont. Other officers are Mrs. Robert Shacklett, vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Roy L. King, vice president and membership chairman; Mrs. Robert Barlow, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Reid J. Williamson, recording secretary; Mrs. James Edwards, treasurer; and Mrs. Dennis O'Connor, publicity chairman.

The 1976 members meet on the third Wednesday of the month. They have participated in a statewide voter registration drive and helped staff Republican headquarters. The club has had a variety of programs and speakers during the year including State Assemblyman William Lancaster and State Senator Bill Richardson.

The club has raised funds for its various projects by a Friend Raiser dinner, membership social, a fashion luncheon, boutique sewing, balloon concussion on Fourth of July and sales of patriotic jewelry.

Estelle Roberts, 1954 Via Romales, San Dimas, is president of the ELEANOR ROOSEVELT DEMOCRATIC CLUB. Other officers are Steve Ross, vice president; Eula Ebert, secretary; Rene Bartlett, treasurer; and Lori McCarthy, publicity chairman.

With 117 members, the club meets on the third Thursday of the month. Highlights of the year included maintenance of a booth at Los Angeles County Fair to give information, meetings to inform members and the public of issues and provide information about political candidates and establishment of a headquarters for members and the public.

Filipinos have own group

Twenty-five members of the Filipino-American Flower Circle Association of Upland have a meeting on the first Saturday of every month.

Their objectives are to promote social, service, cultural and religious functions, to encourage Filipinos to become naturalized citizens and to offer guidance and assistance to newly arrived Filipinos in the area.

Mrs. Frank Hagen, 1316 Orchard Lane, Ontario, is president; Mrs. Danny Faranal is vice president; Mrs. Robert Garner is secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Harry Chaney is publicity chairman.

The social and welfare group this year sponsored exhibits of Philippine arts and crafts, held another exhibit at a Philippine luau, made cash donations to the WeTIP organization of West End, to the Los Angeles Filipino-American Cultural Center and to the Avenue of Flags Bicentennial project, and offered masses to deceased Filipinos in the community.

Members also gave flowers to Our Lady of Lourdes Church, made a donation to the Ontario 500 Festival Association and gave clothing and furnishings to new Filipino families in the area. They also gave a birthday party for senior citizens at Good's Rest Home in Ontario.

The circle holds its anniversary fiesta in April, election of officers and a religious Mayflower Festival in May, and had a Filipino-American fashion show in September.

Religious groups active

Several religious organizations serve the women of the valley. Thier purpose is to encourage women to come together to witness their faith and enable them, through this faith, to go on together into every neighborhood as instruments of Christ's love. They feature inspirational and challenging speakers on all phases of life of interest to women.

CHURCH WOMEN UNITED has as its president Mrs. Galen E. Russell, 610 W. 8th St., Claremont. Other officers are Mrs. John Halliday, vice president; Mrs. Freda Rawlins, secretary; Mrs. Jerry Carson, treasurer; and Mrs. Priscilla Koelb, publicity chairman.

Highlights of the year are World Community Day, World Day of Prayer, May Fellowship Day, State Assembly and the Three-Forum Meeting.

Mrs. Charles Hughes, 23209 Sabana Dr., Diamond Bar, is president of CHRISTIAN WOMAN'S CLUB OF WALNUT VALLEY. Mrs. Wayne Colwell is contact adviser; Mrs. Rudy Rapske, secretary; Mrs. Ron Knapp, treasurer; and and Mrs. Phil Darling, publicity chairman.

During the last year, the club had several fashion shows and a talk and musical program by Joyce Landorf.

LUTHERAN WOMEN'S MISSIONARY LEAGUE ZONE 16 is part of the Southern California District. The 300 members are from seven churches and board meetings are held quarterly.

Mrs. David Henslin, 401 W. Meadow Lane, Big Bear City, is president. Her staff includes Mrs. James Oliver, Mrs. Michael Dill and Mrs. Edwin Wollman, vice presidents; Mrs. Floyd Stork, secretary; Mrs. Terry Richmond, treasurer; Pastor Ronald Kudick, counselor; and Mrs. Oliver, publicity chairman.

Missions sponsored during the last year included Lutheran Braille Workers, Yucaipa; Good Shepherd Lutheran Home of the West, El Toro; Lutheran Bible Translators, Orange; Lutheran Baja Mission, San Diego; and Lutheran Social Services, Los Angeles.

In addition, each local church has its own projects such as visiting nursing homes, making lap robes and other community projects.

Women support community

MRS. J.F. GARLIEFF JR

MRS. WM. BENTLEY

Assistance Leagues are philanthropic

Assistance leagues are nonpolitical, nonsectarian and nonprofit groups that carry on a program of philanthropic work in the community.

ASSISTANCE LEAGUE OF UPLAND has 55 members under the direction of Mrs. James F. Garlieff Jr., 505 Cornell Ct., Upland. Other officers are Mrs. Eugene DeYoung, vice president; Mrs. D. A. Dana, secretary; Mrs. Glenn L. Fisher, treasurer; and Mrs. Gary Simpson publicity chairman. Meetings are on the third Thursday.

Highlights of the year are the Patroness Tea, honoring the patroness and life and sustaining members; the boutique sale, with all items made by members; the Mistletoe Ball; and the fashion show luncheon.

All these activities finance the club's philanthropies, including the San Antonio Community Hospital Dental Center, Cucamonga Girls Club, Scholastic Aptitude Testing Course, YMCA Cucamonga Boys' Club, Santa Claus, Inc., and Christmas baskets.

Mrs. William H. Bentley, 1643 N. Euclid Ave., Upland, is president of the ASSISTANCE LEAGUE OF POMONA VALLEY.

Also serving the league, which meets on the first Tuesday of the month, are Mrs. Benjamin M. Lawing, first vice president in charge of fund raising; Mrs. Robert R. Andreasen, second vice president in charge of membership; Mrs. Robert Dukes, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert J. Shacklett, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Richard L. Carr Jr., treasurer; and Mrs. John L. Whitham, publicity chairman.

The league meets on the first Tuesday of the month. There are 53 active members, 115 auxiliary members and 23 Assisteens.

Current philanthropies are the Neighborhood Senior Citizens Center and the Learning Center Tutoring Program.

Highlights of the past year include a garden party and fashion show at Scripps College.

MRS. KENNETH BLOCK

La Mancha Women's Golf Club was headed this year by Mrs. Kenneth Block, 1680 Carp-mel Circle, Upland.

The social group's purpose is to promote interest of women in sports and to play golf. Activities this year were a tee-off breakfast in September, a Christmas party, trophy tournaments on the third Tuesday of the month, play for the president's cup and the championship cup, and a June luncheon.

The 50 members hold their meetings on the first Tuesday of every month from September through June.

Other officers are Mrs. George H. Darling, vice president; Mrs. Starling Coppess, secretary; Mrs. Virgil Ochoa, treasurer; and Mrs. Bert C. Moore, publicity chairman.

Women's clubs in the valley promote educational, moral, civic and community concerns and endeavor to promote the general welfare of women in the community.

Valley clubs are members of the California and National Federation of Women's Clubs.

WOMEN'S CLUBS OF CLAREMONT has 165 members and meets on the second Wednesday. Mrs. Arthur Smithen, 1144 Hillsdale Dr., Claremont, is president. Other officers are Mrs. Naomi Campbell, vice president; Miss Lucile Hoar, secretary, Mrs. Robert W. Jensen, treasurer; and Mrs. James Lattin, publicity chairman.

Fund-raising projects last year supported Claremont Red Cross, Recording for the Blind, City of Hope, After-Stroke Resocialization Organization, Claremont YMCA, Los Angeles County probation camps and Olympics for the retarded. The club also provided a Coordinating Council campership and scholarships for a Claremont High School senior girl and for a student at McKinley Home for Boys.

The club is planning a Senior Citizens Information Fair Oct. 27 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Taylor Hall.

Mrs. William L. Hamic, 5256 Parkfield Lane, La Verne, is president of SAN DIMAS WOMAN'S CLUB. The 150 members meet on the third Thursday.

Other officers are Mrs. L. W. Heersema, vice president; Mrs. Ira D. Morgan, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles R. Hollinger, treasurer; and Mrs. Kurt W. Thies, publicity chairman.

During the season, the club sponsored a fashion show, using men models for the first time; the annual blood bank with help from the juniors; the annual hobby show, a display of the handiwork of members as well as their collections; and a rummage sale.

The club was host to the San Gabriel Valley District drama festival and made achievement awards to graduation senior girls from Bonita and San Dimas high schools.

Mrs. John Moore, 24040 Meadow Falls Dr., Diamond Bar, is president of the 73-member DIAMOND BAR WOMAN'S CLUB which meets on the third Wednesday.

Mrs. Scott Rote is vice president; Mrs. Ron Farris, secretary; Mrs. Wallace Rohrer, treasurer; and Mrs. Merritt E. Roberts, publicity chairman.

The club last year had a Los Vegas night to raise funds for philanthropic projects. Members had a dinner and provided cakes and birthday cards for Camp Glenn Rockey, gave two scholarships to graduating senior girls, supported Walnut Valley Counseling Center and Pacific State Hospital, promoted Bicentennial celebrations and gave gifts to Case Colina.

The club also gave fencing for the Little League field and supported many youth projects and musical groups as well as an orphanage in Tijuana. Members also sponsored a rabies clinic and a blood bank and conducted a project for seeing-eye dogs.

CHINO VALLEY WOMAN'S CLUB has 130 members who meet on the third Monday. Mrs. Donald Scruggs, 4464 Walnut Ave., Chino, is president; Mrs. Frank Watte and Mrs. John Demille, vice presidents; Mrs. Bernard Marty, recording secretary; Mrs. Zeke Cortez, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Frank Moore, treasurer; and Mrs. Arthur Younkin, publicity chairman.

A Bicentennial theme was stressed throughout the year with reports at each meeting by Mrs. Edward Pine. Mrs. Pine also assited at the Fourth of July dedication of the new Chino civic buildings. Members have served as guides at the Yorba-Slaughter adobe and assisted in projects sponsored by the Juniors.

The women gave money for a Chino Future Farmer to go to Washington, D.C., and to the national convention, and two scholarships were awarded to Chino High School students.

People of all ages were helped this year by PALOMARES WOMEN'S CLUB. Mrs. Laurin Warner, 918 Barbara Lane, Pomona, is president. Her staff includes Mrs. Jack Scheuren, vice president; Mrs. Jack Conrad, secretary; Mrs. William Withro, treasurer; and Mrs. Harold Hall, publicity chairman. The 15 members meet on the first Thursday.

The club participated in the senior citizens flu clinic, served Meals on Wheels, aided Vietnamese families through the Red Cross, aided the "Visto" program at Juvenile Hall, made posters and gave service to Pomona Red Cross and had a bazaar at Montclair Plaza. The club won eight awards at the San Gabriel Valley District Convention.

Other projects the women backed were Dropouts Anonymous, OPARC, Recording for the Blind, Transcribers Guild, Open Door, LeRoy's Boys Home, American Cancer Society and the YMCA.

Films aid Pomona College

Mrs. Milo Tigner, 1542 Alameda St., Pomona, is president of the Claremont Travel Film Series of Pomona College.

The cultural group boasts a membership of 1,400 for meetings from October through April. The purpose of the club is to present outstanding travel films for the community, proceeds of which go to the development fund of Pomona College and to the improvement of Garrison Theater at the Claremont Colleges.

Last season, the club presented seven films at Garrison Theater and gave $3,000 to Pomona College for the purchase of equipment for the botany department. Since 1955, more than $75,000 has been raised for Pomona College.

Other officers are Mrs. Wesley Leighton, secretary, and Mrs. Roy Miller, treasurer; Mrs. Tigner additionally serves as vice president and publicity chairman.

Sewing is new art for gypsy women

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — While many of the nation's women seek to break away from the housework role, 10 young gypsy women here are learning to use sewing machines and dress patterns.

And some are learning to read as they sew.

Many of the women can't read or write. For 2,000 years gypsies have avoided education because of a traditional mistrust of outsiders, said James Marks II, a gypsy leader who counsels and arbitrates disputes among his people. There are about 500 gypsies in the Spokane area.

"Their society's closed, and the women have a role of wife and mother and that's it," said Sue Riegel, a sewing instructor.

"To let the young girls out to go to class is a real breakthrough."

The $17,000 program, financed by the Federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act, is administered by a federal-city agency called Work Experience of Adults.

Most of the women are teenagers or young adults. They attend classes 30 hours a week and are paid $2.30 an hour to participate in the sewing classes.

"Those girls aren't doing it for the money," Marks said, "It's for the education.

"The key to success is education. If anyone should know it would be me because I rely on a lot of other people to do simple things."

Marks, a car salesman, who said he cannot read or write, was also instrumental in establishing a reading-writing skills class for young gypsy children. He claims that 99 per cent of the nation's 250,000 gypsies are illiterate.

Gypsy children have never felt they had to go to school, says Marks. Most gypsy children help with family businesses and marry young — often at 15 and 16.

The sewing program, divided into two parts, stresses the basics of sewing and assembling ornamental items and garments, said WEA counselor Mina Ross.

Auxiliaries

Lauppe, secretary; Mrs. Paul Jacobs, treasurer; and Mrs. John L. Ilsley, publicity chairman.

In the last year, the club supported seven students in health career scholarships, collected medicines for impoverished medical clinics in Tijuana, Mexico, and donated $1,464 to the AMA loan guaranty fund.

POMONA EMBLEM CLUB 196 Assists the Elks Club in community service projects. There are 159 members, who this year participated in a yard sale, a day at the races, a fashion show and luncheon, gifts of Thanksgiving baskets to needy families and Christmas parties for adults and children.

The club meets on the second Tuesday of the month under leadership of Mrs. William Plutte, 743 S. Great Bend Dr., Diamond Bar. Other officers are Mrs. Raymond Mix, vice president; Mrs. Alvin Olson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ron Teeters, recording secretary; Mrs. Eunice Parsonage, treasurer; and Mrs. Roy Livingston, publicity chairman.

Women dedicated to music

Mrs. Jim Schoonmaker, 4159 Tenango Rd., Claremont, is president of the Pomona Valley Chapter, Sweet Adelines, Inc.

The club boasts 63 members dedicated to educating women in the art of barbershop singing and, through performances, to encourage a universal appreciation of the tradition of that music.

Other officers of the group, which meets Tuesday evenings, are Mrs. Robert Pierce, vice president; Mrs. Norris Felt, secretary; Mrs. Joe Fannin, treasurer; and Mrs. Jack McDonnell, publicity chairman.

Highlights of the past year included the annual show, the Christmas party, a fashion show, regional competition in March with the local group placing fifth among the 19 chapters competing. The chapter celebrated its 15th anniversary in April, held four quarterly meetings and held a show Oct. 2.

Graduate students members

PI LAMBDA THETA, ALPHA IOTA CHAPTER has published the second edition of "Reading, Reading" by Dr. Peter L. Spencer, professor emeritus of Claremont Graduate School.

Also during the year, the chapter continued sales of "Ivabo of Nigeria" by Rhoda Johnson, Nigerian native, and reviewed books for the George G. Stone Center of Children's Books.

Members of the chapter are graduate students and graduates of Claremont Graduate School. Programs and activities are centered in education and the Graduate School.

Mrs. Ernest E. Heuck, 786 California Drive, Claremont, is president. Serving with her are Mrs. Richard M. Hyman, vice president; Mrs. Theodore Glauthier, secretary; Mrs. Don E. Wright, treasurer; and Miss Maxine Shurtz, publicity chairman.

The 230 members have nine meetings a year.

MRS. RUSSELL HUNT

Fraternal group is active

Other officers are Mrs. Jean Spilman, vice president; Mrs. Elmer Bock, secretary; Mrs. Herbert E. Marshall, treasurer; and Mrs. Goldie Epley, publicity chairman.

The purpose of the group is to raise money and support charities. The club had dinners and other fund-raising activities during the year and sponsored a booth at the Los Angeles County Fair.

Author candidly discusses life after breast surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — Betty Rollin can talk calmly now about having had a breast removed — a straightforward term that she prefers to the "euphemistic mastectomy."

But it was different 18 months ago when the writer, network correspondent for NBC News and former columnist for Look magazine learned that the lump was probably cancer.

"First, You Cry," admits Miss Rollin, who has written a book by that title describing with poignancy and humor what she went through physically and emotionally after that.

"It spilled out," she said, discussing her decision to write about the experience. "I was so stunned by the event I just started to write things down to make some sense of it. The journalist in me began observing me experiencing things. It wasn't only awful — it was also fascinating and the writer in me kept noticing the fascinating things.

"Betty Rollin the person felt sad but Betty Rollin the writer went to the typewriter," she added, conceding that it was difficult to tell "a whole lot of stuff about myself I don't love having people know." But she came to the conclusion that it was worth it for two reasons:

"I feel very good that it's an honest book and as such it's bound to help other women; also, it makes me feel far less isolated with my problem."

Even before she wrote the book she made no effort to hide the fact of the surgery. She reports that men "tend not to want to hear about it and shift uncomfortably in their chair" but that women have been sympathetic although she detects an "I'm glad it's not me" attitude.

The petite, dark-haired Miss Rollin, wearing a turquoise shirt dress open at the throat, with a silver bracelet and silver earrings, said she felt absolutely no resentment that it happened to her.

"I read the papers and know the awful things that happen to people," she said. "I hated it, but how could I feel this wasn't fair? I still consider myself a fortunate person. It's a liability but not as bad as other liabilities like being stupid or ugly."

Miss Rollin, 40, has since been divorced from author Arthur Herzog but says that the operation led to the divorce only in that "I felt suddenly in a hurry to be happy. We're all going to die but maybe I was going to die sooner than other folks.

"If I hadn't had breast cancer maybe I'd have endured it (the marriage) either forever or at least longer. But I wasn't in the mood to endure. I was in the mood to gratify."

Her attempt to "gratify" led her to leave her husband to live with another man, an arrangement that didn't work out.

"Things like guilt, convention, sense of honor, justice, morality, suddenly fell in the face of my sudden need to have a really instantly happy and marvelous life," she said, explaining the episode.

Miss Rollin, who says she liked being married, doesn't foreclose the possibility of marrying again and adds that the publication of her book has solved the problem of whether or when to "tell" a potential husband.

As for how it has changed her life, she says, "The corny things are really true. If you've had a semibrush with death it does make you value life more; you wake up and feel grateful to be alive; you pay more attention to pleasure and pay less attention to small difficulties and irritations.

"I do value people I love and people who love me and I know who they are now. I feel good about myself that I've gotten through something I hadn't expected and I didn't crumble except for a day or two here and there."

She says she can't understand women being afraid of self-examination or seeing a doctor about a lump — not doing "something that will save your life.

"I still have bad moments when I go to the beach and see women in teeny-weeny bikinis. I still swallow hard. And I'm hypochondriacal. If something hurts I think I have cancer of the left earlobe.

"Aside from that I'm okay. I really am."

MRS. JEAN DE LACY

Crippled assisted by club

Mrs. Jean De Lacy, 85 E. 24th St., Upland, is the president of Pilot Club of Pomona Valley.

Other officers are: Mrs. Mabel Anderson, vice president; Miss Elsie Fossum, secretary; Miss Ruth Wedd, treasurer; and Mrs. Thelma Motts, publicity chairman.

There are 21 members in the organization which meets on the second and fourth Thursday of the month.

The club held its annual Christmas tea and bazaar for the benefit of the Crippled Children's Society of Pomona. Other contributions were made to Girl Scouts, CARE, Meals on Wheels, Heart Fund, Casa Colina, Meals for Millions, The Freedom Foundation and the Cancer Fund.

PUBLIC NOTICE

PUBLIC HEARING CALIFORNIA PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION AND PORT OF LONG BEACH

Pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act of 1970, as amended, notice is hereby given to all interested persons and organizations that a Draft Environmental Impact Report (EIR) has been completed for the:

SOHIO WEST COAST TO MID-CONTINENT PIPELINE PROJECT

The proposed SOHIO (Standard Oil, Ohio) project consists of a three berth marine terminal, 4.92 million barrels of storage/surge tankage within approximately 12 miles of the terminal, connection with local distribution pipelines, 1,000+ miles of pipeline from Long Beach to Midland, Texas. Almost 800 miles of the pipeline is already in place and is presently used to transport some of the natural gas supply to California from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. A system already exists to transport crude oil from Midland, Texas to the midwest and Gulf Coast markets. The purpose of the proposed system is to provide a means of delivering North Slope (Alaskan) oil to Southern California refineries plus the capability of transmitting oil surplus to California's needs to the midwest.

The SOHIO EIR consists of an extensive analysis of the anticipated environmental impacts expected during construction, operation and maintenance of the proposed crude oil transmission system. Potential mitigation measures are also suggested for the proposed impacts. Accompanying this analysis is an examination of the marine traffic flow patterns along the tanker delivery route between Valdez, Alaska and Long Beach, California. The energy supply and demand situation as it relates to the movement of energy sources located in the United States also is evaluated together with an examination of potential alternative sites for marine terminals and various related transmission routes for delivery of Alaskan crude oil to the midwest.

Copies of the Draft EIR are available for public inspection at the following municipal/county libraries: Long Beach Municipal Library, Hacienda Heights County Library, La Puente Library, Chino Branch Library, Pomona Library, Pico Rivera Library, Downey Main Library, Montebello Library, South Gate/Hollydale Library, Paramount Library, Ontario City Library, Fontana Branch Library, Rialto Library, Colton Library, San Bernardino Public Library, Redlands Library, Loma Linda Library, and Desert Center Lake Tamarisk Library. Persons wishing to know the location of copies other than those at municipal/county libraries can call (213) 437-0041 or (415) 557-3816 and request help in locating same.

Three public hearings on this Draft EIR are scheduled as follows:

1. 10:00 a.m. Tuesday, November 30, 1976, 6th Floor Board Room, Long Beach Harbor Department Building, 925 Harbor Plaza, Long Beach, California.
2. 10:00 a.m. Monday, December 6, 1976, Los Angeles County Supervisors Board Room, Hall of Administration, 500 W. Temple Street, Los Angeles, California.
3. 10:00 a.m. Tuesday, December 14, 1976, Council Chambers, City Hall, 300 N. "D" Street, San Bernardino, California.

The presentation of the nature of the proposed project and associated impacts and proposed mitigation will be from 10:00 am. until noon. This will be followed by public comments, questions and suggestions beginning at 1:30 p.m. Written comments will be received until 10:00 a.m. on December 20, 1976. Address comments to:

Dual Action agitator

LIMITED TIME ONLY $100 OFF Regular Price of Dual Action Lady Kenmore Pair

We loaded each washer shown with a big, 15-lb. load*, and added 10 dirty bibs. All the washers got some of the bibs clean — but only the Lady Kenmore washer cleaned them all. Because only the Lady Kenmore washer has the Dual Action™ agitator that tests proved gets clothes cleaner than a conventional agitator.

*Tests were conducted using a standard 15-pound A.H.A.M. load. Load contained: 3 sheets, 2 tableclothes, 4 shirts, 6 bath towels, 4 "T" shirts, 4 pillow cases, 6 shorts, 6 wash cloths, 5 handkerchiefs. Test results available on written request.
